WHEAT STILL ADVANCING

REPUBLICAN CONFIDENCE STIMULATES THE MARKET.

The Grain Goes Up Two and a Quarter Cents in Chicago—Quantities Bought to Hold Until After Election—Some Reaction on the Report of the Visible Supply, but It Is Quickly Overcome and Wheat Steadily Rises Again.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Nothing important materialized in the wheat market during the morning. Scalpers evened up considerably, and some buying to hold over election was noted. The strength continued throughout, prices moving upward gradually, but sagging a little when the visible supply announcement of 1,395,000 bushels increase was made. The reaction was but temporary, prices subsequently regaining all they had lost. At noon December was holding at 74½ cents, 1¾ to 1⅞ higher than Saturday, having sold at 74¾ cents.

No material change in the condition of the market took place during the final hour. There was ample buying to support prices, with little inclination to sell short. The close was strong at the best prices of the day, a number of people concluding to take and hold moderate quantities over election, trusting that the results might cause an advance. The range for the day on December was between 73⅛ and 75 cents, and the close at 74⅞ to 75 cents, 2¼ higher than Saturday.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—December wheat opened firm on favorable foreign advices this morning, and at the end of the first half hour of business advanced 1⅝. The December option opened at 76⅝ cents, an advance of ¼ over the closing price of Saturday, and steadily rose until it had reached 77¾ cents at 10 o'clock.

The market continued firm and on buying orders, December wheat rose to 78 cents. The trading was not very heavy, and at 11:45 the price dropped to 77¾ cents. The closing hour of business on the Merchants' Exchange found December wheat firmer than during the morning hours, and it closed at 78½ cents, an advance of 2 cents on the day's business.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—May opened at 3 cents advance this morning, went up to 148⅝, and at 10:35 closed at 148. One hundred and forty-one was asked for December, but there were no takers. Increased activity prevailed at the final morning session. December opened at 140½, closed at 139⅞. May opened at 148⅝, closed at 147¾.

THE FOREIGN MARKETS.

A Rise Noted Both in London and Liverpool.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—In Mark Lane to-day wheat was quiet. The price of English wheat has not changed since Friday. Holders are firmer, however. Foreign wheat has advanced 6d., but corn is 6d. cheaper, the large new crop of that cereal in America having had a decided effect upon the opinions of traders.

The Mark Lane Express predicts that the month of November will be a period of dull wheat markets, and advises English farmers to use reserve in selling, as there is sure to be a rise in December. In regard to other staples, The Express says there is a colossal crop of corn in the United States, leaving 40,000,000 quarters available for export, and this is certain to keep oats and feeding barleys at a moderate price.

Following are the reports of the Continental wheat markets, received in London to-day:

Antwerp—There was a half holiday on the Bourse to-day. Wheat was inactive, but prices were maintained. Corn was lifeless, there being insufficient to create a market.

Amsterdam—Market opened weaker, but a better feeling followed, and a fair business was done, with the effect of hardening prices.

Berlin—The market ruled dull owing to the absence of buyers, and the tendency was downward. Business was of a retail nature. No improvement is expected until the result of the Presidential election in America is known.

Buda-Pesth—Market inactive, but with a firmer undertone.

Hamburg—Market quiet; prices rather easier.

In the Danubian markets, shippers were offering at lower prices, not so much in consequence of the weakness of wheat, as because of their ability to charter steamers at lower freights.

The Russian markets were firm upon American advices.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 2.—The wheat market opened unchanged, but strengthened shortly afterward upon a demand for the December option, owing to the sustained rejections of the Kansas wheat, which had been brought in to fill contracts, while reduced stocks and smaller Danubian shipments to the United Kingdom, bringing in buyers, helped the upward movement. Stronger American cables accentuated the advance, and the market finally closed firm at 1⅝@2d. dearer.

Pastor Freeman Exonerated.

SOUTHOLD, L. I., Nov. 2.—The Rev. James B. Freeman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, has tendered his resignation to the Presbytery of Long Island. The report of the committee of investigation was read in the church yesterday. It completely exonerated the pastor from the present embarrassment of the church and censured the Trustees for their actions, saying that some of them were not Christians, and were incompetent to sit as judges of the spiritual welfare of the church. The church must pay Pastor Freeman his salary until January next. He will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday.

TWO POACHERS IN JAIL.

They Shot at Two Citizens of New-Brunswick Sunday.

NEW-BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 2.—John Krause and Joseph Daniel were lodged in jail to-day charged with atrocious assault and battery, with intent to kill, upon John Terhune, cashier of the First National Bank of Long Branch. The cashier was shot by the two men, whom he caught poaching yesterday afternoon, and his thick overcoat saved him from being fatally injured.

The cashier has been troubled a great deal by depredations of gunners, who persist in shooting rabbits in open defiance of the law, which says that they must not be killed until Nov. 10. Mr. Terhune, being a member of the Midway Shooting Association, has done much toward securing the enforcement of game laws in this section. Yesterday he went for a stroll with James Reed, a farmer of his acquaintance, through the woods. Hearing the crack of guns, they concluded that poachers were at work and were also trespassing upon Mr. Reed's property. They went in the direction of the sound, and had not far when they had came upon two men turning over some brush as if to find a rabbit, which they had shot.

When asked what they were doing, Messrs. Reed and Terhune were informed that it was none of their business. Then Mr. Terhune declared that they were shooting on Sunday and out of season, and that he considered it his duty to turn them over to the law.

"You have no right to interfere," said one of the gunners. "If you don't mind your own business we will find a way to make you?" and he pointed his gun at Mr. Reed and took aim. Mr. Reed, being unarmed, took to his heels. The gunner pulled the trigger, but the cap did not explode.

Seeing the ill luck of his companion the other poacher raised his weapon and fired at Mr. Terhune. Mr. Terhune felt the impact of the shot as it struck him, and thought that he was badly injured, but was able to start to run. Afterward he found that the overcoat had saved him, none of the shot having penetrated it.

Reed and Terhune returned to the village and alarmed the farmers. Search was instituted for the poachers and they were found at Browntown, four miles away. Constable Connors arrested them. They did not have their guns with them, but Reed and Terhune were positive that they were the right men. They had nothing to say for themselves. No one was allowed to see them after they were brought to jail.

WHY THEY CANNOT VOTE.

A Denomination Disfranchised by the Constitution.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—In a public address in his church to-night, the Rev. J. M. Foster of the Second Reformed Presbyterian Church declared that he and all loyal members of his denomination were disfranchised, because both the Republican and Democratic platforms stand on the Constitution of the United States, and that instrument represents repudiation of the royal claims of Jesus Christ, the King of Kings; usurpation of the blood-bought prerogatives of the Governor among the nations, and flagrant violation of His holy and just and good law.

"Reformed Presbyterians," said Mr. Foster, "deny themselves political privileges, not from motives of unpatriotic disloyalty to the country, but from sentiments of patriotic loyalty to Christ. We cannot swear to support the Constitution, because it does not acknowledge Almighty God as the source of all authority, the Lord Jesus Christ as King of Nations, and the Bible as the foundation of all law; because the Constitution makes public opinion and not the law of God the supreme standard; because the Constitution contains provisions that are contrary to the Divine law. The President's oath omits the name of God. An appeal to God is the very essence of the oath; because refusing to swear to support the Constitution is the only way in which Christian citizens can free themselves from responsibility for these evils, and because refusing to swear to support the Constitution is the best and only remedy for its evils."

A MILLIONAIRE ARRESTED.

Major Robertson Fined for Shooting on His Own Farm.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Nov. 2.—Major James T. Robertson, a Wall Street stock broker, was arrested yesterday by Game Warden James L. Tooker of this city.

Tooker was walking along the road between Eatontown and Tinton Falls. Robertson, who is a Southerner by birth, drove past him in a stylish carriage with a gun in his arm. Tooker followed the carriage and got information from the colored coachman that Robertson was gunning on his own farm. He waited until he came and then arrested him and took him before Justice Edwards of Eatontown. He was fined $20 and costs.

Robertson lives in a fine country residence between Eatontown and Tinton Falls, and is a millionaire.

THREE FLAGS PULLED DOWN.

Massachusetts Silver Men Resort to Violence.

BELLINGHAM, Mass., Nov. 2.—Flags bearing the names of McKinley and Hobart were pulled down last night in Caryville, Medway, and West Medway, and one of them was torn in shreds.

The Bellingham Selectmen and citizens this morning offered $50 reward for evidence to convict the persons guilty of pulling down the flag in this place, and $5 for the return of the flag.

The Democrats of Medway and Bellingham unite with Republicans in denouncing the outrage, and are urging the officers to spare no effort to capture and convict the perpetrators.

James Leach Charged with Libel.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Nov. 2.—County Judge Van Valen to-day issued a capias for the arrest of James Leach, a New-York business man, in a libel suit for $10,000, brought by James Bates, a reporter. It is alleged that last week Leach issued a circular containing many scurrilous statements against Bates. Leach complained that a statement by Bates cost him $2,000. The alleged statement was in reference to a fine imposed on Leach for raiding an "Angel Dancers'" place.

CABINET MEMBERS PLANS.

Several Will Not Vote—Returns at the White House.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The President will receive news on election night at the White House, through the dispatches of The United Associated Presses and the Western Union Telegraph Company, supplemented by private advices from friends.

The President will have for company in the Cabinet Chamber Secretary Olney, Secretary Carlisle, and Secretary Morton, who will not vote to-morrow; Secretary Lamont, who will vote in New-York, and Postmaster General Wilson, who will vote in Charleston, West Va. Both of the latter gentleman will come directly to Washington after depositing their ballots against the Chicago free-silver ticket. They have already gone home, but expect to vote early to-morrow morning and to return to Washington in the early evening.

None of the other absent members of the Cabinet will be able to reach this city before Wednesday. Secretary Herbert will vote in Montgomery, Ala.; Secretary Francis in St. Louis, Mo., and Attorney General Harmon in Cincinnati, Ohio. Private Secretary Thurber, who was unable to go home to Michigan at this time, will be in general charge of affairs at the White House to-morrow evening.

A number of Treasury officials have gone home to vote, among them being Assistant Secretary Wike of Illinois, Assistant Secretary Hamlin of Massachusetts, Commissioner Miller of West Virginia, Judge Bowler of Ohio, Controller of the Treasury; Mr. Eckels of Illinois, Controller of the Currency; Treasurer Morgan of Connecticut, and Auditor Baldwin. Assistant Secretary Curtis will go to New-York to-night and return here in the afternoon, after casting his vote there, in time to sign the official mail of the Treasury Department as Acting Secretary.

Assistant Secretary Doe of the War Department, who favors the Bryan ticket, is suffering with a severe cold, and is unable to leave the city. Assistant Secretary McAdoo, who is Acting Secretary of the Navy, in the absence of Secretary Herbert, is registered in Jersey City, but will not be able to get away in time to vote.

BISHOP KEANE'S FUTURE.

A Rumor that He Is to be Made Coadjutor Archbishop of Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2.—The rumor that Bishop Keane is to be made coadjutor Archbishop of Baltimore with a right to succession is being widely circulated in Catholic circles, and is believed by many. It is certain that Cardinal Gibbons has practically taken charge of the Bishop's future.

While he was rector of the Catholic University Bishop Keane was looked upon as the logical successor to Cardinal Gibbons as Archbishop of Baltimore, but within the past two years immediately preceding his removal, some opposition to this plan developed and gained headway. At that time, however, it would not have been powerful enough to prevent his becoming Archbishop of Baltimore, had the occasion presented itself, but it may be different now. Cardinal Gibbons has not yet expressed himself on this subject, and it is not definitely known whether he has sanctioned the plan. No one stood closer to Cardinal Gibbons than Bishop Keane did, and as coadjutor Archbishop of Baltimore, Bishop Keane would find his work most agreeable and the Cardinal would have a worthy assistant. In speaking of the possibility of such a thing, a friend and supporter of Bishop Keane, as well as a friend of Cardinal Gibbons, said: "While we are not assured of success, it is what we all hope for."

As the appointment is virtually that of a successor to Cardinal Gibbons, it must come from Rome, and the name of Bishop Keane must go to Rome through the regular channels.

DEFENSE OF THE F. GERRING.

Alleged She Caught Her Fish Outside the Limit.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Nov. 2.—The case of the American schooner F. Gerring, Jr., vs. The Queen, was up in the Supreme Court here to-day.

This is an appeal from the Admiralty Court of Nova Scotia. The Gerring was captured within the three-mile limit off the coast of Nova Scotia, and everything on board, including 200 barrels of mackerel, was forfeited. The case was tried by the Admiralty Court in Nova Scotia, and the vessel was condemned. An appeal is now taken to the Supreme Court.

The case in dispute is as to whether a vessel having caught the fish in the nets outside the limit, and having drifted with the wind to within the limit before the nets were discharged is liable to seizure under the treaty. That was said by the defense to be the position of the Gerring. Judgment in the case was reserved.

The Baldwin Locomotive Works were the lowest bidders.

Charles Z. Page Asks a Divorce.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 2.—Charles Z. Page, a wealthy business man, has begun suit for an absolute divorce from his wife, Florence C. Page. The Pages were married in 1882, and have one child.

ELECTION DAY WEATHER

CLEAR AND PLEASANT THE PREDICTION FOR THE EAST.

A Snowstorm Prevails in the Dakotas and Western Minnesota and May Prevent the Polling of a Full Vote—Bad Roads in Parts of the Missouri Valley—Fine Weather Is Promised in the Middle West.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The meteorological forecasters are most uncertain about the conditions which will prevail in the doubtful States of the Middle West to-morrow. Recognizing the great importance upon the elections' result of a snowstorm, sunshine, and good roads, special efforts have been made by the Weather Bureau to foretell accurately the conditions.

The ominous "low" central over Iowa causes concern. It is conceded, however, not as bad looking as such "lows" usually are, for it has hung around twenty-four hours now without developing any damage.

There is absolutely nothing in the weather conditions to prevent every farmer in the New-England, the Middle States, and the South from reaching the polls, however distant, for in those sections the roads are in their best possible condition, and are almost certain to remain so for several days at least. The Mountain States are also dry, but the western slope of the Mississippi Valley has been thoroughly soaked in the last three or four days, and even in Kansas and Nebraska teaming is so heavy that another general shower would make many poor roads almost impassable.

This stay-at-home state of affairs is worse in Oregon and Washington than anywhere else in the Union.

There is pretty sure to be rain and perhaps snow or hail in Northern Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, and showers not of sufficient intensity to deter ardent voters are feared for Michigan. But a two-hundred-mile circle, with Springfield, Ill., as a centre, the line cutting well into Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, and Kentucky, is the area that might be affected by the only "low" on the United States map. Here the Weather Bureau sharps are looking out for squalls.

The Weather Bureau to-night furnishes the following special weather bulletin to the press:

"The weather conditions are maturing about as indicated in the special bulletin issued this morning. A storm condition to-night covers the upper lake region and the Upper Mississippi and Upper Missouri Valleys. Rain is now falling at Chicago, Green Bay and Duluth, and snow over the eastern portions of North Dakota and South Dakota and Western Minnesota. The amount of snow which has fallen in the Dakotas and Western Minnesota during to-day ranges from one to six inches.

"On Tuesday cloudy weather and moderate rainfall will probably prevail in Michigan and Wisconsin, with high southeast winds; rain or snow in Minnesota, with clearing weather in the afternoon; snow in the eastern portion of the Dakotas, probably clearing by noon; cloudy and light showers in Oregon, Washington, and Montana.

"In Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and all other States not previously mentioned, clear and pleasant weather is practically certain to prevail on Tuesday."

A Chicago Prediction.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—The Weather Bureau has issued the following special bulletin for Tuesday: "Generally fair weather will prevail in the States of the Missouri Valley and in Colorado, Wyoming, and Kansas. Rain or snow will fall in Minnesota and Montana. In Iowa and Missouri rain will be followed by fair weather in central and west portions Tuesday. Rain is indicated for Wisconsin, Upper Michigan, and Western Lower Michigan. In Illinois and Indiana showers will occur, with prospects of fair weather in Illinois Tuesday afternoon."

Snow in South Dakota.

HURON, S. D., Nov. 2.—A heavy snow fell here last night, and a foot of it is now on the ground. The storm north and west is reported severe. Telegraph poles and wires are down between here and Pierre, no communication with that city having been had by wire since Thursday evening. Trains are slightly delayed. It is expected the storm will interfere with a full vote to-morrow.

DUCK SHOOTING IN EARNEST.

Great Crowds of Sportsmen on Chesapeake Bay.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Nov. 2.—Hundreds of shooters participated in the onslaught on the royal canvas-back and the toothsome redhead this morning. One in ignorance of what was going on at daybreak would have thought it was the musketry of a couple of regiments of infantry in action. All sportsmen knew it was the opening of the duck shooting season of 1896 on the Susquehanna flats.

Yachts of all sizes, with parties from New-York, Philadelphia, Long Branch, Baltimore, and other cities, took up their berths alongside the local craft and vessels of the near-by enthusiasts on the shooting ground, and the owners and guests prepared to enjoy themselves for an indefinite period. The open season lasts until April. The growth of wild celery is as abundant as was ever known, and the birds as plentiful, giving promise of excellent sport.

Shot by His Own Posse.

DEMING, New-Mexico, Nov. 2.—While in pursuit of border bandits who have been committing murders and robberies in Southwest New-Mexico, and in the vicinity of Skeleton Cañon, near the Arizona line, Deputy Sheriff Frank M. Galloway of Silver City was shot and killed by members of his own posse, who mistook him for a robber in the darkness, having called out to him and received no answer. The posse was close upon the robbers, but had camped for the night, and Galloway was on watch. The robbers have made their escape.

Mayor Hurt by a Trolley.

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 2.—Mayor Robert McClelland was knocked down and fatally injured by a trolley car on Campbell Avenue this morning. His skull was fractured and it is not believed that he can live through the night.

LONDON HAS A WRONG VIEW.

Comment in British Guiana on the Kaituma Railway.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—British Guiana newspapers, which reached the State Department to-day, disagree with the London press over the Kaituma Railway episode, and advocate compliance with the Venezuelan remonstrance about the violation of the status quo.

Some weeks ago the Colonial Legislature passed under suspension of rules and without adequate consideration, a grant for a railway up the Kaituma River, into the disputed territory, with a provision that the survey should be made at once and that construction should commence in January. Venezuela vigorously protested to the United States against this breach of faith, Great Britain having promised to preserve existing conditions until the whole territorial dispute was settled. When this affair was published in dispatches of the United Associated Presses, London newspapers commented upon it with many disparaging remarks in regard to the United States and possible intervention. It now appears that the Demerara papers, which take their cues from the Colonial authorities, are discussing the matter in quite a different tone, admitting that the action of the Colonial Legislature at this junction was calculated to upset all plans for arbitration.

In the copies reaching here to-day the possibility of international friction over a minor issue is deplored, and the London papers are advised not to lose their temper. Confidence is expressed that the forthcoming settlement of the boundary question will give the colony the projected railway line, and that no actual work will be attempted on it until that decision is rendered. From other sources it is learned that this changed attitude in the colony is due to a very forcible cablegram from Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies.

A DAMAGING FOREST FIRE.

Two Farmers Suffer Greatly on Account of the Flames.

EGG HARBOR CITY, N. J., Nov. 2.—This section, which has so often within the last few years been swept by forest fires, was the scene of another fierce one to-day. The fire broke out about noontime, and is supposed to have resulted from the carelessness of workmen who were burning brush and allowed the fire which they were using to clear a piece of land to get away from them. To-night the flames are believed to be under control, and the force of men fighting them think they will have the fire out by morning.

Between noon to-day and 9 o'clock to-night the fire had burned over an area of over two square miles. A portion of this was woodland and brush, but two farms were caught in the fiery sweep, with disastrous results. At one time it looked as though the fire would carry away at least twenty buildings, but it was fought back in that direction.

The fire is in Galloway Township, about two miles from the city. The farmhouse, barns, and out buildings of Henry Bornich were swept away, and everything on the farm was ruined by the flames. Keller's farm, a short distance away, was caught in the path of the fire, and the fruit trees and crops were ruined. Through the woodland the fire drove the game, and it is believed many animals have perished. The loss will be several thousand dollars to the two farmers alone, without calculating the damage done to cranberry bogs and woodland. The fire was in an unusual place. The big fires of the past have been in the swamp and cedar lands, for the most part, and the farmers, except in a few instances, have not suffered much. To-day's fire broke out in one of the most thickly settled farming districts in the county, and up to 4 o'clock threatened to be the most disastrous the county has ever experienced.

PARDONED BY THE PRESIDENT.

A Case Which Appealed Strongly to His Sympathy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The President to-day pardoned Emil C. Knappe, convicted of embezzling the funds of the Chicopee National Bank of Springfield, Mass., and sentenced in 1894 to five years' imprisonment.

The President says: "This convict has served more than half of his sentence, as reduced by good conduct. When his defalcation was suspected he at once made a full confession. He has restored to the utmost of his ability the funds he appropriated. His conduct prior to the offense to which he pleads guilty was exceedingly good, and I have never been more fully convinced of the lack of a criminal tendency in a convict, in the sincerity of repentance, and determination to regain the confidence of the community. He has aged parents and two sisters who need his support, and whose sad condition appeals strongly to my sympathy, and has enlisted the humane efforts of many good citizens in support of a plea for clemency.

"A full examination of all circumstances surrounding the application for clemency on behalf of this convict satisfies me that the purposes of punishment will be fully reached if the remainder of his sentence is remitted."

Knappe's term of imprisonment would have expired in September, 1898.

In the case of Daniel Masters, convicted in West Virginia of embezzling letters, and sentenced to fourteen months' imprisonment, the President refuses to shorten the sentence of the court.

THE WEATHER.

The indications for to-day are fair and warmer.

The record of temperature for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from THE NEW-YORK TIMES's thermometer and from the thermometer of the Weather Bureau, is as follows:

REVIEWS THE BATTLE

GEORGE FOSTER PEABODY ON THE SITUATION.

The Debt of the Country to the National Democratic Party, He Says, Is Great—He Ridicules the Reports of Coercion by Employers—A Big Sound-Money Vote in the South—Platform and Candidates Induced Confidence.

George Foster Peabody, the New-York member of the National Committee of the National Democrats, and who has had charge of the campaign in the Western States, last night issued a review of the situation, in which he said:

"The Chicago platform made an appeal to the dangerous forces underlying ignorance, prejudice, and passion in the body politic. The response to this was appalling to all who realized the gravity of the issue. If party regularity held sway in the Democratic ranks, the success of Mr. Bryan seemed all too possible.

"In that supremest crisis was born of the necessity of the hour the National Democratic Party. Its power for effective work was not attained until its candidates were nominated on a truly Democratic platform that said what it meant.

Real Basis for Confidence.

"I think that action was the real basis for the confidence that has grown steadily since the day when Palmer and Buckner accepted the responsibility. The results of the campaign which its National and State Committees have directed warrant such confidence. The debt of the country to the National Democratic Party is great. The only known basis for the confidence of the Chicago candidate has been reliance upon a reported understanding that the entire agricultural and labor vote would be delivered by assumed leaders. No man well-informed as to the intelligence of either of these classes would for a moment believe in the success of an appeal to their prejudice to vote against their real interest. They know that they control their own votes without fear of coercion or intimidation from either employers or fellow-laborers less fortunate or less intelligent and thrifty.

No Evidence of Coercion.

"No evidence is produced of any such attempted influence except by some reckless supporters of Mr. Bryan. Our National and State Committeemen report most confidently as to the prospects in the critical States, and hopefully as to the prospective sound-money vote in the Southern States particularly, I cannot avoid the conviction that the vote for Mr. Bryan throughout the country will be far less than has been anticipated."

REPORTS ENCOURAGING.

National Democrats Cheerful over the Outlook for Sound Money.

An air of cheerfulness pervaded the headquarters of the National Democrats yesterday. Encouraging reports from all the debatable States were received. In the afternoon there was a meeting of the Executive Committee, which was presided over by John De Witt Warner. After the business of the campaign was cleared up, reports from every county of the State were read which indicated a vote of 156,000 for the National and State ticket.

Gen. E. A. McAlpin issued a circular yesterday calling attention to the fact that the courts had declared William L. Ward the regular Republican and National Democratic candidate in the Westchester District.

John De Witt Warner, speaking of the work of the National Democrats in this State, said that as soon as this organization was established the effect was instant and great. The support which we were able to give the Indianapolis Convention was appreciated by our friends throughout the country, as one of the main factors that insured its success. "After it was seen that New-York was no longer in danger," said Mr. Warner, "we started our local campaign and used our funds for sound-money propaganda through the Central West."

WILL VOTE FOR REPUBLICANS.

National Democrats of Hudson County Wish to Defeat the Machine.

The Palmer and Buckner Committee of Hudson County ordered 72,000 official tickets from County Clerk John G. Fisher, for distribution through the mails. The ballots were delivered Saturday morning and sent out. Yesterday it was discovered that the name of Nelson J. H. Edge, one of the candidates for Presidential Elector, was printed Nelson J. H. Page. It was also found that the name of Henry G. Herrmann, another Elector, was spelled with a single "r." Judge Lippincott said this last would make no difference, but the error in Mr. Edge's name was vital. The ballots were reprinted.

Members of the Palmer and Buckner Committee yesterday made a personal canvass among their friends, and asked them to vote for the straight Republican ticket. They said a careful canvass had convinced them that the Palmer and Buckner ticket would receive fully 3,000 votes. They realized that this might permit the machine Democratic ticket to win. The danger was not realized until a late hour, but members of the committee said last night that they had done much to counteract it. Dr. L. J. Gordon found ten Palmer and Buckner men in as many minutes who agreed with him and will vote accordingly. It is estimated that fully 500 votes were changed during the day.

Talked Sound Money to Students.

The Sound Money Club of the New-York University held a meeting yesterday at University Heights. E. B. Garvin, President of the club, presided. The speakers were Frank M. Colby, an assistant professor in the university; Park Commissioner Samuel McMillan, and Andrew Powell.

Two Saratogans Killed by Cars.

SARATOGA, Nov. 2.—Robert J. Scanlon, aged thirty-five, for many years interested in The Saratogian, died last night from injuries received by being struck by a railway train Saturday.

Jacob Near, seventy-six years old, residing in Ballston Spa, and for many years in charge of the Ethan Allen Stock Farm, in this county, was struck and instantly killed by cars near the Delaware and Hudson Railroad station at Ballston to-day.

TALK WITH CONFIDENCE

PARTY MANAGERS MAKE THE FINAL PREDICTIONS.

Hanna Sticks to His Figures of 311 Electoral Votes for McKinley—Jones and Butler Assert that Bryan Will Be Elected by a Big Margin—Chairmen Make Conflicting Claims Regarding Several States.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Chairman Hanna went to Cleveland to-night. He will vote in that city to-morrow morning, and then take a train for Canton, where he will spend several hours with Major McKinley. Returning to Cleveland at 7 o'clock, he will take up his headquarters in the Union Club, where he will receive returns from the election.

Before he left headquarters in the Auditorium to-night, Mr. Hanna said he had not changed his opinion to the extent of a single Electoral vote as to the result of the battle of ballots to-day.

"The only news that has come into these headquarters since Saturday," said Mr. Hanna, "has been of a character to sustain the figures I gave out Saturday night."

"Do you still claim that McKinley will have 311 votes in the Electoral College?" Mr. Hanna was asked.

"Yes, Sir," he replied positively.

"And that all of the States you figured out as safe will be carried for sound money?"

"Undoubtedly."

"Does Major McKinley share your confidence?"

"Of course he does. Why shouldn't he? He gets our very latest information. We have kept him informed about everything that has been going on."

Mr. Hanna will remain in Cleveland until Wednesday night, when he will go to New-York. His business in that city will be to wind up the affairs of the New-York headquarters. When he gets through there, he will return to Chicago and permanently close the headquarters here.

News from the Slope.

Chairman Hanna to-day received a few final telegrams of a cheerful tenor from the Pacific coast. The Chairman of the Oregon State Committee telegraphed that the poll of the State just completed showed 4,500 majority for McKinley and that the State is absolutely sure.

The California State Chairman telegraphed that the State could be surely depended upon to cast its Electoral vote for McKinley.

From the Chairman of the Washington State Committee came a message that the State might go for Bryan, being very much in doubt, but that the Republicans would elect their State and Congressional tickets and carry the Legislature.

Executive Committee Member Leland, who has been in Kansas for some time, telegraphed Mr. Hanna, guaranteeing the Electoral vote of that State for the Canton citizens.

The Southern States.

From the Republican Headquarters the following was sent out to-night:

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS,
CHICAGO, Nov. 2.

I am confident that the strength of McKinley and Hobart in the Electoral College as a result of to-morrow's election will be not less than 311 votes. Our polls, taken by trained men, indicate that we will carry not only California and Oregon, but every one of the Central Western States, including Missouri and Kansas.

"There is reason for us to believe, too, that Texas will cast her Electoral vote for the Republican candidates, and that Virginia, Kentucky, Maryland, Tennessee, and West Virginia will be found on the side of the sound-money column. North Carolina is practically conceded. Altogether, the victory promises to be one of the greatest that has ever been won by a candidate for President. M. A. HANNA."

Jones Says Bryan Will Win.

The following was issued to-night:

"DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS, Chicago, Nov. 2.—In to-morrow's Presidential election the West and the South will present a solid front against those classes of the East yet dominated by the money influences of New-York City and London.

"The forces back of this movement are not yet fully understood by the conservative people of New-England and some of the Middle Eastern States. This issue is by no means sectional, and their real interests are the same as those of the great producing States of the West and South.

This is a campaign in which politicians of both parties have been practically powerless either to advance or retard the onward march of the people in their demand for National financial independence. It has been the people's fight, and it will be their victory. JAMES K. JONES.

Jones Cries Fraud.

Senator Jones sent the following telegram to the Chairman of each State Committee to-day:

"J. Richie, Deputy United States Marshal, has wired me from Lawrenceville, Ill., as follows: 'The plan of the Republicans to carry Illinois is to have official tickets in the hands of the judge, and as the voter presents his ballot to be deposited in the ballot box the judge is to put in a straight Republican ticket in its stead. We have captured a man here, with 100 tickets and $400 in cash. He has weakened and given the whole plan away.'

"This plan will probably be attempted throughout your State. It is absolutely necessary that honest men organize vigilance committees in all your counties and townships, if possible, for the purpose of preventing the consummation of this villainy. Please take immediate and vigorous steps to call the attention of the public to this plan. It seems that the Republicans will hesitate at no villainous attempt to steal the election. Let this be known.

"JAMES K. JONES."

Republican State Chairman Hitch and National Committeeman Jamieson denied any knowledge of a plot to steal Illinois or any county thereof, and they place no credence in the report from Lawrenceville, suspecting that it was only circulated as an election eve dodge so as to explain the defeat which they had in store for the Democrats in Illinois to-morrow. This scheme of passing a marked ballot is old, they said, and no smart man would try it.

MAJOR McKINLEY CONFIDENT.

Kept Busy Greeting Callers All Day Yesterday.

CANTON, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Two delegations called on Major McKinley to-day. The first was composed of 350 ladies from Akron, Ohio, and the other came from Massillon. Neither of these delegations was expected. The candidate, feeling that the work of the campaign had been practically closed, did not speak at any length, but simply thanked the visitors for the call.

Aside from these delegations Major McKinley was kept busy greeting callers from early in the morning until long after dark to-night. The campaign in Canton closed with a parade of all the Republican marching clubs of the city, and an uncommonly large mass meeting at the Tabernacle, which was addressed by Republicans of local reputation. Major McKinley is cheerful and tutation, Major McKinley was not present at this demonstration.

Major McKinley is cheerful and confident to-night. He declined to make any statement further than to say that his advices from every quarter were of a reassuring nature.

After the meetings in the various wards to-night the marching clubs again formed in parade and marched to the residence of Major McKinley, where they tendered the candidate a serenade of huge proportions. Major McKinley stepped out to the front of his yard, and in response to loud calls for a speech the candidate addressed his neighbors.

SEEING THE FUTURE.

A so-called magician in London has been coining money lately by showing people pictures of their future life. One strong man saw himself depicted as an aged, worn-out wreck of humanity, broken down with care. A woman in robust health saw herself transformed into a gloomy invalid. There was a trick about it, of course, but every visitor went away feeling heavy-hearted and despondent.

There are thousands of men and women to-day who would be filled with similar terror if they could only see the future in store for them unless they do something at once to prevent it. They are nervous, weak, tired, languid, exhausted in nerve power and physical strength. They are sleepless, and awaken tired and unrefreshed, without energy for the day's work.

When people get to feeling like this it plainly shows that their systems are badly run down. These symptoms are the sure signs of malaria, of debility, and the best way to get rid of them is to take a pure, medicinal stimulant which will build up the strength. The best stimulant is pure whiskey, but it must be absolutely pure, and there is only one whiskey—Duffy's pure malt—which fully answers this description. This whiskey drives out malaria, and builds up the whole system. It makes weak, weary people strong and well. All grocers and druggists keep Duffy's pure malt whiskey. There is no other whiskey like Duffy's, and nothing else that can possibly take its place.

MUCH MIXED IN TEXAS.

Claims of Both Sides—Two Republican Congressmen.

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 2.—Notwithstanding that Chairman Blake of the Bryan and Sewall Committee, is claiming the State by 150,000 plurality over McKinley, silver leaders here say it will not exceed 25,000.

Blake placed his estimate on a total vote of 500,000 votes, of which he gives McKinley only 125,000, Bryan and Sewall 275,000, Bryan and Watson 90,000, and Palmer and Buckner 10,000.

In this city and county at least 90 per cent. of the Populists will vote for McKinley, and their leaders claim 50 per cent. of their party in Texas will vote for him. If this is true, out of a total vote of 460,000, they claim McKinley will receive from Republicans, Populists, and sound-money Democrats 195,000; Bryan and Sewall 180,000, Bryan and Watson 65,000, Palmer and Buckner 10,000, Levering 10,000.

For Congress it looks as if Mr. Crawford, sound-money Democrat, in the Fourth District, would win; Gibbs, Populist, in the Sixth District; Pope, Republican, in the Seventh, and Noonan, Republican, in the Twelfth District.

CLOSE IN NEBRASKA.

The Drift of the Last Few Hours Has Been Toward McKinley.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 2.—Eliminating the effect of William J. Bryan's trip through Nebraska to-day, which none deny has been a factor for his benefit, the political trend of the State for the past thirty-six hours has been favorable to the Republicans.

For this condition of affairs the Populist supporters of Mr. Bryan have men in their own ranks to blame.

The meetings of to-day and Saturday night were marked at a number of towns by overt acts, such as throwing eggs at Republican speakers and burning Republican banners, and these things indicate, perhaps, that a reaction has set in. Aside from this, there has been nothing to change the estimate either way.

The vote will be close in any event, and it is questionable if the result, even on heads of tickets, will be definitely known before Thursday.

If the betting is any indication, Bryan men have a trifle the better of it. No large wagers have been made or odds offered by either side. Mr. Bryan's home county is claimed by the Republicans by 2,000, but his supporters insist that the estimate is far too large.

MISSOURI CLAIMED BOTH WAYS.

Each Side Apparently Confident of a Sweeping Victory.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—Never before has Missouri been so thoroughly canvassed and campaigned. The registration is the largest ever known, and the vote certainly will pass all records. The Republicans have fought hard and aggressively, and their claim of a coming victory is not campaign bravado, but is born of confidence.

The Democrats, aroused from apathy by the vigorous front of their opponents, have sent their squadrons into every school district and feel assured of victory.

The Republicans are strongly abetted by the Palmer and Buckner Democrats, while Bryan will receive the united support of the Populists and the straight Democrats.

Charges and counter charges by both parties of intended fraud were made to-day. Chairman Chauncey I. Filley, for the Republicans, this evening offered $500 reward for the conviction of any one intimidating a voter or committing a fraud at the polls.

In anticipation of possible rioting to-morrow, 500 extra policemen have been sworn in. Democrats claim 70,000 majority, and Republicans 50,000 majority in the State. To-night there was a slight rain here, but there is promise of fair weather to-morrow.

RIVAL CLAIMS IN MINNESOTA.

Each Side Professes Confidence of a Big Majority.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 2.—The various campaign committees completed their work to-day and gave out their final estimates of the vote in Minnesota. Chairman Rosing of the Democratic Committee said:

"We will carry the State without a doubt. The change of sentiment toward Bryan during the last ten days has been something remarkable. We will get at least 25,000 majority for Bryan. We will elect at least four Congressmen, and the others will be in doubt. Lind for Governor will run somewhat ahead of Bryan. His majority will be between 30,000 and 35,000."

The closing estimate of Chairman Warner of the Republican Committee was:

"McKinley will carry the State by upward of 25,000 votes, Clough by upward of 15,000. The Republicans will elect the seven Congressmen and have the Legislature."

Chairman Gibbs of the Populist Committee said: "Bryan will carry the State by 20,000, Lind by 40,000, and we will elect six of the seven Congressmen. I concede the First District to Tawney, (Rep.)"

The Outlook in North Dakota.

FARGO, N. S., Nov. 2.—The managers of the Populist and Democratic Parties are not as enthusiastic over the approaching election as they were ten days ago, and late this afternoon the majority of 5,000 which they claimed a few days ago was reduced to 2,500. The Republican managers believe there has been a great changing over during the last few days. The most influential farmers in the State are for free silver, and this means a great deal to the followers of the white metal. A conservative estimate of the situation gives the Republican National ticket about 2,500 majority. The Congressional fight will be a close one, and at the present time it looks as though Burke, the fusion candidate, would be elected over Johnson, Republican.

Delaware Leans Toward McKinley.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 2.—The political situation in Delaware remains unchanged since Saturday. Signs of growing interest, however, are visible on every side and the voters are awaiting the result anxiously. Democrats in a position to know admit that the signs point to a majority for McKinley and Hobart in the State, and no estimates go below 1,000. It is believed that the entire Republican vote will be cast for the Republican Electors. The result as to Congressman cannot be forecasted, there being four candidates in the field.

The fastidious New-Yorker came, saw, and was convinced. In less than a month from the date of opening the new Hotel Manhattan has become New-York's favorite resort for dinner and supper. 42d and Madison Avenue.—Adv.

CASH SCANT IN TAMMANY

THE LEADERS, THOUGH, GOT ABOUT $1,000 APIECE.

Strangely for Tammany, the Committee on Organization Was Not Called Together This Year to Hear Election Reports—John C. Sheehan Says that the Organization Is Satisfied, and He Avers that It Will Win.

There were the usual day-before-election scenes at Tammany Hall yesterday. The leaders of the various Assembly Districts drove up in carriages and obtained from Superintendent Robert Kelly the usual election equipment for each Assembly District. This includes specimen tickets, paraphernalia for booths to be erected within proper legal limits of the polling places, signs, banners, and so forth.

After the Assembly District leaders had obtained their quota of election day material they called upon Treasurer John McQuade and got from him the pro rata allowance of election moneys for each Assembly District.

No estimate of the amount of money so distributed could be obtained from any of Tammany's officials, but it was estimated that each Assembly District leader received nearly $1,000, and that the total amount distributed to the leaders yesterday was about $35,000. In other years the amount was much more.

"I never saw the Assembly District leaders so well satisfied as they were to-day," said Treasurer McQuade.

John C. Sheehan said: "All of the district leaders were well satisfied with the contributions they received for their districts. We are going to carry this country for Bryan and Sewall to a certainty. We will elect seven out of the eight Congressmen from the city districts, and we will elect at least twenty-six of our Assembly candidates."

For the first time in many Presidential years the Tammany Committee on Organization did not meet this year to hear reports from the various Assembly districts. In past Presidential years this has always been one of the set Tammany functions.

The Committee on Organization usually gathered on the Friday before election, and the various Assembly district leaders made reports which encouraged the Tammany men very much. This year there was no meeting. The politicians pointed to this fact to show that Tammany did not care to show its weakness this year, and that the omission of a meeting of the Committee on Organization the week before the Presidential election showed certain signs of defeat in the county.

John C. Sheehan, the executive head of Tammany, said that the pre-election meetings of the Committee on Organization had been abandoned last year, and that this year its functions were filled by the personal reports to him of the members of the Executive Committee. Another leader explained that it cost altogether too much to call the Committee on Organization together.

York Claims Kings County.

Bernard J. York, Chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee of Kings County, declared yesterday that the county would give Mr. Bryan a plurality of 5,000.

"I think," he said "that the close of the campaign brings with it hope and encouragement for Democrats. From careful estimates made from different sections of the city, Bryan ought to carry the county by about 5,000 plurality. We ought to elect three Congressmen and at least eleven Assemblymen."

LLOYD NOT A CANDIDATE.

Running for Office in Illinois Against His Protest.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Henry D. Lloyd, whose name appears on the official ballot as candidate for Lieutenant Governor on the "middle of the road," ticket, arrived home to-day. He said:

"I was surprised upon arriving in the city this morning for the first time in several months to learn that my name had been printed upon the official ballot as a candidate for the Lieutenant Governorship. This use of my name was made without consultation with me in the first place, and against my protest. I learned of it first through a dispatch in the Eastern press. I received a few days later an official notification from the Secretary of State to appear before him to answer objections that had been made against the placing of my name on the official ballot. To this I responded at once that the objections were also mine, that I had refused the use of my name, and I desired him to sustain the objections.

"Naturally, I supposed this had been done, and the first intimation that my name was still in use has come to me this morning. It only remains for me to communicate these facts to those who are interested, and to say that I wish no attention paid to a nomination so entirely unauthorized."

NORTH SIDE IMPROVEMENTS.

Requests of the Board of Trade Receive Favorable Action.

The North Side Board of Trade met last evening at 278 Willis Avenue. The Committee on Bridges presented a letter from Howard Payson Wilds, Deputy Commissioner of Public Works, in reference to the proposed Second Avenue bridge, in which the Deputy Commissioner stated that the department is awaiting the report of the Commissioners of Appraisals, which is expected early in December, and that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment would be asked to make the necessary appropriation to begin the work as soon as this report is received.

A letter from Deputy Commissioner Wilds announced that bids for the construction of an arch for the extension of Burnside Avenue had been opened, and the contract for the work would be awarded as early as practicable.

President James L. Wells requested the Committee on Education to visit the Mayor and urge the appointment of an additional School Commissioner for the north side. He also requested the Committee on Legislation to prepare a bill to be presented at the next session of the Legislature providing for a public park at Morris Heights.

RECALLED COLLEGE DAYS.

Old Alumni Association of Roosevelt Hospital Revived.

The old Alumni Association of Roosevelt Hospital was revived last night at the twenty-fifth anniversary meeting of the hospital staff, held in the Syms Building. It has been about fifteen years since the Alumni Association last met. It now numbers about 100, and it is proposed to hold regular meetings hereafter. Six new members are added each year.

Dr. Charles McBurney, the attending surgeon of the hospital, gave a dinner in honor of the occasion. The guests inspected the new five-story annex now in process of erection. There were present Dr. Charles McBurney, E. B. Cragin, A. Hobbs, Eugene E. Savage, Otto H. Schultze, Homer McGibney, Superintendent J. R. Lathrop, and Drs. Newcomb, Adams, Shrady, Lyle, Ewall, Knight, Jackson, Henry, James, Hobbs, Woolsey, Knapp, and Taylor.

The officers elected were: President—Dr. E. B. Cragin, Secretary of the Faculty of the College of Physicians and Surgeons; Vice President—Dr. Fred J. Brockway; Secretary—Dr. Allan C. Hutton; Treasurer—Dr. E. P. Mallett.

NO DOUBT ABOUT CONNECTICUT.

All Parties Concede the State to McKinley and Sound Money.

NEW-HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 2.—By gold and silver Democrats and Republicans Connecticut is conceded to McKinley. Chairman O. R. Fyler of the Republican State Central Committee to-night made his final claim before the election. It is: "McKinley will have about 34,000 majority, and Lorin A. Cooke, Republican, will have about the same majority for Governor. We shall elect four Congressmen, shall have two-thirds of the members of both branches of the next State Legislature, and shall elect every man on the Republican State ticket."

Alexander Troup, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, says: "The most accurate reports from our workers in the State give McKinley a majority of about 8,000. We shall carry New-Haven by a big majority, and shall elect a Congressman from this, the Second District. Dr. Austin B. Fuller is the Democratic nominee."

William J. Mills, Chairman of the National Democratic State Central Committee, said: "The National Democratic Party will poll 25,000 votes, but won't say whether they will be for McKinley or Palmer. Our candidate for Governor will receive 20,000 votes. The National Democratic candidates for Representatives and Judges of Probate in several districts will be elected. McKinley will carry Connecticut by about 25,000 majority."

Yesterday's statement that the Democratic State Central Committee had given orders to the Democratic moderators in towns of Connecticut to throw out all ballots marked "National Democratic" brought out a stout announcement from the National Democratic Party of the State to-day. It follows:

"To All Electors in the State of Connecticut:

"The attention of the State Central Committee of the National Democratic Party has been called to articles in the press stating that the Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee has sent requests and instructions to the silver moderators of various towns of the State to refuse to count, and to throw out all ballots cast at the election to be held Nov. 3, 1896, headed 'National Democratic.'

"The National Democratic State Central Commitee hereby gives notice that should any moderator thus violate the law he will be prosecuted under Section 277 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Connecticut of 1885, which provides imprisonment for the crime; and all persons aiding, abetting, and advising such action will also be prosecuted for conspiracy under the common law.

"If any persons have evidence of such fraud or conspiracy and will furnish it to the National Democratic State Central Committee proceedings will be instituted at once against the guilty parties anywhere in the State."

THE DEPARTMENT WILL ACT.

Secretary Olney's Letter to a Naturalized Armenian.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 2.—The Rev. S. S. Yenovkian, an Armenian resident of this city, naturalized, with a wife and four minor children in Turkey, has received the following from Secretary Olney in answer to an inquiry which affected him:

WASHINGTON, D. C.,
Oct. 31, 1896.

S. S. Yenovkian, Columbus, Ohio:

Sir—I have to inform you, in reply to your letter of the 28th inst., that the published statement that Minister Terrell had obtained telegraphic orders from the Turkish Government to permit the departure to the United States, with safe conduct to the seaports, of all native Armenian women and children whose husbands and fathers are in this country, is authentic, and was given to the press by this department. The telegram, however, has reference only to the wives and minor children of those naturalized American citizens of Armenian birth who had requested through this department his good offices to obtain such orders in their behalf.

If you will furnish to this department proof of your American citizenship and a draft on London to the order of Luther Short, Consul General of the United States at Constantinople, for an amount sufficient to defray the expenses of the journey of your wife and four children to the United States, our Minister will be instructed to use his personal good offices to obtain a like permission for their departure. Your wife's name and the names and ages of your children, as well as their present place of residence, should at the same time be stated. I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

RICHARD OLNEY.

Bullet and Knife in Kentucky.

BROWNVILLE, Ky., Nov. 2.—John Jewell, colored, was shot and instantly killed here last night. The Smith Grove Minstrel Troupe was parading, when Jewell, who was drunk, began to shout for McKinley.

I. I. Manson & Co. placed several sums at 3 to 1, and Edward Wasserman of Wasserman Brothers offered $10,000 to $2,500 on McKinley's election. There was no taker.

E. B. Talcott bet for clients $500 to $1,500 on Bryan and admitted that he had $14,000 out.

R. G. Morris had commissions for placing $20,000 in a lump on McKinley, at 3 to 1, and Maurice Hermadinger had $30,000 to be placed the same way.

Some Other Large Bets.

Other bets on the various Exchanges were:

W. B. Smith, with George W. Hoagland, $3,000 to $800 on McKinley; James Lee, with Mr. Hoagland, $1,500 to $400 on McKinley; S. A. Newman, with B. Smith, $1,250 to $2,000 that Bryan will carry Nebraska, Indiana, and Illinois; Stanley Mann, with M. R. Gossett, $500 even that McKinley's plurality in this city will be 25,000; J. F. Oliver, with Jacob Field, $1,000 to $4,000 on Bryan; J. M. Smith, with E. H. Hayes, $1,200 to $300 on McKinley.

Timothy "Dry Dollar" Sullivan and H. C. Du Val, Mr. Depew's private secretary, had a political argument that resulted in Mr. Du Val putting $150 on his declaration that McKinley would carry the city by 35,000. Mr. Sullivan regards the money as a gift. He has also bet $400 against $200 that "Tim" Campbell will defeat Bradley for Congress.

Three to One on McKinley.

BUFFALO, Nov. 2.—Edward "Cannon" Bald, the bicyclist, to-night made a wager of $1,000 to $300, put up by John Brown, a prominent banker of Hamilton, Ontario, that McKinley would be the next President of the United States. Mr. Bald offers to bet $2,000 more at the same odds, and thinks he will be able to place his money before noon to-morrow. J. W. Ashley, a well-known sporting man of this city, is the stakeholder.

PUBLIC DEBT INCREASING.

The Loss in Treasury Receipts Chiefly from Customs Dues.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Treasury official comparative statement of the receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year to date, and for October, was issued to-day. It shows the deficit for the first third of the current fiscal year to have been $32,885,000, or at the rate of $98,000,000 for the current year.

The receipts for the first third of the year were $105,458,000, or $8,015,000 less than for the corresponding period of 1895. The expenditures for the first third of the current year were $138,347,000, or $8,387,000 greater than for the corresponding period of 1895.

The principal loss in receipts has been in customs, which have declined from $58,143,000 in the first third of 1895, to $46,966,000 for the corresponding period of 1896. Internal revenue receipts are practically the same as they were for the corresponding period of 1895. The receipts for October, 1896, were $26,282,000 against $27,901,000 in October, 1895.

The principal items of increase in expenditures have been in the civil list, which has increased from $32,680,000 in the first third of 1895, to $40,576,000 for the first third of 1896. The expenditures in the War Department have increased nearly $4,000,000 in the like period; in the navy, nearly $4,000,000, and in interest charges nearly $1,000,000. The expenditures for October, 1896, were $33,978,000, against $34,503,000 for October, 1895, the saving being almost wholly in pensions.

The debt statement issued this afternoon shows a net increase in the public debt, less cash in the Treasury, during October, of $7,195,725.47. The interest-bearing debt increased $200. The non-interest-bearing debt decreased $386,168, and cash in the Treasury decreased $7,581,693.47.

The balances of the several classes of debt at the close of business Oct. 31 were:

Interest-bearing debt, $847,364,400; debt on which interest has ceased since maturity, $1,607,010.26; debt bearing no interest, $372,100,247.64; total, $1,221,071,717.90.

The certificates and Treasury notes offset by an equal amount of cash in the Treasury outstanding at the end of the month were $564,340,923, a decrease of $183,400. The total cash in the Treasury was $838,676,221.92. The gold reserve was $100,000,000. Net cash balance, $153,572,761.63.

In the month there was a decrease in gold coin and bars of $7,447,478.58, the total at the close being $155,323,832.63. Of silver there was a decrease of $1,586,102.28.

Of the surplus there was in National bank depositories $16,119,096.50, against $16,583,237.01 at the end of the previous month.

The coinage executed at the mints of the United States during October was as follows: Gold, $5,727,500; silver, $2,844,000, and minor coin, $66,900. Of the silver coined, $2,350,000 were standard silver dollars, on which the seigniorage realized was about $700,000.

The outstanding National bank circulation Nov. 1 was $234,897,657, an increase during the month of $1,345,627. The circulation based on bonds is $216,510,014.

Work of the Wage Earners' League.

The Wage Earners' Patriotic League held a sort of "round-up" meeting at their headquarters, 1,556 Third Avenue, last night. There were only a few members of the league present. The speaking and the campaigning are over, and auditors were scarce last night. A. L. Eisner, Secretary of the New-York branch of the league, said that the membership in this city has grown to more than 3,000. The league, from its central headquarters on Third Avenue, has established quarters at nine other points in New-York City. It has distributed a vast amount of sound-money literature, and has sent out dozens of speakers and held dozens of important mass meetings.

When the ring was answered, he pretended to be a gas or water inspector.

GOLD WITHDRAWN TO HOARD.

Chicago and St. Louis Sub-Treasuries Besieged with Applications.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Eighty thousand dollars was to-day withdrawn from the Sub-Treasury on legal tenders of the 1890 and later issues and on gold certificates. The withdrawals were in amounts ranging from $50 to $1,000, and were solely for hoarding. People stood in line throughout the day, but many had currency of issues not redeemable at this branch. Within the past three months about $1,500,000 has been withdrawn from the Chicago Sub-Treasury, but the daily withdrawals were small until Saturday, when $29,000 was taken.

ST LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 2.—Over $100,000 in gold, nearly all in twenty-dollar pieces, was withdrawn from the United States Sub-Treasury here to-day. This is three times the usual withdrawal. Chief Clerk Ricker said the movement had been anticipated, but would not say to whom the money was paid. There was delivered to-day to the Mississippi Valley Trust Company $290,000 in silver bullion, consigned to a syndicate of local capitalists. The bullion came from Argentine, Kan., and is the product of American and Mexican mines. Democrats are to-night using these heavy transactions in money as campaign arguments, and say the silver is hoarded in anticipation of a rise when Bryan is elected.

MANY RUSH FOR GOLD.

One Million Dollars Exchanged for Greenbacks at the Sub-Treasury.

There was a last hour rush of gold hoarders yesterday, and $1,000,000 was paid out for greenbacks at the Sub-Treasury. Some of the amounts taken by individuals exceeded $10,000. Saturday's payments were $346,000.

Bullion dealers charged from ¾ to 1 per cent. premium on gold, and there was a brisk demand for it early in the day. Zimmermann & Forshay sold $500,000, mostly in double eagles and eagles.

Only $330,000 in gold came into port yesterday. Hallgarten & Co. received $20,000 by La Bourgogne, and Muller, Schall & Co. $510,000 by the Seguranca from Havana. It was announced that the Bank of England had sold $260,000 in American eagles for America.

At the Sub-Treasury, the transfers of currency amounted to $335,000.

BRYAN AT HIS HOME.

Fierce in His Talk—Pledged to a Single Term.

OMAHA, Nov. 2.—The last day of Mr. Bryan's campaign was one of the most exciting he has experienced. He started from his home early this morning and concluded his tour with three speeches in this city, the last one at midnight.

Mr. Bryan was followed everywhere by Col. John P. Irish and others, who spoke to the crowds as soon as the silver meetings had ended.

The special train conveying Col. Irish ran into a freight train near Lincoln this morning, and J. M. Tipling, a Lincoln commercial traveler, who stood on the platform of the car, was killed. The freight train engine was taken to haul Irish's train, and it was delayed only a short time.

Gold badges were conspicuous in all the crowds at the railroad stations, and the cheers for Bryan were answered by counter cheers for McKinley. This opposition did not seem to please the candidate, who was unusually fierce in his utterances all day. At Hastings, he said:

"Since I left Nebraska I have been as far East as the Kennebec River, and I want to tell you that, no matter what the papers may say, there is a silver sentiment in Massachusetts and Maine that is as intense as it is in Nebraska. [Cheers.] When I have found a man who lived upon money and whose money was increasing in value under a gold standard, I have generally found an advocate of the gold standard, whether he was in Nebraska or Massachusetts, but when I found a man who worked for his living, I generally found a man who sympathized with you in your struggles."

In closing Mr. Bryan said:

"Now, my friends, I want to say when they talk about wearing the yellow ribbon, I have wondered why our farmers out here, if they want to show that they are for gold, do not wear a bunch of yellow straw. It illustrates the condition of this gold standard. [Laughter and cheers.] The gold standard has been a great thrashing machine, and it has done its work well. It has separated the wheat from the straw, and it has given the wheat to the Wall Street syndicate and left the straw for the farmer."

Mr. Bryan again arrived at Lincoln at 6 o'clock, and made a speech to many thousands of his fellow-townsmen.

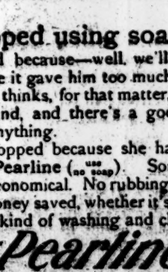
In the course of his remarks he reiterated the statement made just after his nomination that if elected he would not be a candidate for a second term.

The Murder of Pearl Bryan.

COVINGTON, Ky., Nov. 2.—Signs are pointing to a confession by Jackson and Walling, or at least to a getting at the truth of the murder of Pearl Bryan. For two weeks Jackson and Walling have been kept in separate cells, and a bitterness is growing up between them. Yesterday Walling said to Turnkey Maurier: "Why should I be punished for a crime I did not commit? I did not murder Pearl Bryan. Jackson is the man who cut her head off." Maurier asked why he had not so testified, but Walling declined to answer.

Taken from the Bank of England.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The amount of bullion withdrawn from the Bank of England on balance to-day is £52,000, and is for shipment to the United States.



These stopped using soap, long ago.

This one stopped because—well, we'll have to guess why. Perhaps, because it gave him too much work to do. That's what everybody thinks, for that matter, when there's nothing but soap at hand, and there's a good deal of dirt to be removed from anything.

But this one stopped because she had found something better than soap—Pearline (use soap). Something easier, quicker, simpler, more economical. No rubbing to speak of, no wear—easy work and money saved, whether it's washing clothes, cleaning house, or any kind of washing and cleaning.

MAKING READY FOR VOTING

POLICE INSTRUCTED AND ALL BALLOTS DELIVERED.

Every Well Member of the Force Will Be on Duty and Each Will Have a Chance to Vote—Chief Conlin's Emphasis on Preserving Order at the Polls—Courts Open for Election Controversies—Gathering City Returns.

Chief Conlin and Acting Inspector Brooks yesterday arranged the police details for to-day. Every member of the force who is not on sick leave will be on duty, as it will require 2,784 men to police the polling places, the law requiring that there shall be two policemen at each place.

For the first time in years, every policeman will have an opportunity to vote, as there will be no shifting around of the police as was the custom a few years ago.

Chief Conlin said he recognized the right of every policeman to vote, and would make arrangements so that every one could. About 90 per cent. of the force voted last year, but this year there have been so many appointments that all will have a chance to vote.

It will be necessary to send some of the policemen out of their precincts this morning, and about 650 will be detailed to precincts to which they do not belong, most of them being taken from down-town precincts. All who are so detailed will, however, be sent to polling places near where they live, and so will be enabled to vote.

All of the Captains and precinct commanders were before Chief Conlin yesterday afternoon, and to each he gave instructions for to-day and copies of instructions that all the members of the force may know just what their duty is while the election is taking place.

Chief Conlin laid especial stress upon the duty of policemen to preserve order at the polls; to see that citizens are not improperly or illegally interfered with while voting; to be courteous and attentive to all, but to act with promptness and decision when it is necessary to do so.

He also gave instructions that no liquor be allowed to be sold in saloons within a quarter of a mile of any polling place, as prescribed by law.

Bonfires will not be allowed, and where those making them cannot be arrested, the police must extinguish the fires.

Especial stress was laid upon the duty of policemen to take returns to station houses as soon as any vote is canvassed, that no delay may be incurred in getting all returns in as early as possible.

Arrangements were made for the reading of election returns in the trial room tonight. The vote will be received there by telephone from the precincts, and will be announced and tabulated as soon as received.

The Commissioners' rooms have had tickers placed in them, and returns from all over the country will be received there as fast as they are received in this city by telegraph.

It was said yesterday that many warrants have been issued for persons who have illegally registered, and that the warrants will be executed if the persons named in them attempt to vote.

Satisfaction with the arrangements as made for to-day was expressed by the Police Commissioners last night.

WILL PREVENT FRAUD.

Jersey Officials Have Taken Precautions Against Colonization Schemes.

The authorities on the Jersey shore have taken many precautions against fraudulent voting to-day, and they declare that the election will be as free from fraud as possible.

Sheriff Toffey claims to have reliable information that extensive colonization has been practiced in many of the North Hudson towns. It is said that the movement was intended for Jersey City, but that the vigilance of officers there caused a change. Sheriff Toffey has appointed many special deputies and has ordered them to watch the suspected places and to arrest all persons who attempt to vote fraudulently.

Chief of Police Murphy has prepared a black list containing 600 names, taken from the Jersey City registry books. Not all of them are fraudulent. About 75 per cent. of them are believed to be the result of carelessness. The other 25 per cent. are believed to be the result of fraud. The men at whose instance the names were registered have already been arrested and held on bail.

COURTS FOR ELECTION DISPUTES.

Supreme Justices Smyth and Lawrence Will Sit in Two Parts.

Justices Smyth and Lawrence will sit to hear contested election cases in the Supreme Court to-day, Smyth in Part II., where the contested motions will be heard, and Lawrence in Part I., where ex-parte orders will be signed.

There has been some talk about illegal registration, and there promises to be some trouble over the cards that were issued to voters this year.

According to the rules of the court, mandamuses, which will practically be the only applications made, must first come up in Part II., where if the Justice decides to issue an order to show cause, the motion must then go to Part I. for argument.

Justice Lawrence, in Part I., will also decide applications for writs of habeas corpus in the cases of persons arrested. Attorneys have been engaged by both the parties to be in attendance at the Supreme Court and in the police courts to defend and advise voters. Bondsmen will also be on hand. The Republican Committee announces that "in case of a failure to find counsel or bondsmen in attendance, please telephone to the Union League Club or to the Republican Club, 450 Fifth Avenue."

HELD FOR ILLEGAL REGISTRATION.

Several Men Unable to Establish Their Residence.

Henry Frank, August Bugogal, and Joseph Schaefer, thirty-four years old, were in the Essex Market Court yesterday on a charge of illegal registration. They had been arrested at 1 A. M., asleep in the rear room of the basement at 14 First Avenue. The detective who made the arrest said that the men were squatters in the place, which was used as a storehouse. The prisoners claimed that they paid rent for the room. Magistrate Crane held them in $500 bail for trial.

The Magistrate also held William Badger, accused of registering falsely from 66 St. Mark's Place. He had boarded there in May.

John Peterson of 398 Greenwich Street was held by Magistrate Simms in the Centre Street Court. According to his admissions, Peterson came to this city from New-Jersey in July.

BALLOTS DELIVERED AT STATIONS.

Were to be Distributed to Polling Places at 5 A. M. To-day.

The work of delivering the ballots at the various police stations was completed yesterday. Superintendent Kelso, of the Martin B. Brown Printing Company, notified Chief Clerk Allen of the Election Bureau that all the deliveries had been made. At 5 A. M. to-day the police will distribute the ballots around the polling places.

Between 300 and 400 poll and ballot clerks were sworn in at Police Headquarters yesterday to fill vacancies. Under the Election law all vacancies among election officers occurring on Election Day shall be filled by the Inspectors of Election in the district where the vacancy exists. Heretofore the Police Commissioners had the power to fill such vacancies on Election Day. The law on this point says that if there is a vacancy the Inspectors shall appoint a qualified elector of the district, who shall be a member of the same political party as the absent officer.

Can the Pauper Blind Vote?

Six inmates of the Institution for the Destitute Blind, Amsterdam Avenue and One Hundred and Fourth Street, were before Magistrate Deuel, in the Harlem Court, yesterday afternoon on a charge of having registered illegally. The Magistrate said that at first thought he was inclined to believe that the inmates of the institution were not entitled to vote, as they were supported by public charity, but he would give the matter careful consideration and render his decision this morning. The prisoners said that they had heretofore voted without objection.

PANIC ON A TROLLEY CAR.

One Italian of Newark Killed and Five Seriously Hurt.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 2.—The flashing of the electrical current through some disarrangement of the battery in a trolley car on Mount Prospect Avenue, early this morning, caused a panic among the passengers. They rushed for the exits in a frenzied state, some jumping from the car, while others threw themselves out of the windows.

The passengers consisted of a gang of Italian laborers on their way to work. One of them, Laubuska Angelo, landed on his head, breaking his neck. He was instantly killed.

Five others were injured, as follows: Luscatin Giuseppe, Alfonza Angelo, Theodore Zinzo, Venzerno Estardo, and Anthony Bergua.

Giuseppe was the most seriously injured. He dashed through a window in the car, sash and all, and was nearly scalped. His skull was also fractured. He was taken to the hospital, where it is thought he cannot recover.

Car Strikes a Team.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 2.—A Forest Park electric car collided with a buggy containing two men shortly after 7 o'clock this morning. John Shea was badly injured, and died later at the hospital.

CRUSHED TO THEIR DEATH.

Two Men Killed and One Fatally Injured in a Mine Accident.

POTTSVILLE, Penn., Nov. 2.—An accident resulting from a singular cause cost the lives of two men and the fatal injury of a third at Packer Colliery, No. 2, at Girardville this afternoon.

Thomas Welsh of Lost Creek, John Hallaran of Gilberton, Joseph Staum of Lost Creek, and Michael Nack were at work in the mine this afternoon. Welsh had been engaged in what is known as "robbing" pillars. He had driven a hole in the face of the breast in which he put his blast. He applied the match to the squib and hastened away for a place of shelter. He had gone but a few feet when a large lump of coal rolled onto his foot, pinning him fast to the ground. Momentarily expecting the explosion of the blast, he cried for help. The other three men were working near, and, disregarding the danger to themselves, they ran to Welsh's rescue.

They had scarcely reached him when the blast exploded, bringing down with it a mass of coal upon the men. Hallaran and Staum were crushed to death and Welsh fatally injured, while Nack was fortunate in escaping with slight hurts.

FOUND DEAD IN THE PASSAIC.

The Body of Paul De Wolffers Recovered from the River.

PASSAIC, N. J., Nov. 2.—The body of Paul De Wolffers, sixteen years old, was found in the Passaic River, near the Erie Railroad bridge, on Saturday by James Quinn, the bridge tender of the Erie Railroad. The body was much decomposed, but has now been identified. The lad had been missing since Oct. 16. On that day he was seen rowing on the river with two Italians. It is not known how he met his death. Some believe it was accidental, while others believe the boy committed suicide.

The lad lived with his stepfather, A. De Wolffers, the artist and sculptor, on Riverside Drive, the most fashionable locality in this section. Several days before he disappeared the boy wrote to an uncle living in New-Orleans, saying he was not properly used by his stepfather. He alleged he was not given sufficient or proper food, and that he was forced to sleep in the stable. He asked his uncle for money. Instead of complying, the uncle sent the letter to the artist.

Mr. De Wolffers denies the stories of the boy and says the treatment he received was kind and of the best.

TRAMPS ON A FREIGHT TRAIN.

They Capture It, but Are Finally Lured Away and Arrested.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Nov. 2.—A freight train on the Erie Road, in charge of Conductor Gilson, was boarded by thirty tramps near Callicoon last night. Brakeman Frank Teller ordered them to leave the train, when one of them, Henry Mead, drew a revolver and ordered Teller to throw up his hands. Teller turned and started to run toward the caboose, when the tramp fired one shot, which fortunately did no harm.

The whole crew then gathered and attempted to eject the unwelcome passengers, but were beaten off. When the train reached Port Jervis, Detective Feltman joined the gang and coaxed them to a place where he told them they could all sleep. On arriving there a squad of police swooped down on them and arrested the entire party. Mead, who was the leader of the gang, and who shot at Brakeman Teller, had left the train at Hancock, where he was subsequently captured.

New-Jersey Railroad Taxes.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 2.—The State Board of Assessors to-day returned to State Controller Hancock their yearly report of the assessment on railroad and canal property in New-Jersey. The aggregate assessed valuation is $221,757,969, and the total tax which the State will collect is $1,521,495.92. This is an increase of $7,084.68 over last year. The Pennsylvania Railroad's assessment is increased $365,000 on account of its bridge over the Delaware, at Camden, and for two extensions the Central Railroad is assessed $107,000 more than last year. The Pennsylvania's tax bill altogether amounts to $424,352.85. The Central will pay $309,186.01, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western $276,496.43, the Erie $152,975.31, the Lehigh Valley $133,043.12, and the Reading $49,548.97.

Receiver for a Street Railway.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—In the United States Circuit Court this afternoon, Judge Colt appointed Phineas W. Sprague of this city temporary receiver of the Blackstone Valley Street Railway Company, on the ground of its alleged insolvency. The appointment was made upon application of Col. W. S. B. Hopkins of Worcester, as counsel for the plaintiff, in the newly brought bill in equity of Adam Manchester of Newport, R. I., versus the Blackstone Valley Street Railway Company. The company, which is a Massachusetts corporation, is indebted to the plaintiff for $15,000 on notes. It has about $30,000 assets, and its street car line is not wholly built.

BROOKLYN UNION UPHELD

ATTORNEY GENERAL SAYS GAS CONSOLIDATION IS LEGAL.

Will, However, Take Action to Dissolve the Seven Companies Which Sold Their Franchises and Property to the Brooklyn Union—History of Transaction—The Contention of Mr. Lester Not Sustained in Its Most Vital Point.

ALBANY, Nov. 2.—In the matter of the petition of John C. Lester to the Attorney General to institute proceedings to annul the charters of the Williamsburg Gaslight Company, Fulton Municipal Gas Company, Nassau Gaslight Company, People's Gaslight Company, Metropolitan Gaslight Company, Citizens' Gas Company, the Brooklyn Gaslight Company, and the Brooklyn Union Gas Company, the Attorney General has granted permission for actions to be brought against the first seven named companies. In his opinion Attorney General Hancock says:

"It appears from the papers presented upon the hearing that prior to Nov. 1, 1895, there had been organized the eight companies above named, and also the Flatbush Gas Company, the Kings County Gas Company, the Equity Gaslight Company, and the Mutual Gaslight Company, for the ostensible purpose of supplying gas to the City of Brooklyn and adjacent territory. The first seven of said companies, through the operation of their various mains, furnished the major portion of the gas supply for the City of Brooklyn.

"On or about Nov. 1, 1895, the Brooklyn Union Gas Company purchased the property and franchises of the seven companies. The sales in question were made in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 638, Laws 1893, (Section 33, stock corporation law,) which permit companies of this character to convey their property, privileges, and franchises to corporations engaged in business of the same general character. The formalities required by the statute were followed. Consolidations of gas and electric light corporations organized under Art. VI. of the transportation corporation law, or under any general or special law of the State are specifically permitted by statute. The same general rule applies to all kinds of business corporations. (Business corporations law, Section 8.) These statutes, however, contemplate the merging of the consolidating corporations into a single, new corporation, in place of those formerly in existence.

"Corporations which have transferred their property and franchises ought not to be permitted to continue the semblance of corporate life, especially when they have suspended their ordinary and lawful business beyond the time permitted by law.

"Actions therefore will be commenced in the name of the people to dissolve the seven companies which have disposed of their corporate rights and property."

This decision of the Attorney General does not affect the Brooklyn Union Gas Company, which purchased the property and franchises of these companies. The application was specially directed against the Brooklyn Union Gas Company.

HISTORY OF THE CASE.

None of the Stockholders Objected to Selling Their Properties.

The petition of John C. Lester set forth that the combination or absorption of the seven companies was not by bona fide purchase and sale, but was a scheme to evade the laws enacted against illegal combinations and monopolies and to advance the price of gas.

Previous to this combination there were ten gas companies in Brooklyn, and they were and had been for a long time at war with each other. In some cases, they were furnishing gas as low as 85 cents per thousand feet. In time some of the large stockholders of the different companies becoming tired of the money-losing contest, came together and agreed to a condsolidation of interests. Among those interested in this movement were Messrs. Hubbard & Stillman, Collis P. Huntington, Messrs. Moore & Schley, William Rockefeller, and D. G. Leggitt.

The three companies which did not go into the reorganization scheme were the Kings County Gas Company, the Equitable Gas Company, and the Flatbush Gas Company.

There were about 1,200 stockholders all told who were interested in the consolidation. All of these agreed to accept the terms of the reorganization except a few who were in Europe, but who consented by letter and accepted stock or bonds in the new and enlarged company for the stock or bonds held by them in the underlying companies. In no case did a stockholder receive or even ask for cash for his holdings.

The bonds of the new company, the Brooklyn Union, were quoted yesterday at 107, ex 2½ per cent. interest, due Nov. 1, and the stock sold at 91½. One lot of 200 shares were sold at 89¼ on a misunderstanding of the Attorney General's decision, but the stock at once recovered to 91½ again. It pays 6 per cent. dividends.

BUCHANAN'S SUIT DISMISSED HERE.

Temporary Receivership of Bay State Gas Discontinued.

Upon consent of both parties to the action, Judge Lacombe of the United States Circuit Court of this district, signed an order yesterday discontinuing the suit of William Buchanan against the Bay State Gas Company of Delaware, without costs.

It is also directed that the order of Oct. 16 last, appointing Dwight Braman receiver of the company, be vacated, and that the bond for $3,000 filed by him be canceled and the sureties discharged.

The order further directs that Braman deliver to the company all property, books, contracts, and certificates of stock held by him, and the injunction restraining creditors, officers, directors, and stockholders from interfering with such property, books, &c., within the jurisdiction of the Circuit Court of this district is vacated.

Judge Lacombe's action is a corollary to that taken in Delaware, and Mr. Braman's statement has been published in THE NEW-YORK TIMES.

Dismissed from the Force.

The Police Commissioners yesterday dismissed from the force Patrolman John H. Hurley of the Madison Street Station. He is charged with having made false statements in his application for appointment. He swore that he had never been arrested. The board also dismissed Patrolman John H. Keeling of the Elizabeth Street Station for being absent several days without leave. The salary of Deputy Chief Cortright was fixed at $5,000 a year. The recommendation of Col. Grant to establish a sub-station patrol police on the Harlem River was approved.

Gold Wires Silver Bells and a Gold Mouthpiece to the Telephone

WATER TROUBLE IN JERSEY.

Company Laying Pipe to Bayonne Meets Much Opposition.

The laying of water pipes through Jersey City to Bayonne by the New-York and New-Jersey Water Company gave rise to two battles yesterday. The first was in the Chancery Court, when Chancellor McGill heard the application of Patrick Murray for an injunction forbidding the company to cross lands owned by him.

Gilbert Collins, for the company, read affidavits to show that the land in dispute is not owned by Mr. Murray.

Judge John Garrick, for Mr. Murray, submitted proof that the house on the land had been occupied jointly by employes of Mr. Murray and Mr. Benson for twenty years. Mr. Collins said the company did not propose to disturb the house. The pipes are being laid, he continued, on the towpath of the Morris Canal.

The Chancellor asked how near the house came to the towpath and was told that it came right to the line. He said he would give Mr. Murray time to answer the affidavits as to title, and in the meantime would restrain the company from doing any work east of the house line paralleled with the canal. This met the views of both parties, and the order was made.

In the meantime the foreman of the company's men, who were laying the pipes, undertook to tear down a fence. John Hanrahan, one of Mr. Murray's employes, who tried to prevent them, was roughlyl handled. He jumped into the canal and swam across. When he reached the other side he ran to Mr. Murray's house, and then to the Ocean Avenue Police Station. Capt. Nugent said he would arrest the men as soon as Hanrahan identified them and obtained a warrant. This had not been done up to a late hour last night.

DELINQUENT SOLDIER BOYS.

Some Members of the Twenty-second Regiment May Go to Jail.

The Twenty-second Regiment, N. G. N. Y., is disturbed over the prospect that a part of the rank and file may go to Ludlow Street Jail. Major Richard Thurston, who has been for the past week adjudicating the matter of back dues, said last night that such would be the fate of delinquents who failed to pay according to agreement.

One hundred and fifty men are on the list. The trouble has been brewing since Col. King several months ago delegated the power and issued instructions to Major Thurston to clear the regimental books of delinquency entries. Since Major Thurston has taken charge of the matter some of the delinquents have paid, but there are still many who are in arrears from two to twenty-five months.

In such cases Major Thurston has divided the indebtedness into installments suited to the circumstances of the delinquent, and given notice that if the installments are not paid, he will issue a warrant under his statutory authority. Some of the installments fell due yesterday and were paid. Others fall due at different dates between now and Dec. 31.

WANT HIS BODY EXHUMED.

Macdonald's Brother and Sister Believe He Was Murdered.

The brother and sister of John Macdonald, a young truck driver who lived at 523 West Fifty-second Street, and who died on May 11 last, called yesterday at the Coroners' office and asked to have the body of their brother exhumed, as they had reason to believe, they said, that his death was caused by a murderous blow.

Young Macdonald worked in the Sand truck stables of William Brooks & Son, at 615 West Forty-ninth Street, and was discharged on May 7. Four days afterward he was taken suddenly ill and died before a doctor arrived. The cause of his death was given as convulsions, and the doctor questioned the family as to whether he had received a fall or a blow. They said they had no knowledge that he had. Since then, however, they have learned, they say, from another employe of Brooks & Son that there was a quarrel on the morning Macdonald was discharged, and that Fay Smith, the bookkeeper at the stable, struck him several blows on the head with a bale stick.

ROSENTHAL'S PETS STOLEN.

His Shop Broken into and Birds and Finches Taken.

If the person who broke into the dingy little bird store in the basement of 184 East Houston Street on Sunday morning and carried away some of Charles Rosenthal's nicest pets had known how badly the loss would have made the old man feel he would have probably hesitated at robbery after bursting in the door. Somebody carried away parrots, canaries, and finches valued at $60, and the white-haired proprietor is inconsolable. He is thankful, however, that his favorite talking parrot, Bingen, was not a part of the booty.

Bingen probably broke away from the clutches of the thief, for he was perched on a chair, minus several of his finest tail feathers, when his master arrived in the little shop at 6:30 o'clock on Sunday morning. The bird greeted him with "Hello, Pop!" from his unaccustomed perch. When he had discovered his loss the bird dealer informed the policeman on that beat. The officer said that he had found the door of the shop securely locked at 6 o'clock.

Praises for the Police.

At the meeting of the Police Commissioners yesterday a letter from Gen. Horace Porter was read. In it he expressed his admiration for the conduct of the police during Saturday's sound-money parade. Gen. Porter said he had never seen the force appear to better advantage. President Roosevelt and his colleagues were of the same opinion, and after the meeting Mr. Roosevelt sent for Chief Conlin, Deputy Chief Cortright, and Acting Inspector McCullagh and complimented them for their work in handling Saturday's immense crowds.

Had to Have the Gold Clause.

Mr. Goldberg of Maas & Goldberg, at 87 Nassau Street, asked Justice Smyth, in the Supreme Court, yesterday to approve a mortgage made by Marie C. Williams, Trustee of the estate of William Henry Livingstone, on the premises 144 and 146 West Nineteenth Street, for $14,200. In presenting the paper, Lawyer Goldberg said that the Court would notice that it contained a gold clause. Justice Smyth smiled while the attorney was making this recital, and took the papers, reserving his decision.

HARVARD FALL HANDICAPS.

Unpropitious Weather and Heavy Track Made Slow Time.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The annual Harvard 'Varsity Fall handicap track games were held this afternoon on Holmes Field. The weather conditions were not of the best, and the track was pretty heavy. No specially good records were made except in the 120-yard high hurdle, which was won by G. G. Hubbard, 1900, who, owing 13 yards, beat out E. H. Clark, L. S., by a yard. Hubbard also won the 220-yard hurdle race handily in 0:27 1-5.

GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION.

It Is in a Flourishing Condition and Will Be Incorporated.

The meeting of the Executive Committee of the Good Roads Association of Brooklyn at 1,187 Bedford Avenue last evening gave additional evidence of the organization's prosperity. Nearly 200 new names were added to the list of members, 100 being from the Brooklyn Bicycle Club. By the end of next season President Angell said he felt confident the association would have 5,000 members.

It was decided to incorporate the association, and those members of the committee present were named as Trustees, the list being as follows: President, A. H. Angell; Vice Presidents, Alex Schwalbach, George F. Stebbins, W. O. Eschwege, Henry Strugnell, F. M. Munroe, Durant McLean, J. T. McElkinney, Charles Greene, W. T. Cowenhoven, D. B. Van Vleck, H. B. Fullerton, Wilbur M. Palmer, T. F. Stevens, G. F. Stringer, Frank P. Share, and Frank Jenks.

Of the several resolutions adopted, the most important was that which binds the association to pay $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of throwing tacks, glass, or other sharp objects in any street or road in Brooklyn. A new section added to the constitution provides that the association may have 100 life members, each to pay $10 in advance, without future fees of any sort. The money thus received will form the Life Membership Fund. The Secretary was instructed to send out reports to the members twice a year containing a résumé of the work accomplished during the preceding six months.

The annual meeting of the association takes place in the Johnston Building, Nov. 11, when officers will be chosen for the year. A Nominating Committee, to act with the members of the Executive Committee, was named and appointed, as follows: W. B. Fullerton, G. T. Stebbins, T. J. Stevens, F. M. Munroe, and Durant McLean.

MAY HAVE BEEN MURDERED.

Suspicions in the Case of a Man Crushed by Long Island Train.

Coroner Bennett of Patchogue, L. I., is still investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of William Smith, who was run over by a Long Island Railroad train between Lindenhurst and Babylon Oct. 24, to determine whether the tragedy was the result of accident or murder.

Suspicion of murder was first caused by Smith's relatives, who assert that when he left Klebich's saloon on the night of his death he had a watch and money in his pockets. When the mangled remains were gathered up on the following morning the watch charm was found, but no watch. It has been denied that Smith had money about him, as a man has been found who loaned him 25 cents a short time before his death.

There is a dispute as to the time when Smith met his death. It is variously claimed that he was struck by the train in the Babylon yards and at other points before he reached there. If he had reached the village, he was on his way home. Otherwise two hours are unaccounted for.

Coroner Bennett found evidences that some one had been sick at points along the track. From this he derived his original belief that Smith had drunk too much at Klebich's saloon, and had fallen down the embankment upon the tracks. He will not adopt the murder theory until he has made a thorough search for the missing watch and examined everybody who was with Smith during the day preceding his death.

NEW-YORK, TUESDAY, NOV. 3, 1896.

THE PEOPLE UNDERSTAND WHAT THE BRYAN POLICY MEANS.

At the beginning of the campaign Mr. BRYAN and his associates said that their success at the polls would be assured if the people should clearly perceive what their policy was and what the effect of the adoption of it would be. They have repeated this assertion many times during the last three months. "We know well," said Mr. SEWALL in his letter of acceptance, "the nature of the struggle in which we are engaged; we are anxious only that the people of the land shall understand it, and then our battle is won."

Fortunately, a great majority of the American people do now "understand" what the Bryanites demand and stand for, and how their own individual interests and those of the Republic would be affected if the Bryanite programme should be carried out. There has been time for explanations and instruction, and among the most salutary explanations have been those made by the Bryanite leaders themselves. These, with the work of the American press and the labors of sound-money orators and organizations, have converted a great host of doubting voters to the right side, and those who have, either knowingly or under delusion, advocated repudiation, robbery, free riot, and National dishonor, will go down to-day in overwhelming defeat.

The meaning and expected effect of the free-coinage policy were explained in the West in the early days of the campaign by ALTGELD, BOIES, and others, and in New-England by WILLIAMS. There was on their part no concealment of the purpose of the Bryan party to reduce by one-half the value and purchasing power of the dollar. Justice demanded, they said, that this reduction should be made; the purchasing power of the dollar had wrongfully and wickedly been doubled, and the value thus added ought to be, and would be, taken away. Those who had these "200-cent dollars" saved or invested must receive in place of them dollars worth only half as much. The frankness of WILLIAMS on this point added thousands of votes to the majorities for honest money in Vermont and Maine. The frankness of ALTGELD and BOIES removed the doubts of many thousands in the States of the Upper Mississippi Valley.

But BRYAN continued to envelop his pretended explanations in the fog of ingenious sophistry and demagogical evasion. As time passed, however, people began to compare his crookedness with the plain teachings of his associates, and the comparison was to his discredit. And so it came about that BRYAN himself, in the last days of the contest, was constrained to make admissions—qualified or obscured, it is true, by evasions and demagogical trickery, but still admissions—which brought him into agreement with his less diplomatic associates.

He confessed not only that the purchasing power of the dollar would be cut down, but also that the value of it would continue to decline. We quote the following extracts, one from BRYAN'S recent admission and the other from a speech made a few days ago by MCKINLEY:

"When you tell me that men will hoard money under free coinage, I tell you that I know they will not hoard money when money is falling in value. * * * People understand that this [free coinage] means that the purchasing power of the dollar will fall, and when that [the decline] commences, the man who owns the dollar will be trying to get rid of the dollar." [Mr. BRYAN, at Lincoln, Ill., Oct. 27.]

"When we have set men at work we do not propose that they shall be cheated by a short dollar. When we work all day for our employer, and night comes, we want to be paid in dollars that won't change in value before morning. We want to go home feeling that we can hold that money as long as we want to, without any fear of its depreciating in value." [Mr. MCKINLEY to a delegation from this State, on Oct. 24.]

Here was the attitude of each of the great parties toward the dollar of the wage earner, and the dollar of every man or woman in the Republic, clearly set forth in the closing days of the struggle. A depreciated and progressively declining dollar on the one hand; an honest and stable dollar of the present value on the other.

It can easily be seen how the early explanations of BRYAN'S lieutenants and the more recent admissions of BRYAN himself must have been received by the 4,875,000 persons who have $1,810,000,000 in the savings banks; the owners of 12,341,208 life-insurance policies, which have a total face value of more than $13,000,000,000; the 970,000 pensioners; all intelligent wage earners, who understand how the buying power of their wages would be reduced; a great many farmers, who realize that the election of BRYAN would be followed by panic and the foreclosure of mortgages, and that their own investments would suffer; and all who have saved a little something, the value of which they desire to preserve. There must be considered also the opposition, on the farm and in the workshop as well as in the churches, the colleges, and the banks, to any policy which would tarnish the honor of the Republic. The programme of the Bryan party is repulsive to good citizens for other reasons, to which we have frequently referred heretofore, but this brief review points, we think, to the chief determining causes of the emphatic rejection of the silverite scheme and candidates which will be recorded to-day at the polls.

THE "POLITICS" OF THE CAMPAIGN.

BRYAN himself and the Chicago platform have been the only forces of visible influence and effect at work on the free-silver side in the campaign. The managers and committeemen have simply wasted their time and funds. We are not sure that they have driven away votes, but certainly they have gained none. They were a poor lot of tyros from top to bottom. None of them had ever had experience in big politics, save only Senator GORMAN, and he has held aloof in a way that too plainly revealed his contempt for the political methods of his associates. But with a candidate like BRYAN, a National Committee of the party, an organization with headquarters and document-distributing facilities, was a superfluous piece of machinery. BRYAN is his own committee, his own manager, his own document. Nobody has attended to any feature of his campaign except himself, his speeches, and his platform.

He has won votes of course. Even after three months of his daily exhibitions the American people do not understand or justly appreciate his extraordinary skill as a demagogue. We long ago pointed out the secret of the great success of the speech he delivered in the convention. Here were a set of men who knew they were about to commit a crime. Resolute, determined, and ugly tempered they may have been, but they had the inward feeling of sheep thieves. BRYAN worked a marvelous transformation in their psychical condition. He inspired them with the feeling of martyrs, crushed and torn, but not degraded. He made them hold up their heads and put off their shamefacedness. He made them believe they were fine specimens of American manhood who had been under the heel of the oppressor. So in his speeches he captivates by his arts the minds of that class of the electorate who are inclined to believe in him at all. The other day he answered on the platform the question whether the cheaper dollar of free coinage would not inflict serious loss on those who have investments in life insurance. It struck him as humorous, he said, that the supporters of the gold standard should make so much out of this argument, since the advantage they pictured forth could come to a man only after he was dead. I propose, said he, a system under which a man can leave his widow something besides a life insurance policy. This is no answer to the question, but anybody who knows the nature of a Bryan audience will at once understand how effectually it would squelch the questioner. It is demagogy in action, and of the most skillful type. BRYAN'S economic ideas have been half baked and hardly worthy of serious examination by intelligent minds—at least their worthlessness has been easily demonstrated to all men whose minds were open as well as intelligent. It must be admitted, however, that with his audiences and for his purposes he has in nearly all of his speeches put his case with consummate cunning. Take it all in all, we think it must be said that no other man with whom the American people have any acquaintance could have won so many supporters for an infamous cause, or could have carried through to the end without absolute breakdown and disaster a campaign in which the appeals were made exclusively to the dishonest, the greedy, the visionaries, and the dupes.

On the other hand, no possible mistakes of campaign managers could have driven away from the party so many voters as have been detached by BRYAN and his principles. That is another advantage of letting a candidate make his own campaign. The people get a clearer view of him. They come to know him and how to treat him. Not being in large part either knaves or fools, the American people have not been persuaded by the criminal doctrines and hare-brain theories of BRYAN that he is a man fit to be trusted. The defection of the sound-money Democrats at Chicago started the break in the Democratic Party and began the ruin of BRYAN'S cause. To those honorable and determined men who refused to accept repudiation as a Democratic doctrine and declined to cast the vote of their States for any candidate who was to stand upon a platform of dishonor the credit of BRYAN'S defeat primarily belongs. Begun in the sound-money conferences held during the convention and culminating in the nominations at Indianapolis, the repudiation of Populism and its candidates in the Democratic Party has been one of the conspicuous and decisive factors of the campaign. BRYAN'S speeches of the last two weeks, more frank and direct in their counsels of dishonor than his earlier utterances, have driven away from him great numbers of Democratic voters who were prepared to give him reluctant support. In August they believed him to be misguided but sincere. October convinces them that he is a cunning knave.

Of the Republican campaign management little need be said. The candidate was not a great figure and not overstrong with the people. Only one of the active managers of the campaign was experienced in tasks of that magnitude. That one is QUAY, whose opinions and whose methods in matters of practical politics are unquestionably entitled to consideration. Mr. HANNA, a business man of force and acuteness, has applied the methods of business to the management of the campaign—at least, so he says. He has shown uncommon capacity to grasp the details of the work and to direct his forces. He has come creditably enough through the fight. But the truth is that the McKinley campaign has managed itself. A political campaign for a moral principle always does that. It runs like a prairie fire among the electorate and makes votes by the natural inward working of conscience and virtue, respect for the Ten Commandments, and a sense of the National honor. The Stars and Stripes have become the accepted symbol of the sound-money campaign because the people feel that in defeating free coinage they are defending the flag.

After it is over, after BRYAN is disposed of and repudiation has been expunged from the list of our political issues, there will remain some campaign work of the highest obligation that should be undertaken in sober zeal and pursued with unremitting diligence. We mean the management of our National politics, the making of our laws in Congress, and the attending to public duties by a higher type of men. If intelligent and able men in both parties, men of first-rate capacity, will again, as used to be the custom, engage in the noble strifes of politics and seek the labors and the honors of public station, instead of giving their time with such unanimous ardor to corporation law, industrial combinations, and other forms of rapid wealth-getting, there will be no Bryan upstarts and no platforms favoring larceny and free riot in our Presidential campaigns for years to come.

FINAL REMINDERS FOR VOTERS.

First of all, every citizen whose name is on the voting list should consider it a patriotic duty to cast his vote. Indifference or neglect at such an election as this are without excuse, and should be regarded as disgraceful. It matters not how sure one may feel about the result, every vote will tell in giving emphasis to the verdict and making it forever irreversible.

Never was the process of voting made so easy and simple under our laws as it is to-day. When the voter has given his name and address in the polling place he will receive two ballots ready folded by the clerk, a large one containing the names of candidates, and a small one for the vote on the forest preserve Constitutional amendment. With these he must retire into one of the voting booths.

The voter who desires to vote for MCKINLEY and the whole Republican ticket will have merely to make a cross (X) mark in the circle at the top of the first column under the emblem of the ballot box surmounted by an eagle. The one who wishes to vote for BRYAN and the so-called regular Democratic ticket will make this mark in the circle below the star in the second column. The Democrat who wishes to vote for PALMER and BUCKNER and for the National Democratic candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, Judge of the Court of Appeals, Congress, and the Assembly will put his mark in the circle under the ship in the third column. So of the other tickets, in the next three columns, Prohibition, Socialist-Labor, and People's.

There will be little inducement for voting mixed tickets, but it will be an easy matter for those who desire. All but the last six names in each column are those of candidates for Presidential Electors, and necessarily go together. We see no reason why every Democrat who is opposed to BRYAN should not vote the Palmer and Buckner ticket in this State, but if any one wishes to vote for MCKINLEY and for the National Democratic candidates for State officers and for Congress and the Assembly, he has only to put his crossmark in the circle over the Republican ticket and then place one before each of the last six names, beginning with DANIEL G. GRIFFIN, in the column over which the ship emblem stands. Any candidate in a column other than that marked in the circle can be voted for in the same way by putting the crossmark before his name.

The voter must make no other mark on his ballot, and must not scratch or erase any name, or tear or deface the ballot. If he should do so accidentally he must return the ballot to the clerk and get another. When his ballot has been properly marked it must be folded precisely as it was when he received it. Then it is ready for voting and must be handed to the Inspector in charge of the boxes, who will tear off the stub and deposit the ballot in the ballot box and the stub in another box.

The Constitutional amendment ballot must also be returned in all cases, but it will go for nothing unless the vote is indicated by the crossmark. At the left of the printed question relating to the amendment will be the word "yes" and the word "no," each followed by a square in which the mark should be made. To vote against the amendment, as all who are in favor of protecting the forest preserve must, put the mark in the lower square, which is after the word "No." Use a pencil with black lead for all marking.

This is the whole task of the voter. There is a seventh column on the ballot for independent nominations, and in certain districts there will be in it the name of a candidate for Congress or the Assembly or both. If any one desires to vote for such a candidate he has only to put the crossmark before his name, after putting it in the circle above the ticket which he votes as a whole. There is a blank column which is of no earthly use except for throwing away votes.

There should be a quiet and orderly election. No person can do any electioneering or soliciting within 100 feet of the polling place, and no heed should be paid to any outside of that limit. It is unnecessary and impertinent. The polls open at 6 o'clock in the morning as in past years, but do not close until 5 P. M., which is an hour later than heretofore.

Voting to-day is a duty of serious import, and should be performed with a solemn sense of responsibility.

SPANISH FINANCE.

We see no reason for questioning the accuracy of the account published in a London paper of the manner in which the new Spanish loan is to be expended. After hawking a new loan all over Europe in vain, the Spanish Government was compelled to fall back upon the Spanish banks, and from them it has managed to obtain an advance nominally of $80,000,000. The sum is very large, considering the state of Spanish credit, but very small as compared with Spanish necessities. How small it is may be judged by the apportionment of its proceeds which is reported to have been made. Four million dollars of it goes to the steamship companies which have transported 200,000 Spanish troops to Cuba, in a manner, it must be said, which reflects great credit not only upon the steamship companies, but upon the general staff of the Spanish Army; $10,000,000 goes to the Bank of Spain for cash advanced, and about $13,000,000 to a French bank for the same purpose. Here is more than a third of the nominal amount of the loan, and very much more than a third of the amount actually realized from it, gone to pay off the most pressing of the old debts. The remainder alone is available for the expenses of the war in Cuba, including whatever arrears must be brought up there.

Fifty millions, if we call it that, is a great deal of money for some purposes. But plainly it will not go very far in subsisting and maintaining on a war footing 200,000 soldiers 2,000 miles from the base from which all their material of war and almost all of their supplies, even of food, must be transported. And when the net avails of this loan, whatever they may be, are exhausted, Spain will be at the end of her resources, in spite of the Premier's talk about still another loan, guaranteed by the tobacco monopoly, as is the present loan by the customs duties. That they are fighting a bankrupt tyrant is one of the chief encouragements of the insurgents in Cuba.

THE PARTY OF THE FUTURE.

We insist upon the maintenance of the gold standard and of the parity therewith of every dollar issued by the Government, and are firmly opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver and to the compulsory purchase of silver bullion. But we denounce also the further maintenance of the present costly patchwork system of National paper currency as a constant source of injury and peril. We assert the necessity of such intelligent currency reform as will confine the Government to its legitimate functions, completely separated from the banking business, and afford to all sections of our country a uniform, safe, and elastic bank currency under Governmental supervision, measured in volume by the needs of business.—[Indianapolis Platform.]

This is the platform upon which PALMER and BUCKNER stand, and, whatever happens to-day, it is the platform, in respect to the currency, upon which the party of the future must stand. Compared with this outspoken and radical solution of the money question, the utterance of the St. Louis platform appears as a shuffle and a makeshift. It seems so far more at the end of the campaign than it seemed at the beginning, and no wonder. For the campaign has really been a campaign of education. The American people have seen for themselves what has come of the practice of throwing sops to silver. The daughters of the horse leech still cried "Give," until at last they were emboldened to attack outright the safety, honor, and welfare of the Nation with an open demand that these should be sacrificed. The sop of "international agreement," which the Republicans at St. Louis "pledged themselves to promote," was a cowardly concession, the latest of the series of Republican "sops to silver," and BRYAN has found in it one of his most effective appeals. A similar sop was offered to the majority of the Chicago Convention by the minority, and was scornfully rejected. It was reserved for the Indianapolis Convention to make an end of all this nonsense by ignoring international bimetallism and declaring unreservedly for the standard of the commercial world.

The American people see to-day what mischief has been done by the practice of making concessions to the advocates of cheap money. A commercial paralysis of which that is the chief cause has held the industrial energies of the Nation fast for three years, and has culminated in a threat of commercial ruin. That threat is, as we believe, to be removed to-day, but it may still be renewed. It is sure to be renewed if what the Indianapolis platform justly calls "the present costly patchwork system of National paper currency" is permitted to stand, and Congress to act as the Board of Directors of a National bank, determining, according to what the majority of its members imagine to be the feeling of their constituencies, the volume of currency and the "per capita" of currency. Ever since this system was begun, as a makeshift to meet the emergency of civil war, it has contained the seeds of mischief which have blossomed again and again, in the greenback craze of 1872, in the Ohio ides, in the Bland bill, in the Sherman Silver Purchase act, and have finally come to their consummate flower in Bryanism. Have we not suffered enough from this cause? Is there any real and permanent remedy against the evils which the system contains except the extirpation of the system itself? That is a question to which every thoughtful voter in the United States, be he business man or workingman, is now better prepared than ever before to give his serious consideration. The more seriously he considers, the surer he is to come to the conclusion that it is not enough to contend with the symptoms of the disease as they appear, but that the cause of the disease must be removed. The National Democratic Party alone declares that this must be done, and shows how it is to be done.

Election returns will be displayed to-night upon THE TIMES'S great bulletin screens at Twenty-third Street and Fifth Avenue and upon the Printing House Square façade of THE TIMES Building.

BISMARCK is by no means contented to let the discussion aroused by his disclosure about the Russo-German treaty die out. Through his personal organ he fans it with great energy, and appears in the novel attitude of making an appeal to public opinion. His latest suggestion is that the Government should make an "official and documentary" exposition of the case. His present point is that CAPRIVI and not himself is responsible for "the breaking of Russian ties." That is extremely likely. That BISMARCK was a more efficient Foreign Minister and even a more effective parliamentarian than his successor is so plain that it is the more pitiful the ex-Chancellor should feel it necessary to say so on his own account.

The decision of the Attorney General of this State with respect to the petition asking him to take action against the combination of gas companies in Brooklyn, or the company which was formed by the association of those companies, is not wholly satisfactory to the petitioners. He says that the Brooklyn Union Company bought the property and franchises of the seven other corporations in accordance with the provisions of the laws of the State. Inasmuch as the seven corporations still "continue the semblance of corporate life" and ought not to do so, he will ask the courts to dissolve them. It does not appear that if he should be successful in these proceedings the solidity of the combination perfected under the name and management of the Brooklyn Union Gas Company would be disturbed.

Dispatches from Panama show that work on the canal has not been discontinued, although it does not appear that the company is attacking with much energy or with large expenditures the formidable problem which its predecessor failed to solve. A new Director General has arrived from France, and 150 laborers have gone at work on the Culebra division, but the most encouraging sign of progress is the adoption, on another division, of the machinery and methods used in making excavations in the Chicago Drainage Canal. The best work on the isthmus in the days of the first company was done by contractors from this country, who used, of course, American machinery, and the adoption now of the methods which have been so effective in the construction of the great canal which Chicago is making indicates that the new company really intends to do something.

One of the effects of the Raines liquor tax law is to relax the restriction of liquor selling within a quarter of a mile of polling places while the polls are open on election day. The restriction is now the same as that upon Sunday selling, and the saloons which have become "Raines hotels" will not have to close, and can sell drinks with "meals" as on Sunday. In fact, every restriction upon liquor selling has been materially relaxed by the Raines law.

MGR. MARTINELLI has done an obviously proper thing in prohibiting the further discussion of the question whether an address of his predecessor to the German Catholics was suppressed, and, if so, who was responsible for the suppression. CARLYLE observed of "the Bishop of our diocese" that one of the points in his favor was that he inculcated the desirableness of burning one's own smoke. That is also one of the most important functions of an Apostolic Delegate. Indeed, if dignitaries of the Church were to be permitted to denounce each other in public, it would be hard to say what was the use of an Apostolic Delegate who could not prevent such an outrage on decorum.

The Dollar That Will Go.

From The Cumberland (Md.) Times.

While the gold bugs are shouting for a dollar that will go in England, the working men and women are praying for one that will go at the grocery.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

—Nobody who read with any care the "last addresses" issued by the big and little Populo-Anarchistic managers could have failed to see that every one of these documents was simply a whining complaint that all the forces of intelligence, honesty, and success were united against the representatives of stupidity, disorder, and failure.

—One cause for rejoicing that the campaign is closed lies in the fact that after to-day, for a while, at least, there will be no excuse for continuing the series of outrageously brutal caricatures of public men that has been a feature of the silver side of the controversy. The words of honored statesmen and soldiers, too, will no longer be searched for phrases that can be twisted and tortured into apparent support of newly invented heresies.

—The Denver News thinks that the men who, in former campaigns, advocated protection because England opposed it, should in this one favor free silver for the same reason. It is more than probable that, if any man ever did support their high tariff views by so imbecile an argument, every one of them is to be found to-day in the BRYAN camp. That is the only place where race and class prejudices are openly avowed and made the basis of political action.

—No department of the Government service has more reason to tremble at the very possibility of BRYAN'S election than the Weather Bureau. From the beginning of this campaign an inclination to favor the gold men in every possible way has been shown with cynical openness by the official manipulators of the elements. Invariably they have swept the country with storms when the silverites wanted to parade, or to hear the speeches of their notable leaders, while clear skies and a comfortable temperature were always to be had by the friends of MCKINLEY or PALMER.

—Information to the effect that 180 ballot boxes with false bottoms have been made in Baltimore and sent to North Carolina, has reached the Chairmen of both the Republican and the Populist parties in that State. It is declared that the intention is to raise disturbances at the polling places, destroy the regular boxes, and substitute the new ones. The Democratic managers laugh at the story, and some of them say that if any such boxes are to be used in North Carolina, it will be by the Republicans in the Fifth, and possibly in the Ninth, Congressional Districts.

—Thirty-three colored lawyers, including one woman, have been regularly admitted to the Illinois bar, and are now practicing their profession in Chicago. Inquiries addressed to the three law schools of the city from which colored students have been graduated show that while most of them had suffered from lack of proper training and associations in early life, yet on the whole their progress was satisfactory. The work of these lawyers is almost exclusively for members of their own race, and it tends to increase as the colored men of the city gain a foothold in business and become property owners.

PERSONAL.

—Dr. SLAUGHTER, the Single Tax candidate for Governor in Delaware, claims that his followers certainly hold the balance of power in that State, and just possibly are numerous enough to elect him, unless the two old parties have formed a secret coalition.

—President CLEVELAND'S failure to register in New-York this year, taken in connection with his well-known views as to BRYAN'S candidacy, reminds The Springfield Republican of the story told about a well-known resident of Concord, who, when asked if he were going to attend the funeral of a certain man, said: "No, but I approve of it."

—HELEN KELLAR, the deaf, dumb, and blind girl, has added to her other achievements that of riding a bicycle through the streets of Cambridge. It is, to be sure, a "tandem," and her companion does the steering, but, as showing the possibility of a new pleasure for the blind, this latest triumph of the famous mute is regarded as an important as well as an interesting one.

—MICHAEL SHEA, a resident of Indianapolis, has documents which seem to prove that he was born in County Kerry, Ireland, on Sept. 29, 1781. He came to this country in 1884, and has lived in Indianapolis for twenty-eight years. Though now 115 years old, Mr. SHEA seems not yet to have reached the age of discretion, for he will vote to-day for BRYAN.

—The historic Chase mansion, at Annapolis, is to be used as a home for infirm and destitute women. The house, which antedates the Revolution by many years, is a fine specimen of Colonial architecture, and still contains many of its ancient furnishings. Nine years ago it was given to the Episcopal Church of the Maryland Diocese by Mrs. HESTER CHASE RIDOUT.

—Mrs. HUMPHRY WARD, though born in far off Tasmania, inherited her writing and thinking ability, for she is a granddaughter of ARNOLD of Rugby. She is a niece of MATTHEW ARNOLD. Her father, THOMAS ARNOLD, was for a time a professor in Cardinal NEWMAN'S Oratory, at Birmingham, and afterward settled at Oxford. There his daughter passed most of her youth and there she married a "don," who in later years became a member of The London Times's staff.

North Carolina Bourbons.

To the Editor of The New-York Times:

The Raleigh News and The Fayetteville Call injure the good name of North Carolina by saying that Messrs. Burton Harrison, Lindley Vinton, De Lancey Nicoll, Judge Eaton, and other sound-money speakers, including myself, were "everywhere attacked in North Carolina." This is just as much a mistake as the News's account of Mr. Nicoll's "Norfolk Jacket and Belly Band." All of us have many good friends in North Carolina. I have before me extracts from friendly North Carolina papers which tell of our successful meetings and speak of the speakers in too complimentary terms. All the sound-money speakers received fine hospitality from all the substantial people of North Carolina. The attacks and threats, and the exaggerated accounts of the same, all alike came from a lower caste of newspaper men and from the other Poor Whites of the mob. In spite of some few such interruptions as Mr. Cookran had at Norfolk, we had a most successful trip, and a fair count will show a successful result.

W. G. PECKHAM.

The Competition Closes Nov. 7.

The competition for the motto prize will be closed on Nov. 7. Until then, suggestions on postal cards will be received and considered. In case no motto is received which is regarded as an improvement on the one now in use, 100 of the best suggestions sent in will be submitted to a prominent gentleman of this city, who will award the prize of $100 to the person who suggested the one which he considers the most meritorious.

THE INTERNATIONAL BIMETALLISTS.

They Must Become Gold Monometallists If They Would Be Consistent and Logical.

The reasons that prompted the bimetallists about twenty years ago, at the time of the discussion and passage of the Bland bill, were, according to their own presentation:

First—The conviction that the then recent demonetization of silver would eventually suppress its use in the monetary service, if not over all the world at least in the gold standard countries, and that such suppression would, in the language of Baron Rothschild, "amount to a veritable destruction of value without any compensation."

Second—That equity requires that the unit with which a man pays his debts shall possess as near as possible the same purchasing power at the expiration of his contract that it had at its inception, and that the ruling out of silver would necessarily work inequality and injustice as to contracts extending over long periods of time.

Third—That unless the new supply of gold, after the demonetization of silver were sufficient to satisfy (a) the annual requirements of arts and manufactures, (b) the wear and tear of coinage, losses by shipwreck, &c., and (c) the new wants arising from the increase of the world's population, and the extension of its industry and trade—which requirements were estimated by competent experts at $200,000,000, less $50,000,000 in silver for the world's subsidiary coinage, say, net $150,000,000 annually, to be supplied in gold alone, prices would greatly decline, to the detriment of the producing and debtor classes.

For ten years, 1871-80, the average annual production of gold was $115,000,000, and of silver a little under $92,000,000, together $207,000,000. The annual deficit of gold below the $150,000,000 required for the world's wants, as above stated, stood, therefore, at $35,000,000.

We shall not stop here to discuss the situation of the world's finances since 1878, except to call attention to the fact that during the fifteen years from 1880 to 1894, inclusive, the world's production of gold averaged $126,000,000 a year, and that during these same fifteen years the Banks of France, England, Russia, Austria, and Germany together added the vast amount of $775,000,000 to their reserves of gold, or $52,000,000 average per annum, a large portion of which increase was drawn from the United States. Against this withdrawal of $775,000,000 from the world's circulation must be offset $500,000,000 of silver added to the currency of the United States under the Bland and Sherman acts, and which the Treasury is obliged by law to maintain at a parity with gold. Had these laws never been passed this country would not have exported a large part of the gold it subsequently lost.

We will now consider the present position of affairs in 1896.

1. The demonetization acts of 1873, &c., have not, as was apprehended, suppressed the use of silver as money in any part of the world. It has only suppressed such use as to the new silver produced subsequent to those enactments. But the world has continued to use $50,000,000 of new silver annually for subsidiary coinage, and the United States has coined $500,000,000 under the Bland and Sherman acts.

2. The gold product of the world (which had been averaging $126,000,000 a year during the fifteen years 1881-94) had risen to $205,000,000 in the year 1895, and promises to exceed $225,000,000 in 1896, and to go on increasing progressively hereafter. Observe, $225,000,000 of gold alone in 1896, against $207,000,000 of gold and silver together per annum during 1871-80. If we consider that $50,000,000 of silver a year is still employed for subsidiary coinage, we have an aggregate of $275,000,000 of the two precious metals available annually for the various new wants of the world, against $207,000,000 per annum produced in 1871-80. As the annual requirements for the whole world have been placed by careful experts at $200,000,000 of the precious metals, the world is therefore adding to its supply about $75,000,000 more gold than is needed to keep up the parity of prices, on the bimetallists' theory, and to prevent the much-proclaimed injustic to the debtor and agricultural classes.

In addition to the above, we must bear in mind that a part of the vast accumulations of gold by Russia and Austria will before long be sent back into circulation upon their resumption of specie payments, thereby inducing an inflation in those countries analogous to what was experienced in the United States in 1879-81, after the Treasury had resumed payments in gold.

We may therefore look upon the gold situation as not only adequate to supply the world's wants, but as promising a gradual inflation of prices, the effect of which must be to remove the discontent now prevailing, without being open to the fatal objection, moral, political, and financial, attendant upon the proposed coinage of silver at a ratio greatly in excess of its bullion value.

It seems, therefore, only fair to claim that all the arguments which led the bimetallists of Europe and America to demand the joint coinage of gold and silver twenty years ago are satisfactorily met at the present day by the production of gold alone.

And the necessity for the coinage of silver, so as to secure justice to the suffering agricultural and debtor classes, no longer exists.

The Times's Election Returns.

THE TIMES will display the returns and result of the election this evening upon the Printing House Square face of THE TIMES Building, and at Twenty-third Street and Broadway, where the stereopticon screens upon which the bulletins will be displayed can be distinctly read by the tens of thousands of persons who will come together in Madison Square. The bulletins will be transmitted from the office of THE TIMES to Twenty-third Street by special wire and telephone, and will be printed on the lantern slides by typewriters, so that the figures and text, as enlarged upon the screen, will be clearly legible from every part of Madison Square and for a great distance up Fifth Avenue.

The Ballot.

Arthur Howard Hall in The Boston Transcript.

Behind the patriot freeman's vote
Matchlock and flint in silence waited;
Well did his kindling eye denote
How heart with hand participated.
That right was might he was assured,
And conquest cheap by life secured;

And still we thrive as thrive we must,
The patriot's source of faith discerning,
Though guns are mute and sword blades rust,
The ballot speaks of soul fires burning,
Whence rolls the voter's victory,
A tidal wave from sea to sea.

Life is accountability,
And choice its polar star unswerving;
The highest prizes of the free
Are won by patient, noble serving;
Happy those souls whose souls divined
The jewels of their humankind.

As noiseless as the Autumn's mast,
By leaves are hid through sequent ages
Inaudible are ballots cast,
Invisibly the conflict rages.
The morrow's breeze shall wide proclaim,
To waiting hosts one sovereign name!

TRIAL OF THE CASTLES

IT HAS BEEN FIXED FOR NEXT FRIDAY IN LONDON.

The Counsel for the Prisoners Held a Long Consultation Yesterday—A Question Whether Mrs. Castle Shall Plead Guilty and Allege Mental Weakness as an Excuse—The Nature of the Decision Kept a Profound Secret.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The Clerkenwell Sessions, to which court the trial of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Castle of San Francisco upon a charge of shoplifting was assigned by Magistrate Newton of the Great Marlborough Street Police Court, opened to-day. The hearing of the case of the Castles was set down for Friday, Nov. 6.

Chairman McConnell of the Clerkenwell Sessions delivered a charge to the Grand Jury upon the ordinary course of the cases to be heard, calling especial attention to the case of Mr. and Mrs. Castle, in which he said the facts did not differ from those constituting a case of ordinary larceny, except in respect of the position of the parties accused. Their case, he thought, was a proper one for inquiry by a common jury. The trial was then fixed for next Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Castle did not appear in court.

Sir Edward Clarke, Sir Frank Lockwood, and Mr. Abrahams, as the counsel for the defense, met at the chambers of Sir Edward Clarke this afternoon to discuss the course to be taken by the defense at the opening of the trial. It is understood that the chief point under discussion was whether or not Mrs. Castle should plead guilty with an extenuating plea of mental weakness, but the counsel declined to disclose the nature of their decision in the matter.

CARIB STOPPED BY A GUNBOAT.

A Cartridge Was Fired by the Spaniard as a Warning.

The American brigantine Carib arrived yesterday from Truxillo, Honduras. Capt. Montgomery reported that about midnight Oct. 19, when within a marine league of the coast of Cuba, at the westernmost extremity of the island, he heard a steamer's whistle astern.

No attention was paid to it on the Carib. It blew again, but the brigantine still held her course. Then there was a flash from out the stranger's port, and twenty seconds later the report of the piece was heard. The brigantine was hove to, and Capt. Montgomery summoned all hands on deck and got out his papers, including his American register.

The Spanish gunboat, for such it proved to be, hove to off the port quarters, and a voice cried out something in Spanish.

"I don't understand that," Capt. Montgomery shouted back. Then came in English:

"What ship is that?"

"This is the American brigantine Carib of Boston, bound from Truxillo to New-York with general cargo."

"Have you seen any Spanish war vessels lately?"

The Yankee skipper said that he had not.

"Thank you, very much. Good night," and the gunboat, which had come up with lights in her cabins and a streaming light at the foremast, became suddenly dark. Even the steaming light was hooded as she bore away off shore.

They didn't give Capt. Montgomery time to ask any questions on his own account, and he did not discover her name.

A Crew Rescued at Sea.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The Norwegian bark Asia, Capt. Iversen, from Tadousac, which arrived at Greenock Oct. 27, rescued part of the crew of the Norwegian bark Kalliope, Capt. Swertsen, from Day Verte, for an English port. The latter vessel was abandoned Sept. 25 in latitude 45° north, longitude 55° west. At the time her crew left her there were 12 feet of water in her hold. The remainder of the crew was rescued by the Norwegian bark Midas, who fired the abandoned ship.

Ivory to be Protected.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Edward J. Ivory, alias Bell, the alleged dynamiter who is under remand for further examination in the Bow Street Police Court, having applied to United States Ambassador Bayard for the protection of the embassy as an American citizen, the embassy will send a representative to the Bow Street Court when the next hearing comes up, next Friday, to watch the proceedings with a view of preserving the prisoner's rights as a citizen of the United States.

The Soudan Expedition.

CAIRO, Nov. 2.—Gen. Sir H. H. Kitchener, Commander in Chief of the Egyptian troops, started from this city for London this morning, for the purpose of conferring with the British War Office in regard to the immediate advance of the Anglo-Egyptian Soudan expedition from Dongola to Khartoum.

THE GREAT FAMINE IN INDIA.

Everything Possible Done to Alleviate the Distress.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 2.—The arrival of thousands of tons of California wheat at this port has had the effect of causing a reduction in prices in some parts of the districts affected by the famine. It is believed that a total of 30,000 tons of wheat have been purchased for importation into India.

The Government is doing everything possible to alleviate the distress. It has employed 53,800 persons on works which have been started in order to furnish work for those who, without it, would probably starve to death. The effects of the failure of the crops are not felt as seriously now as they will be later. The worst distress will be felt in the middle of December.

Alleged Interview by a Correspondent of a Madrid Newspaper.

MADRID, Nov. 2.—The Havana correspondent of El Liberal cables what purports to be an interview had by him with Consul General Lee prior to the departure of the latter yesterday from Havana for New-York. According to the dispatch, Gen. Lee said that he was going to make a private visit to New-York.

He added, the corespondent says, that he was confident that the heroism of Capt. Gen. Weyler's troops would speedily terminate the rebellion. He also eulogized the spirit Spain displayed.

HARVARD'S BATTERED TEAM.

In Bad Condition to Play with Princeton Saturday.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 2.—The Harvard eleven was so battered up again in the game with the Indians that in its present condition it is almost a certainty that Princeton will get Saturday's game in Soldiers' Field.

The injuries which stocky and plucky Doucette received will put him out of the game for some time.

Frank Shaw was so banged up on the very last play that he is much worse than he was five days ago, when he was hobbling around with a cane.

This leaves the centre position in a bad way, and unless one of the two men get into shape very soon Harvard stock will be in a bad way.

This was thought to be Harvard's stronghold, but now it is otherwise, decidedly. The guards are all right. Norton, Shaw, and Bouve played great ball Saturday, and showed what strength they can be relied upon to show at the crucial test.

Sargent was kept out of the game Saturday in order to keep him in good condition to play his place in left tackle. Mills, however, was not at all weak, and may be found in the place when the team lines up against Princeton.

Merriam will probably play the other tackle. He did great work until he was compelled to give way to the hammering of the Carlisle backs.

Arthur Brewer will be found at right end on Saturday almost to a certainty. He has spent the last week in getting into shape. Cabot may not be able to play the other end at all by Saturday, although it is likely that he will start in.

In any case, it is more than likely that Lewis will have to play the position a good part of the game. The latter's work on Saturday was by no means bad.

Cayou, the Indian half-back, said after the game that Lewis's end was the one place which he found invulnerable.

Arthur Beale, who broke his nose in the game, will probably not be allowed to play against Princeton. That probably puts Cochrane in at quarter. A mere possibility, however, exists that Garrison, the snappy senior eleven quarter, may be induced to try his hand on the 'Varsity gridiron.

Behind the line Sullivan may be replaced by Cozzens, whose playing has improved much of late.

All in all, Harvard's chances against the Tigers are bad.

SEWALL IS CONFIDENT.

Says He Certainly Will Be Elected Vice President.

BATH, Me., Nov. 2.—Arthur Sewall, Democratic candidate for Vice President, says he is as sure that William Jennings Bryan and himself will be elected at to-morrow's election as he is that the sun will rise. Like his meteoric associate on the ticket, he does not form that opinion from canvasses or the reports of the Campaign Committee Chairmen. He just knows it. He considers Mr. Bryan the chosen instrument of Providence to deliver this Nation from the thraldom of the goldbugs.

Mr. Sewall is not a communicative man, and he has not stood at the street corners making prophecies. But he has let his personal friends know in unmistakable terms that he is entirely confident of the result. He diligently reads the newspapers and receives a special bulletin every day from Senator Jones in Democratic headquarters, at Chicago. It is needless to say that this telegraphed information is all one way. But even if it were the other it would not shake Mr. Sewall's confidence one jot.

Mr. Sewall steadfastly refuses to specify to interviewers just what States Mr. Bryan will carry to-morrow. He is contented to say that enough will vote for him to make his election sure.

Mr. Sewall will vote early to-morrow morning, spend the day quietly at home, and in the evening, with his family and a few close friends, receive the returns at his home in the library over a private wire.

Mr. Depew Comes Home Confident.

Chauncey M. Depew reached home yesterday morning from his trip to Ohio, and was in the most exuberant spirits. He entertained the numerous persons who called upon him at his office in the Grand Central Station by glowing accounts of McKinley's prospects in the West. Mr. Depew will, as usual, vote in this city today, in spite of certain reports that he had been induced to change his voting residence to Peekskill. For the first time since he came into possession of his opera house there, Mr. Depew was in it last night. He made a political speech, as he usually does on the night before election.

A LEVY ON ITS PROPERTY.

Creditors of the Columbus Buggy Company Take Action.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 2.—The property of the individual members of the Columbus Buggy Company was levied on yesterday to satisfy an execution issued at the instance of the American Oak Leather Company, covering a claim of $17,000. The individuals affected are C. D. Firestone and George M. Peters, and the property embraces stock in the street railway company of which Mr. Firestone is a Director, the Columbus Gas Company, the Commercial National Bank, and the Natural Gas Company. Mr. Firestone's residence was among the property embraced in the levy. It was valued at $35,000.

The business property of the firm is in the hands of an assignee. The company, which failed a month ago, employed 1,000 men. Mr. Firestone has written a card to a local paper, in which he denies most emphatically the false rumor that he would start the works if Bryan should be elected.

THOUGH ILL, HE WILL VOTE.

Mr. Esterbrook, 82 Years Old, to be Carried to the Polls.

In the corridor of the Fifth Avenue Hotel last night President Edmund Stevenson of the Home Bank said: "I called recently on William P. Esterbrook, who was for many years Superintendent of Buildings in this city. He now lives in Rahway. He is ill, and for four months has not been able to leave the floor on which his room is. He is eighty-two years old, I think.

"I told him it was unfortunate that he had to lose his vote.

"'I'm not going to lose it,' he said. 'I've hired two men who are coming in the morning to carry me to the polling place. I'm going to vote for McKinley, and if the Lord sees fit to take me as soon as my ballot is in the box, I'll be content.'"

President Stevenson said that he expected to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the casting of his own first ballot to-day. He has never missed an election since he was twenty-one, and all have been cast in New-York City.

Forecast for November.

The weather forecast for November predicts frequent gales between the New-England coast and the British Isles, and as far south as the fortieth parallel. Between latitudes 25° north and 40° north and east of longitude 70° west occasional gales are expected, some of which may be quite severe. Fog is predicted on the Grand Banks at intervals, also east of New-England to the sixtieth meridian, with some icebergs in the vicinity of Belle Isle, but probably none south of the fiftieth parallel.

Miss Julia Jay's Condition.

It was reported late last evening at the residence of Col. William Jay, at 22 East Seventy-second Street, that Miss Julia Jay had a serious attack of malignant typhoid fever, and, though her condition was not necessarily alarming, there has been no marked improvement in the last thirty-six hours

MACVEAGH WANTED BUTTER.

An Instance Where a Rule of an Up-Town Restaurant Was Broken.

Whether or not it is proper to serve butter at dinner parties is a question that has from time to time agitated the minds of fashionable matrons with varying results. In private households such questions may safely be left to adjust themselves. The statement made by a noted up-town caterer to a TIMES representative a few days ago, that he did not own a bread and butter plate and never served butter in his establishment, recalls an incident which, while bearing out his assertion, demonstrated the fact that there are persons to whom butter is a most important factor in a meal.

The occasion was the annual dinner of the Yale Alumni Association, and one of the guests of honor was Wayne MacVeagh. The presiding officer was Chauncey M. Depew, and the Rev. John R. Paxton, then in full mental vigor, was one of the principal speakers. An excellent dinner was served, but there was no butter. The usual French roll was wrapped in each napkin, and most of the diners ate the roll with their soup, without noticing the absence of butter. Several persons called for butter, but did not get it. Ex-Attorney General MacVeagh insisted upon having butter, and Chairman Depew insisted that he should have it.

In response to the polite explanation of the head waiter that it was not customary to serve butter at dinner, Mr. MacVeagh testily retorted: "Then you should cutivate the custom. I would rather have my plate of bread and butter than all the rest of your dinner. In my opinion no meal is complete without butter." He got his butter, and the incident afforded a handy topic, when the speaking began, for the play of Mr. Depew's wit and Dr. Paxton's jocularity.

It is a fact worthy of note that this same noted caterer says that in his prospective establishment he proposes to arrange to serve butter to such of his patrons as may desire it.

HEAVY ODDS ON M'KINLEY.

Ten to One that the Ohio Man Will Carry His Own State.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Chairman Caren of the National Democratic State Committee and Chairman McConville of the Democratic State Committee will give no estimate of the election result in the State. Chairman Kurtz of the Republican Committee lets his statement of Saturday night, in which he claimed the State for McKinley by 65,000 to 100,000, stand unamended. Leading Republicans here are inclined to regard this claim as too high, but all think the State is safe. The betting seems to support this, as the odds are 10 to 1 in McKinley's favor on the State.

The Republicans have much the better organization, and Chairman Kurtz is inclined to accept the statements of his local committeemen, rather than reports from casual observers to the effect that there are big Republican defections to free silver among the farmers and workingmen.

FIRE IN A TENEMENT.

One Fireman Had His Coat Burned Off—Woman Rescued.

A fire which gave rise to some exciting incidents occurred in the five-story brick tenement at 66 Division Street about 9:30 last night. Some workingmen in the pressing shop of Max Friedman were heating irons over a gas stove, and some light cloth caught fire.

Fireman Sheridan of Truck No. 6 climbed to the fifth floor with a line of hose. A sheet of flame suddenly burst out from a window. He turned his back and it burned the coat off his back before water could be turned on. When the water came he calmly drenched himself and then turned the stream inside. He was cheered by the onlookers.

The loss of the tenants was severe. Those that were left homeless were cared for by their neighbors and friends.

Wever—Hooper.

The wedding of Miss Grace Hooper and Daniel De Wolf Wever took place yesterday at 3:30 o'clock at the Madison Avenue Reformed Church, Fifty-seventh Street and Madison Avenue, the Rev. Dr. Kittredge officiating. The maid of honor was Miss May Wever, and the best man was Dr. E. L. Kern of Chicago. The ushers were Prof. Bashford Dean, Harry Bashford of Yonkers, Alexander Welch, and William Simpson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Hooper of 175 East Seventy-ninth Street. She was attired in a traveling dress. Mr. and Mrs. Wever left on their wedding tour immediately after the wedding. The bridegroom is a graduate of Harvard, class of '92. He is a lawyer of this city.

Great Crowds See the Healer.

BAYONNE, Nov. 2.—Schrader, the "Divine Healer," was visited at Salter's Hotel to-day by fully 1,500 persons. Some were drawn by curiosity, but many sought his aid. Some declared after they had undergone the treatment that they felt better. Three ladies asked him to treat them—one for blindness, another for paralysis, and the third for deafness. Schrader blessed them and the woman who had suffered from paralysis said she felt better. The one troubled with deafness left her trumpet behind, saying she could hear without it.

A Columbus, Ohio, Hotel Sold.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Two deeds transferring the Normandie Hotel were filed to-day. The first of these was from John F. Gough of Brooklyn to Florence, wife of Newton Evans of St. Louis, consideration $10, and the assumption of mortgages aggregating $325,000; and the second from Mrs. Evans to Charles Hecht of Laramie, Wyoming, consideration $350,000. The mortgages assumed are two of $50,000 each, held by the John Hancock Company, and one of $225,000 to William Monypenny, Sr., of this city.

Assembly Candidate Injured.

PEEKSKILL, Nov. 2.—Assemblyman James W. Husted, Republican candidate for re-election in the Third Assembly District in Westchester County, was about the wharves of Contractor John Smith, Jr., when a bucket containing a thousand pounds of iron fell on his foot. Mr. Husted, however, filled an engagement at Sing Sing to-night, though he walked on crutches.

Sudden Death on a Steamer.

Charles Shaw, thirty-five years old, Chief Steward of the steamship Jamestown of the Old Dominion line, lying at Pier 26 North River, died suddenly on board shortly after 10 o'clock last night. The Coroner will investigate the case.

Spirited Golf Near Islip.

The members of the Westbrook Golf Club, near Islip, L. I., held an interesting mixed foursome golf tournament yesterday. The members of W. K. Vanderbilt's house party were well represented among the contestants. There were twenty-two players. First place was captured in fine style by Miss Edith Parsons and George E. Armstrong of the Richmond County Country Club, S. I. Second place went to Miss Clara Moss and L. E. Larocque.

The contest for the silver cup given by W. K. Vanderbilt was finished by the members of his house party. Richard Peters and Duncan Elliot met in the finals, and Peters won by 1 hole.

NEW THEATRICAL BILLS

A CHINESE OPERETTA BY DE KOVEN AND SMITH.

"The Mandarin," Though Handsomely and Carefully Staged, Is Very Ordinary Stuff—"Jack and the Beanstalk" at the Casino—Robert Hilliard in "The Mummy"—The Bal Champetre at Olympia Is Not Shocking and Is Dull.

A new operetta by Reginald De Koven and Harry B. Smith, called "The Mandarin," was produced in a showy manner at the Herald Square Theatre last evening. It was rapturously received by some part of a specially selected audience. A bulletin sent out late at night from the theatre announced that sixty members of the New-York Athletic Club and twenty-five members of the Knickerbocker Club occupied orchestra chairs. Many other warm friends of the composer and librettist were present. The ushers were unusually energetic, also, in the matter of encores.

Thus, a night that would otherwise have been rather dull, was made reasonably lively. Those persons who did not applaud themselves, and they included the Chinese Consul and some of his Mongolian friends, who occupied one of the boxes and regarded the proceedings with gravity, were nevertheless saved from depression of spirit by the vigorous applause of the others. The theatre was decked as for a holiday, with flowers and plants, and the management had done all that could be done to make this first performance of American operetta a veritable festival.

Yet "The Mandarin" is not worth much fuss. It is a very ordinary thing, and apart from the scenery and costumes, which are rich and tasteful in their pseudo-Chinese way; the unusual comeliness of the fresh-voiced chorus woman, and the excellence of the orchestra of Signor de Novellis there is not much to commend in the play or its performance.

The scenery painted by Frederick Dangerfield is full of imagination and grateful to the eye. The groupings and dances are all charming. The light effects are ingenious. With a better story for a basis than he generally chooses, Mr. Smith has made a libretto which contains half a dozen droll lines and a few dainty lyrics, but which, in its general quality, is more like "The Caliph" than "Half a King." Mr. De Koven has composed a great deal of music which is frequently, if not always, "musicianly," (the cruelest of all words, perhaps, to use in describing an operetta,) sometimes rather pretty and often utterly commonplace. It is much like all the music he has given to the world since he signed that remarkable "Robin Hood."

The story, which has already been told half a dozen times, concerns the confusion of the identity of a Mandarin and a workingman who is fond of rum. The Mandarin, disguised as a workingman, is making love to his double's wife. He is arrested for a misdemeanor committed by the man whose place he has usurped. Thereafter the "double" is escorted to the palace, and installed as Mandarin. He is shocked to learn that he has twelve pretty wives, and is dismayed when they trot out twelve babies for him to fondle. Then, in his turn, he is condemned to lingering and humorous torture for displeasing his Emperor by having thirteen wives, his own real wife having joined the twelve.

This is all good enough matter, and "The Mandarin" would have been greatly successful if much of the fun the plot suggests had not escaped the librettist, and the composer's tunes were not generally lacking in any distinctive character.

As for the performance, Mr. G. C. Boniface, Jr., was frequently amusing, especially in his Chinese moments; and his drnuken serenade in Act I. was worth hearing. Miss Bertha Walzinger sang very well, and Joseph Sheehan's singing was good enough for operetta. Adele Ritchie was very prominent in the performance, and there are said to be a large number of people in New-York who like performances in which Adele Ritchie is prominent.

"JACK AND THE BEANSTALK."

An Amusing Piece of Nonsense and Very Likely to Succeed.

The new extravaganza with which the "regular" Winter season at the Casino began last night was by no means an instant success, for the first of its three divisions had nearly ended before any laughter or applause not obviously perfunctory was excited, but after that the audience took heart and began to treat the piece with a cordiality that soon approached moderately near to enthusiasm.

And all the approval was well enough deserved, for "Jack and the Beanstalk" is distinctly amusing in its frivolous, foolish way, and anybody who wants to rest his thinking apparatus for a couple of hours can hardly do it more innocently and effectively than by watching for that space of time this latest of Mr. R. A. Barnet's achievements. He has taken half a dozen Mother Goose stories, mixed them up with one from the "Arabian Nights" and several from the "Newgate Calendar," and then set the ludicrously incongruous characters thus obtained to singing a lot of songs more or less original with Mr. A. B. Sloane—and others. The result is incomprehensible, inconsequential, and neither comic opera nor farcical comedy, but it is lively and ingenious, occasionally humorous, almost constantly admirable, as a spectacle, and commendably free from even the suspicion of real impropriety.

Of course the company is innumerable, the costumes resplendent, and the scenery will meet all the demands of an exacting public. Of the performers, Donnelly and Girard held first place on the bill, and Hubert Wilke, Madge Lessing, and Carrie Perkins had speaking and singing parts of considerable length; but the one indubitable hit of the evening was made by a very small and very energetic young woman named Merri Osborne. Her rôle of Little Miss Muffet was an unimportant one in itself, but she managed to make two songs which she sang in the second act by far the most notable features of the whole performance. In one of them Miss Osborne imitated an English coster trying to render a negro melody, and in the other she showed how such music is sung by people to whom it is the expression of sincere emotion. Better or more truly artistic work of the kind has rarely been seen here.

Ross Snow, as a peculiarly brawny and self-conscious fairy queen, and H. M. Morse as a surprisingly gigantic giant, also deserve mention. The ladies of the chorus were garbed—not gowned—with taste, and they had been carefully trained in everything except music. There were several complicated and effective mechanical effects, all moderately mysterious, and in the last act an electric dance that must have taken a lot of trouble and wires to produce.

HILLIARD IN "THE MUMMY."

A New English Farce Produced at the Garden Theatre.

Robert Hilliard introduced to a New-York audience at the Garden Theatre last night "The Mummy," which is described as "a new and original farce." There was a fairly large audience, which gave to the company every advantage that patient attention and liberal applause can give. Considering the handicap Mr. Hilliard labored under of an unsuccessful production of the play in London, he should be satisfied with his reception, which was flattering enough.

The play is in three acts and was written by George Day and Allan Reed. There is a learned London Egyptologist, Prof. Garsap, who has in his collection rare specimens of mummies, one of them the mummy of one of the great Egyptian Kings. He has learned from the "History of Potiphar" how to raise the mummy to life and prepares to astonish the world with this feat.

There comes, as his guest, a learned Chicago "professor," Ezra Van Tassel Smythe, and his daughter. The daughter arrives first, and makes without ceremony the acquaintance of the London professor's daughter and niece, whom she astonishes and shocks with her flippancy and Chicago breeziness of manner and conversation. The priceless Egyptian relics excite her derision, and she proceeds to raise the sacred mummy to life, to the horror of the young ladies. She applies the electric battery very successfully.

Then ensued a great laugh. The girls dress the mummy in a ludicrous costume, and then the professor's daughter and niece, horrified at what has been done, persuade the Chicago visitor to take his place in the coffin. Prof. Garsop meets the mummy, whom he supposes is his newly arrived Chicago guest, and attributes his eccentricities to Chicago customs.

The London Professor's sister meets the revivified mummy and becomes forthwith engaged to him. So does the colored maid, who is greatly admired by the Son of the Pharaohs, because she "is like Isis." The genuine Prof. Smythe then comes and meets the Egyptian under the supposition that he is the host Garsop. Then the newspaper reporters come to see about the wonderful feat to be performed. They, too, meet the Son of Pharaoh, supposing him to be Garsop.

Complication follows complication in a lively fashion until the denouement. Mr. Hilliard was a handsome Egyptian, and carried his rôle very well. He was capably supported. He was called to the front after the play, and made the usual speech:

THE CHANGES AT OLYMPIA.

No Fear that the Bal Champetre Will Corrupt New-York.

The Winter Garden on the roof of Olympia was opened last night with vaudeville presented with a very faint tinge of the color and gayety of the Jardin Mabille and Casino de Paris, but nearer to the color of the Chat Noir. The seating capacity has been increased by the addition of a balcony built around the garden from either side of the stage, and the garden has been made to look picturesque by an abundance of green palms and tree fern plants.

Otherwise it looks as it did last Summer, with its thousands of electric lights and Japanese lanterns. The variety show which preceded the bal champêtre was good. The Florenz troupe of acrobats, who made their first appearance, were received favorably. Some pirouettes executed by the troupe are sensational acrobatics. Others on the programme were the Hanlons, Alexandra Martens, Papinta, May Howard, the Poluskis, and Amann.

After the variety performance, a space was cleared in the centre of the garden for a number of dancers, who made a poor attempt to represent the gayety of a bal champêtre.

Four men, garbed in what were apparently hastily improvised copies of the uniform of the gendarmes, made all the Parisian color that was distinctly noticeable. The enforced gayety, which was anything but French in spirit, was contributed by local performers, many of whom evidently never saw the interior of the Jardin de Paris or the Mabille. It was an air of gayety more peculiar to the Latin Quarter of East New-York than to that of Paris. It lacked the intense flavor that permeates the atmosphere of the known French music halls. The entire performance was a vain attempt at introducing the life of the Moulin Rouge without the immorality. The attendance was large. Rice's "Evangeline up to Date" opened the auditorium, which was formerly the music hall. The aerial ballet has been amalgamated with the burlesque. Theresa Vaughn, Henry Dixey, and George K. Fortescue were among the principal performers. "Santa Maria" was presented in the theatre proper by the usual company.

Harlem Opera House.

An appropriate entertainment for election week is James A. Herne's drama of stalwart American character, "Shore Acres," which is now on view at the Harlem Opera House, with the author in his skillful and telling impersonation of Nathaniel Berry, the Maine farmer. The performance is as effective as ever, each pictorial detail being carefully ordered, in Mr. Herne's accustomed way.

The character of Helen Berry, the self-willed daughter of Nat's obstinate brother, who runs away from home with the agnostic student of medicine, is now taken by Miss Lucy Morrow, a comely young actress of promising talents. Her portrayal indicates careful training, as well as natural aptitude. She denotes Helen's distinctive traits effectively, and her modest, gentle manner is most engaging.

Ada Rehan in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Miss Ada Rehan began an engagement in Washington at the Lafayette Square Theatre, appearing to-night as Katherine in "Taming of the Shrew" before the most distinguished audience of the season. President Cleveland, Mrs. Cleveland, Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador; the Austrian Minister, Lord Westmeath, and Secretary and Mrs. Carlisle occupied boxes. Miss Rehan's reception was most enthusiastic, and she was never in better form or spirit.

Theatres and Music Halls.

—May Irwin and her company of comedians may be seen at the Grand Opera House all this week in "The Widow Jones," McNally's diverting farce.

—The Hungarian band concerts at the Eden Musée yesterday were well attended, and were very enjoyable. The waxwork collection grows in numbers week by week, and is now one of the largest in the world.

—Werner and Rieder, duet singers in operatic style; O'Brien and Havel, and other new performers appeared at Koster & Bial's last night, where the long and excellent programme also included the flying Jordans, the Biograph, Williams, Walker, Cissy Fitzgerald, and the Barrison sisters.

—Popular prices now prevail at the new Murray Hill Theatre. This week's play is Gillette's ingenious adaptation of "La Plantation Thomassin," entitled "Too Much Johnson," which is neatly acted by one of Mr. Charles Frohman's traveling companies, including several actors who were in the original cast.

—A novelty at Keith's Union Square Theatre last night was the appearance of Aubrey Boucicault in a little comedy called "Wanted, a Widow." He was supported by Helen Lowell and William Bernard. The programme was otherwise long and interesting, and the cinematographe caused as much amazement as ever.

—Herrmann, with his mysterious "familiars," who help him in his exhibitions of "black art," and Mme. Herrmann, who plays the passive part in many of her husband's illusions, besides appearing in some beautiful lantern dances, began a fortnight's engagement at Palmer's Theatre last night. The programme was made up of new and old tricks. A pretty illusion is called "The Lily of the Orient."

THE MAPLESON OPERA.

"La Traviata" at the Academy of Music with a New Violetta.

The chief interest in the production of "La Traviata" at the Academy last night lay in the appearance of the second, that is to say, the second in point of tune, of the prime donne soprani of the Mapleson company. Incidentally there was a new tenor, and not the tenor who was billed for Alfredo last week, and whose indisposition was not prolonged enough to keep him from appearing at the Sunday concert. Nevertheless it was not Signor Randaccio, but Signor Betti who made his appearance last night. He did not suffice to distract attention from his Violetta, who held the stage without challenge whenever she was on it. Mme. Hariclee-Darclee made a distinct success. Her voice, though a trifle husky in the opening last night, is normally clear and pure, and she is generally accurate in intonation. In quality it is metallic and not intrinsically sympathetic, though her art as an actress supplied its deficiencies in that respect in the pathetic scenes of the second act. It has, however, some really beautiful notes, and it is very thoroughly trained. Her execution of the florid passage in the "Ah! fors e lui," was remarkable, and was promptly recognized not only by the spontaneous and hearty applause of the house, but by the more deliberate and monumental "floral tributes," under which the ushers labored down the aisle and which they finally capsized into the orchestra.

The second act, however, offered Violetta her real opportunity, and this Mme. Hariclee-Darclee made the most of, especially in a dramatic sense, although vocally her performance of the rôle was artistic, and at times thrilling. Merely as a piece of acting, it would have made at least a respectable Camille on the dramatic stage. The whole scene with Germont was very well acted. The "Di te a la gioirne" was very effective, and so was her part of the subsequent duet with Alfredo. With a flexibility that commonly goes with a small voice, the new soprano has more than ample power for the rôle she chose for her first appearance, and, although not technically a dramatic soprano, she excites a desire to see her in parts dramaticlly more exacting, seeing how much more she made of Violetta than is commonly made of it on the lyric stage.

The tenor of the occasion, Signor Betti, made, it was announced, his first appearance on any stage. The announcement was not incredible. Though it was plain that he had a pleasant and well-trained voice, and that as a concert performance his singing of the music of Alfredo would have been very acceptable, he has not as yet found himself on the stage. In the first act his nervousness affected his singing, which was notably more effective when he was behind the scenes than when he was in front of them. But, although in the subsequent scenes he was able to do himself more justice vocally as a singer, the efforts of his colleague and preceptress did not suffice to make him really personate Alfredo

Signor Ughetto gave a conscientious and not very noteworthy Germont. The applause after the "Di Provenza" was a tribute rather to Verdi than to his interpreter, and on the part of a good many of the audience to the past singers they had heard in it in the same auditorium.

To-night a special performance of "Trovatore" will be given at reduced prices, and to-morrow night "The Huguenots" will be produced.

Burned by a Torpedo.

BELLEVILLE, N. J., Nov. 2.—The five-year-old son of Frederick Smith of Rutgers Street was badly burned about the face this morning by the explosion of a torpedo which he says was thrown at him by a playmate. The boy's companions say that he was chewing the torpedo when it exploded.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

New-York City.

—M. EUGENE HEMMENDINGER.—M. Eugene Hemmendinger, diamond setter and dealer in jewelry at 5 Maiden Lane, made an assignment yesterday to Nestor A. Alexander.

—SAMUEL ROSENTHAL.—Deputy Sheriff Lipsky has taken charge of the place of business of Samuel Rosenthal, cloak manufacturer at 175 and 177 Greene Street, on claims for $1,100.

—WILLIAM ASHTON.—William Ashton, dealer in pianos and organs at 375 Bleecker Street, made an assignment yesterday to Bela M. Farnham. He has been in business fifteen years, and claimed a capital of about $5,000.

—KITTRIDGE COMPANY.—Judge Lawrence of the Supreme Court has appointed George E. Gallison receiver for the Kittridge Company, publishers, of 13 Astor Place, on the application of Erdman, Levy & Mayer, representing Henry D. Parmelee. Mr. Gallison was recently appointed receiver in New-Jersey.

—MAX HAMBURGER & CO.—Max Hamburger and Adolph Gollubier, composing the firm of Max Hamburger & Co., cloak manufacturers at 616 and 618 Broadway, made an assignment yesterday to George Heyman, at the office of Franklin Bien. They started in business in June, 1895, with a capital of $10,000. It was ascertained that the failure was caused by the sudden death recently of Joseph W. Hamburger, father of the senior partner, who prior to his death, had guaranteed the greater portion of the firm's indebtedness. No extension or settlement will be asked, as it is understood that Mr. Hamburger's relatives will pay any deficiency that may exist after the assigned estate is wound up. The liabilities are $27,000, assets about the same.

—WILLIAM F. CLEMMONS.—William F. Clemmons, jobber in woolens at 20 Lispenard Street, made an assignment yesterday without preference to Jacob H. Seinel, Arthur Furber being the attorney. Mr. Clemmons has been in this line of business for fifteen years, was of great energy, and an authority for information regarding the trade. Mr. Clemmons has turned over all his assets, which are considerably greater than his liabilities, and creditors said he deserved credit for stopping now before becoming insolvent, in contrast to recent failures where there have been very little assets left for creditors. Mr. Clemmons is going out of business, and it has been suggested that creditors take the assets and allow him a certain amount of compensation for his long business career and as a mark of appreciation for honest dealing in failures. He paid bills to the amount of $2,000 on Saturday. Mr. Clemmons notified all creditors of his assignment in a long letter in which he said that damaging rumors of his financial condition recently circulated had affected him seriously. Upon consultation, he ascertained that because he is a resident of New-Jersey he could be attached without notice, and in that way incur large expenses and involve him in litigation which, owing to the depressed condition of the market and poor collections, would precipitate him into insolvency. He felt that, in justice to creditors, he was compelled to stop where he was, and for their protection as well as his own good name to make an assignment without a dollar of preference. He approximates the liabilities at $55,000 and good assets at $70,000, consisting of collectible outstandings and cash in bank $50,000, and merchandise over $20,000. He has called a meeting of creditors.

Out of Town.

—EMPIRE STATE KNITTING COMPANY.—Judge Smyth of the Supreme Court has appointed Franklin Bien receiver of the Empire State Knitting Company of Schenectady, N. Y., on the application of Albert Ivins Croll, who obtained two judgments against it for $14,987.

—MILLER & VAUGHAN, Providence.—Miller & Vaughan, bankers and brokers, at 23 and 25 Exchange Street, Providence, made an assignment yesterday to James M. Scott. J. S. Bache of this city, who backed the firm for $50,000, withdrew last week, and the firm was unable to secure new capital. The liabilities are estimated at $130,000. Miller is a member of the New-York Stock Exchange.

—ROSSIE IRON WORKS.—Joseph P. Curtis has been appointed receiver for the Rossie Iron Works, which had an office in this city and mines at Rossie, St. Lawrence County, N. Y., by Judge Beekman, on the application of the Directors. Mr. Curtis is the Treasurer of the company and Anthony J. Thomas President. It was incorporated on Nov. 23, 1894, and has a capital stock of $390,000, chiefly held in London. The manufacture of iron was abandoned in 1868, and mining ore in July, 1893, since which time the mines have been closed. The trouble was due to low prices of iron and iron ores, in consequence of destructive competition of Western ores. The liabilities are $17,275, and assets, $16,242. Judge Beekman granted an order dissolving the corporation.

Aged Woman Fatally Burned.

EAST ROCKAWAY, L. I., Nov. 2.—Mrs. Davis, sixty years old, died last night at Lynbrook from the effects of bruns. She had recently moved, with her son, George Davis, from Lynbrook to East Rockaway. $100 FOR 10 WORDS

THE NEW-YORK TIMES offers One Hundred Dollars for a phrase of ten words or less which shall more aptly express the distinguishing characteristics of THE NEW-YORK TIMES than "All the News That's Fit to Print," now displayed on the electric sign at Madison Square. That display reads as follows:

> NEW-YORK TIMES
> "All the News That's Fit to Print."
> Sunday Magazine Supplement
> Have You Seen It?

The announcement has attracted admiring attention from multitudes in the vicinity of Madison Square.

THE TIMES seeks a phrase more expressive of THE TIMES's policy of freedom from sensationalism; its appeal distinctively to the intelligent and the thoughtful; of the absence from its columns of revolting details of scandal, sickening chapters of crime, unfounded attacks on public men, and reckless assaults on private interests; of its distinction as a newspaper for the home, a newspaper that is progressive and enterprising, without being indecent or careless of the rights of others; of its newsy and entertaining qualities, while at the same time being clean and instructive; of its earnest endeavor to be the family paper of the Greater New-York, and of its position as a newspaper that upholds morality, inspires patriotism, and encourages good citizenship.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES will pay One Hundred Dollars for a phrase that will better convey this idea: "ALL THE NEWS THAT'S FIT TO PRINT," everything of human interest, but nothing except the truth.

Suggestions in competition for this prize of One Hundred Dollars should be sent on postal cards addressed to THE NEW-YORK TIMES. No other form of reply will be considered. The maximum number of words is ten, but if a striking phrase can be made in fewer words, so much the better.

The award will be made when an acceptable phrase is named.

BROKERS CHEER M'KINLEY

STOCK EXCHANGE THE SCENE OF JUBILATION.

When Business Ended the Members Gave Vent to Their Enthusiasm —A Quartet Sang a Campaign Song and the "Star Spangled Banner"—Visitors in the Galleries Joined in the Demonstration—Trading Suspended To-day.

President Eames's gavel fell and the gong clanged at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, closing business at the Stock Exchange until to-morrow. There was silence for just one instant, then a roar of jubilation from 500 stock brokers and as many spectators, who, for half an hour, had packed the galleries.

The members of the Exchange were bound to be jolly and demonstrative. While some waltzed or played practical jokes in their exuberation, others vented campaign cries, and very soon came the inquiry:

"What's the matter with McKinley?"

The response, "Oh, he's all right," could have been heard in Broadway. In fact, it was heard and made use of on the Consolidated Exchange. The "Who's all right?" and "Why, William McKinley," were given in like thundering fashion.

Thus started, the brokers forced the jubilee to pleasant issues. R. H. Halsted, affectionately known as "Dick," was master of ceremonies. He was draped in the American flag and led the cheering for the anti-repudiation ticket. The cheers and tigers were repeated with unbounded enthusiasm. Then "America" was sung, the visitors in the galleries joining in.

Then from the galleries came two daintily gowned women and two men—Ada Palmer Walker and Viola Pratt, and S. P. Veron and Arthur B. Adamini of the Donizetti Quartet, who have been singing at the Republican Dry Goods Men's Club. They sang the campaign parody on "El Capitan" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

At the Consolidated and Produce Exchanges cheers were given for McKinley at the end of business.

Wall Street and its neighborhood were crowded with visitors all day yesterday.

MONEY WAS IN DEMAND.

Loans Were Made at 6 Per Cent. by the Syndicate.

Money was in demand at the opening of the market yesterday, and was lent at from 6 per cent. flat to what was equivalent to nearly 96 per cent. What money was lent by the agent of the syndicate was at one-quarter of 1 per cent. commission and 6 per cent. interest.

"I do not care," said J. Edward Simmons yesterday afternoon, "to say how much money the syndicate of banks in the Clearing House Association has lent of their fund of $8,000,000 to-day or since Friday. It is, however, a comparatively small sum. We knocked down the rate on call loans and became masters of the situation. We did not start the scheme to make money, and are perfectly satisfied to have others to do so, so long as the money market is not manipulated. When it becomes necessary, we shall be heard from again."

TO CATCH LONDON PRICES.

Brokers' Offices Will Be Opened Up Town for All Night.

Zimmermann & Forshay, in order to accommodate their customers and enable them to take the earliest advantage of the results of the election, will open an office at 10 East Twenty-third Street to-night. Here full election returns will be received and the office will be in close communication with the London market, which opens—our time—at 3 A. M.

J. S. Bache & Co., Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., and L. Von Hoffmann & Co. will have election night offices for the same purposes up town.

The Anglo-American Telegraph Company will have an office open at 8 West Twenty-third Street from 6 P. M. to-day until 8 A. M. to-morrow.

VAN ETTEN'S TROUSERS FOUND.

Part of Property Stolen from a New-York Central Private Car.

Edgar Van Etten, General Superintendent of the New-York Central, received information yesterday that the hand satchel and the pair of trousers which were stolen from him a few weeks ago had been found at the bottom of the canal in Syracuse.

The articles were abstracted from a private car, in which Superintendent Van Etten and other New-York Central officials were sleeping, and it was suspected that the theft was committed while the car was side-tracked at Syracuse.

The fact that the trousers stolen were the only pair that Mr. Van Etten had with him at the time gave his friends a chance to exercise their chaffing tendencies. The essays that the victim of the robbery has received within the past month on "How to do Without Trousers" would make a volume. He also received through the mails the other day a neat package containing a tiny pair of knit worsted trousers.

The contents of the satchel, which included Mr. Van Etten's book of annual passes and various important papers, were found intact, but $30 in money that had been placed in one of the pockets of the trousers was missing.

PAWNED A NEIGHBOR'S PLATE.

Mr. Thompson Used Valuables Left with Him for Safety.

When Dr. Genalo Morello of 25 Second Place, Brooklyn, took his family to the country on July 9 last, he confided his plate and some jewelry, valued at $300, to the care of his next-door neighbor, Henry Thompson, who owned a large safe.

About a month ago, when Dr. Morello returned, he asked Mr. Thompson for the things. Thompson told him that the combination of the safe was out of order, but in a few days he would get it opened by an expert. Dr. Morello waited until he became tired of waiting, and then asked the police for advice. A policeman asked Mr. Thompson if he might bring an expert to open the safe, and Mr. Thompson said "Yes." The safe was empty, and Thompson confessed that he had pawned the goods for $62. He was charged with grand larceny, and held for examination in the Butler Street Police Court.

Thompson says he is a barber in this city, but he declined to give his address.

Photographs of Sound Waves.

Some interesting photographs of sound-wave condensations were shown at a meeting of the New-York Academy of Sciences, in Hamilton Hall, Columbia University, last night. They were taken over twenty years ago, and were shown by Prof. William Hallock, as partial answer to a question recently raised as to whether it were possible to photograph the condensation of the atmosphere in front of a projectile.

Lighting Western Boulevard.

The Gas Commission met in the Mayor's office yesterday and formally authorized the installation of the Welsbach light along the Western Boulevard, from Fifty-ninth to Seventy-second Streets. It was determined that electric lights should be placed on Thirty-third Street, from Broadway to Fifth Avenue. Contracts for city lighting are to be awarded on Dec. 2.

ALL WERE WEARY OF LIFE.

Five Men Courted Death and Three Were Successful.

Henry Ayres, thirty years old, said to have been the son of wealthy parents, committed suicide yesterday morning in his room at 48 Clinton Place. Ayres first drank a dose of laudanum, but, the poison failing to take effect as soon as he desired, he severed an artery in his right wrist with a razor and bled to death. Despondency over the failure to secure work is given as the reason for the act, but considerable mystery surrounds the case.

Mrs. McAndrews, who lives at 45 Clinton Place, told the police that she knew all about the young man and his parents, but refused to divulge anything. A brother of Ayres called at the house last night and took the dead man's effects to the rooms of Mrs. McAndrews.

Anton Sandner, fifty-six years old, of 328 Third Avenue, committed suicide early yesterday morning by drinking oxalic acid. Sandner had been a baker, but lost his business a few years ago, and since then had been morose and apparently dissatisfied with life. He left no letters to explain his act.

Joseph Dinges, thirty-seven years old, shot himself in the head yesterday morning at his home, 313 East Forty-sixth Street, and died almost instantly. Dinges was employed as driver by a liquor merchant on Second Avenue and earned enough to support himself and wife in a comfortable manner. His wife says she can give no reason for his suicide, as he was seemingly in good health and he had had no domestic trouble to make him despondent.

Robert Gilroy, a laborer, twenty-one years old, of 224 East Twenty-ninth Street, attempted to commit suicide yesterday afternoon by hanging himself in his room. He was discovered and cut down before life was extinct. The man was removed to Bellevue Hospital, and the doctors announced last night that he would probably recover.

John Edwards, a printer, fifty-five years old, who said he had no home, and was out of work, attempted to shoot himself yesterday morning at Sedgwick Avenue and Depot Place, High Bridge. Edwards had the revolver to his head and was pulling the trigger when a policeman discovered him and knocked the revolver out of his hand. Edwards pleaded guilty to attempted suicide, in the Morrisania Court, and was held in $1,000 bail for trial.

WANTS ENDOWMENTS.

New-York University Desires Two "Honor Professorships."

The annual meeting of the Council of the New-York University was held yesterday afternoon, with President Charles Butler, a member of the council since 1836, in the chair.

The annual report of Chancellor MacCracken showed that the property of the University was increased during the fiscal year ending Sept. 1 by gifts amounting to $457,173. This amount includes only actual cash paid in. There are pledges for the current financial year of moneys for the library not included in the above amount. The report recommended that the Council resolve to secure endowments for the support of two professorships, each with a foundation of from $75,000 to $100,000, to be known as "Honor Professorships."

Acting upon the vacancies created by death, the Council elected James McCreery and Cyrus C. Miller to fill the vacant places. These outgoing members were also re-elected: The Rev. John Hall, Lemuel Skidmore, William L. Skidmore, Dr. John P. Munn, Augustus D. Juilliard, and John Claflin. The officers were also re-elected. Two new members were elected to the Woman's Advisory Committee. They were Mrs. Russell Sage and Mrs. Jefferson Hogan. This committee reported the receipts for the year at $27,447, and disbursements at $24,418.

The report of David Banks, Chairman of the Library Committee, showed an increase in the library, mostly by gifts, of 4,670 volumes. It was also stated that the United States Government had designated the library as a depository for public documents.

OVERRULED THE DEMURRER.

Justice Beekman Decided Against Dr. Buchanan's Widow.

Dr. Alexander Buchanan's widow, Margaret Buchanan, has brought several suits in the Supreme Court in relation to his property since he died, Sept. 2 of this year. He was at one time said to be worth nearly $1,000,000, but by his will he cut his wife off with a fifty-dollar bequest. She has sued for a portion of his estate; to set aside conveyances that he executed, and, lastly, for the possession of his body, which was buried by his brother, James D. Buchanan, in Greenwood Cemetery.

The latter suit was called before Justice Beekman yesterday on a demurrer that Mrs. Buchanan interposed to the answer put in by James D. Buchanan.

Mrs. Buchanan alleges in her complaint that Mr. Buchanan's brother unlawfully took possession of the body and buried it in Greenwood Cemetery in his own lot, and, although she has made many demands for the body, it has not been surrendered to her. This, James D. Buchanan denies in his answer, and alleges that he took possession of his brother's body and buried it because just before his brother died he requested him to do so, and one who is about to die has a right under the case to state what shall be done with his body.

Justice Beekman overruled the demurrer, and held that the body had been disposed of as Dr. Buchanan wished.

Killed by an Elevated Express.

Wright Feeks, a painter on the Ninth Avenue elevated railroad, who lived at 1,107 Park Avenue, was killed on the track of the road yesterday morning, near the Sixty-sixth Street station. He was walking northward along the tracks, when a south-bound express train struck him, threw him into the air, and killed him instantly. The engineer of the express train whistled for Feeks to get off the track, but Feeks was not quick enough, although his companion, W. D. S. Kelliner, stepped aside when the whistle was blown, and saved his life. Kelliner said he thought Feeks caught his foot in the rails and was held fast until he was struck and killed.

November Grand Jury Sworn.

The November Grand Jury was sworn in yesterday by Judge Newburger, in Part I. of the Court of General Sessions. Among other things, he called the jury's attention to "the growing habit of merchants to make use of the Grand Jury to collect their claims," and said the members should not permit the jury to be used as a collection agency. Judge Newburger said there are sixty-one persons in the Tombs awaiting the action of the Grand Jury, and 121 prisoners there under indictment.

Mistake in Classifying Candidates.

By a mistake in making up the tables of the candidates to be voted for in the various States in THE NEW-YORK TIMES yesterday the candidates to be voted for in the various York became transposed. North Carolina appeared over the names on the New-York State tickets, and New-York over those to be voted for in North Carolina.

Will of Cornelius Furgueson.

The will of Cornelius Furgueson, for many years Supervisor from New-Utrecht, who died Oct. 26, was offered for probate yesterday in Surrogate Abbott's Court in Brooklyn. The estate is valued at $125,000, and is divided among the members of Mr. Furgueson's family.

New Agent for Bank of Montreal.

The agents here of the Bank of Montreal announced yesterday that its Clearing House agent will hereafter be the City National Bank, instead of the Bank of New-York.

"LADY" NICHOLAS'S BABY

TAKEN FROM HER AND DIED ON RANDALL'S ISLAND.

The Foster-Mother Was the Mother of Washington Irving Bishop—She Married, She Says, the Hon. Langdon Lucas Nicholas of Imperial Blood, and the Little Boy Had a Long Name—She Says She Will Sue Mr. Gerry for a Million.

A boy, twenty-two months old, bearing the name of Anastasius Havemeyer Aldrich Lucas Langdon Bishop Nicholas died Nov. 1 in the Children's Hospital on Randall's Island of pneumonia. The following death notice was printed in the newspapers Monday morning:

NICHOLAS.—November 1, aged 22 months, idolized babe of Hon. Lucas Langdon and Lady Bishop Nicholas of Nicholas Manor, Montpelier, Vt., Anastasius Havemeyer Aldrich L. L. B. Nicholas, 558 West 42d St.
Funeral notice later.

The "Lady Bishop Nicholas" named as mother, was Mrs. Bishop, mother of the mind-reader, Washington Irving Bishop, and the child that died in the Randall's Island Hospital had been adopted by her, and was taken in charge by the Gerry society upon the ground that it was not receiving proper medical attendance.

Mrs. Bishop was married for the second time, she says, May 25, 1893, in St. Paul's Church, Burlington, Vt., by the Rev. Dr. Islam Bliss, to Lucas Langdon Nicholas, of whom she tells a romantic story, showing that he is the great-grandson of the Emperor Nicholas I. of Russia, and that, she having married him, is the rightful Empress of Russia and Queen of Athens. The Hon. Lucas and his brother were, she says, stolen by Turks, and rescued and brought to this country by a Mr. Miller of Burlington and Lord Byron.

Living in a Tenement.

However that may be, "Lady Nicholas" is now living in a tenement at 558 West Twenty-third Street, though she says that she has had no quarrel with the rightful Emperor Nicholas, and that he wants her to come home to the Nicholas Manor at Montpelier.

The child she adopted, she says, was of aristocratic birth, its mother being a Swedish lady and its father an inventor named Sjostron. The mother is now dead and the father is an invalid. There were two other boys—Karl, aged ten years, and Maurice, aged eight—and Mrs. Bishop Nicholas adopted them also and placed them in the Leake and Watts Institute at Yonkers.

The child Anastasius Havemeyer Aldrich Lucas Langdon Bishop Nicholas she kept with her in West Forty-second Street because, as she said, tearfully, "The darling filled a place in my heart that was left vacant after the murder of my son by those wretches, Dr. Ferguson and Dr. Irwin."

A complaint was made to the Gerry society last July that the baby was not being properly cared for, and Aug. 4 Agent Agnew called upon Mrs. Bishop Nicholas and took the child. She says that he persuaded her to take it to the Post-Graduate Hospital to be examined, and then took her and the child to Bellevue upon the pretext of having it there examined. There, she says, the authorities refused to give it up and told her it was in the care of the Gerry society. It was left over night in a tent in the grounds, she says, and it was there that it caught pneumonia.

"I shall sue Mr. Gerry for $1,000,000 damages," she said, "and if I get it I shall give it to the poor."

Once before, Mrs. Nicholas says, the Gerry society tried to get her baby, and took her and the little one before Justice Welde, who permitted her to retain charge of it.

Mr. Gerry's Statement.

Elbridge T. Gerry said last night: "The case was but an ordinary one. A complaint was made to the society that the child was in need of medical attendance, and was not receiving it. It was taken and placed where it would get proper care. Mrs. Nicholas, through counsel, tried to get possession of it, and the hospital authorities' return showed us that to remove the child in the condition it was in would endanger its life.

"Had the child recovered, Mrs. Nicholas would have been notified to appear in court and show that she was a proper custodian of the little one."

The walls of Mrs. Nicholas's tenement are hung with pictures of her son, Washington Irving Bishop, some of them being gruesome photographs, taken after the autopsy that Mrs. Bishop always claimed caused his death on May 13, 1889.

The neighbors say that Mrs. Nicholas treated the baby kindly, and that it never wanted for anything. In anticipation of the child's return, the poor old woman bought it a cradle and doll and other toys, and yesterday they were placed beside the little white coffin in the principal living room. Mrs. Bishop Nicholas sat beside them and wept.

Undertaker Stephen Merritt has taken charge of the funeral arrangements, "without charging me anything," Mrs. Nicholas said, between sobs. The funeral service will be held Wednesday at 10 o'clock A. M., and the burial will be in Prof. A. L. Rawson's lot, in Greenwood, beside the grave of Laura Keene, the actress.

The hospital authorities changed the name of Anastasius Havemeyer Aldrich Lucas Langdon Bishop Nicholas to James Johnson. That name, too, proved too long for the plate on the little coffin, so it was engraved simply, "Baby. Died Nov. 1, 1896. Aged, twenty-two months."

ADVERTISED FOR A HUSBAND.

Anna Arnstein's Anxiety Caused Several Persons Trouble.

Anna Arnstein's anxiety to secure a husband made her complainant against Oscar Arnstein of 159 East Forty-ninth Street, who was arraigned in the Yorkville Court yesterday on a charge of larceny. When the woman, who was employed by Arnstein as a domestic, made known her desires, he said he could arrange matters to her satisfaction. Accordingly, he advertised for a husband for an heiress worth $20,000.

She said that several heiress-hunters answered, and that Arnstein charged each of them $5 for an introduction. She said that he also induced her to give him $80, telling her that she could draw on him as she needed it.

Several sued for the hand of the supposed heiress, and the proposal of Adam Miller of 1,037 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn, was accepted. The wedding was set for Oct. 15, but when Miller learned that the fortune was a myth he declined to fulfill his part of the contract.

In the mean time she had withdrawn $30 of the $80. When she demanded the remainder, Arnstein refused to give it to her, and she had him arrested. When arraigned in court, Arnstein offered to return the $50 and she withdrew the complaint.

Franklyn Cox, Jr., Arrested.

Franklyn Coxe, Jr., who lives at One Hundred and Twenty-sixth Street and St. Nicholas Avenue, was arrested yesterday while in the Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange, on a warrant obtained by his wife, Edith Coxe, of 987 Sixth Avenue, who alleges that he has abandoned her. She says he is forty-five years old, is a broker; that they were married in New-Jersey three years ago, and that six months ago he abandoned her and went to live with another woman, who passes as Mrs. Coxe. Coxe was held in $500 bail, by Magistrate Cornell, sitting in the Yorkville Court, for examination. Bail was furnished. Coxe says he was divorced from another wife several years ago, and that as the decree prevented him from marrying again in this State, complainant, accordingly, is not his wife. Mrs. Coxe was arrested and taken to Ludlow Street Jail when she left the Yorkville Court. It was said she assaulted the woman who now lives with Mr. Coxe.

ARE WE WORSE PHYSICALLY?

Sorosis Listens to Debate on Mental and Physical Development.

Sorosis held her second regular monthly meeting of the season yesterday. As usual she lunched sumptuously, was introduced in a body to her distinguished guests, and then settled down for an hour of music before the work of the day.

The music was furnished by the Rubinstein Quartet, composed of four women's voices, and the Committee on Science gave the question for the afternoon.

"Can it be proved scientifically," it asked, "that while the human race is developing mentally, it is deteriorating physically?"

Six Sorosians discussed the subject, after Dr. Harriet C. D. Keatinge had presented it. They were: Affirmative—Florence De Graff Shaw, Dr. H. D. Esmonde Keatinge, and Dr. Katherine D. Burnette; negative—Stella Goodrich Russell, Dr. Mary E. Bond, and May Florence Park. At the close of the discussion, the pessimist still looked at the subject gloomily, and the cheerful Sorosian was still hopeful.

"Are we deteriorating?" asked Dr. Keatinge. "Are we forgetting the need of rest for brain and nerve? Are we running a willing horse to death? We reason but little. It is too slow a process. We have outgrown anatomy and physiology, and have taken up psychology. It is not a matter of guesswork. What will man do with himself? Will the human body become ephemeral so that we can cast it aside and live in our psychical body?"

Miss Shaw said she had spent her life among children, and in them saw the effect of environment, past and present. Interest in outdoor games shows the fight being made against overtraining the mind. "On the eve of this great political crisis," she concluded, "let us not forget our responsibilities as guardians and teachers of our children."

Miss Russell said that the Greeks were not to be trusted as historians, and that Greek sculpture was not a representation of any one man or woman. She claimed that the Harvard student was a better man physically and morally than his predecessor twenty years ago.

Nervous development was rapidly exhausting the physical, Dr. Keatinge said. She spoke of the Spartan girls, who were taught to leap and run, and who gave an exhibition of their prowess in these exercises before they were married. Dr. Bond said it was impossible to change environments, and the body should be educated to live up to them. Dr. Burnette said that only among the foreign element of the country is reproduction what it should be. She claimed that this showed physical deterioration. Miss Park, speaking through the poets, said that if there was a twilight it was the twilight of approaching dawn.

Sorosis occupied the old ball room yesterday. It is not as spacious, but the acoustic properties are better than in the new room.

MUST REINSTATE ELWELL.

Manhattan Chess Club Mandamused by the Supreme Court.

Justice MacLean, in the Supreme Court yesterday, issued a writ of mandamus to the Manhattan Chess Club, ordering its directory and members to reinstate to membership in good standing John D. Elwell, who was expelled on Oct. 8, and to make return to the writ within twenty days.

Mr. Elwell has been a member of the Manhattan Chess Club for over fifteen years. He is best known in chess for his work in behalf of the Brooklyn Chess Club, by reason of which that club has attained the pre-eminence in this country.

He was charged by the directory of the Manhattan Chess Club with malfeasance in tampering with the United States mails, because he opened an envelope that contained a letter for the President of the club. The envelope bore Mr. Elwell's name and business address, and J. Mona Lesser of Boston, the writer of the letter, stated that by some mistake the envelope containing the letter was directed to Mr. Elwell instead of to his care. The directory itself made the charge and tried and convicted Mr. Elwell.

GATHERED ABOUT TOWN.

It looks as if there might be a law suit between Daniel Frohman and E. H. Sothern. At least, if Mr. Sothern does not make reparation something is going to happen, Mr. Frohman says. It is a remarkable case of a star running away with his own pictures. They are rather remarkable pictures, however, which is some excuse. It is a set of pictures which Mr. Frohman keeps in his private office in the front room in the second story of the little brick house which forms the stage entrance to the Lyceum Theatre. The pictures are in one frame, and they show Mr. Sothern from the time he was a very small star in the firmament of home to the time he became a different kind of a celestial body with a more critical audience than that of the family. The first picture shows him at the early age of three years—a nice little fellow in skirts; in the second he has reached the dignity of trousers at seven years; a third picture shows a young man of eighteen, and a fourth was taken four years later, when Mr. Sothern was twenty-two. That is where he stops as a private person and becomes a character. First a villainous young Irishman with a cynical smile; a blasé man of the world in "Lord Chumley," and so on down to "The Prisoner of Zenda" and "An Enemy to the King." No one who has not tried to find the youthful pictures of any one who has reached mature age knows what a difficult thing it is to do. Pictures thirty or more years ago were not common. There were only painted portraits and daguerreotypes, and the latter are lost in many instances. Mr. Frohman's collection, which he made himself, is an unusual one, and he prizes it accordingly. Just at the present time it is in the possession of Mr. Sothern, who has borrowed it. "And if he doesn't return it," Mr. Frohman says—"Well—"

A couple of New-York women boast that of all the fine silver work done in silver monograms on leather they have the handsomest on their purses, and it is amateur work. A down-town commission merchant discovered one day that he had a talent in this direction. His work is all the more clever in that he is a veteran of the late war, in which struggle he lost his right arm. He went into the business of amateur monogram maker quite by accident. He is a man who is fond of good horses, and it happened to be at a time when he had just purchased a new harness that, working over a ten-cent-piece one day, he cut out a small, but handsome monogram. It seemed to be too good to throw away, and he fastened it to the blinders of his horse, where it made a very ornamental appearance. It was suggested that a monogram for his wife's purse would be an improvement, and monograms for other feminine relatives followed. A fifty-cent piece will make a handsome one—heavy, and of good design. The ordinary monogram on an ordinary purse is a somewhat tawdry affair, but the woman who has a monogram, hand worked, and made by an amateur artist, feels that she is blessed among her fellows.

The most conspicuous feature in the neighborhood of Mulberry Bend is the number of savings banks to be found there. The Italians are a thrifty people.

The political women evangelists in going their rounds in the tenement-house districts learned that the ruling trait of the Italian was to save money. They had been calling upon an Italian woman who was unable to speak English, and the younger English speaking members of her family were away. To an Irish neighbor they delivered the literature, to be given to the young Italians to translate. They also wished to transmit their verbal arguments in the same way and the Irish woman was willing to be the bearer of the message. "Does this woman send money to her friends in Italy?" they asked. "Indade, an' she does not," was the answer. "She'd not be afther givin' money to anyone."

"Well, perhaps she puts money in the bank?" went on the apostle of sound money. "Now, ma'am, that's where you'll have her ivery time," said the Irish woman in a tone of admiration, for such discriminating visitors. Then began the argument: "If she has money in the bank and we do not have an honest dollar, it will be worth," &c., &c., which it is to be hoped was all repeated.

Popcorn is pushing the omnipresent peanut hard for first place. It has an assured position at Summer excursion resorts, and the wagons are growing more numerous on the city streets. A big white popcorn wagon takes its position nightly in front of the Grand Opera House, patronized by the Eighth Avenue crowds which fill the gallery. Popcorn has one advantage. It has no shells.

Maria Barberi in her little cell at the Tombs has a slight mark of distinction. There is a square window in the door of the cell, and for a curtan it has a bright little bit of drapery, white muslin with large yellow dots. It is the same curtain which hung at the window when Mrs. Fleming was an occupant of the cell. It gives a cheerful air that is not a feature of a prison.

The attractiveness of the people's singing classes conducted by Frank Damrosch is shown by the many members of the advanced class who stay after their own lesson at the Cooper Union Sunday afternoon to listen to the still more advanced singers who belong to the Choral Union. They listen intently to the music and applaud a good performance heartily. "It seems as if I couldn't go away as long as there is a bit of music," said one young woman last Sunday. The members represent all varieties of professions and industries, and they find time to reach the class no matter what obstacles may be in the way. A nurse in a private position takes the hour and a half which is given a nurse for air and exercise each day on Sunday for the singing class. She missed only four lessons last year, and so far this year she has lost only one. A new feature in connection with the singing classes is a set of lectures on music to be given at the University Settlement on Delancey Street to the members. They will be given by Miss Therese Mosenthal, a sister-in-law of Frank Damrosch. An admission fee of 3 cents will be charged at each lecture to defray the expenses of the hall, lighting, &c.

There is one thing managers have not taken into consideration in their desire to have ladies remove large hats at theatres. It is going to increase the wear and tear on their carpets. There is a good-sized parlor for ladies between the upper and lower floors at the Lyceum Theatre. A large mirror hangs on the wall at a corner of the room oppose the door. A distinctly marked path is worn on the carpet to it, the wear being most noticeable for a long space in front of the glass. The cause is not difficult to understand on the day of a matinée. The matinée is an elysium for high hats. Every other woman—who is sure to be a young girl—wears one, and she is pretty sure to take it off. After the matinée as, ten chances to one she has not a masculine escort to groan at being kept waiting, she goes to the glass to see that her hat is on straight and to adjust her veil. There is a long line of her—the pretty matinée girls—to be seen in front of that glass at every matinée, each waiting her turn. It is hard on the carpet.

"My husband says he is not going home to vote," said the wife of a New-York business man, who came down from her home in the country to see Saturday procession. "But we shall see who is strongest," she went on. "It would be a shame for him not to vote, and then—he must go anyway, for I have a package for him to take home."

For the first time in twenty years a Presidential campaign has been fought out without any political speaking from the steps of the Sub-Treasury in Wall Street. Three or four applications were made early in the Fall to hold meetings there, but the authorities in Washington deemed it best to grant no such privilege to either party. In adopting this policy, the Administration has probably established a precedent that will be followed in the future, except on occasions of especial significance. The building of political stands on the high steps of the Sub-Treasury has always caused more or less inconvenience to the Sub-Treasury officials, and some damage to Uncle Sam's property as well. Carpenters are not always scrupulously careful, as various nicks and chipped places in the granite steps and columns of the Sub-Treasury can testify.

A careful boiling down shows this result: no matter what to-day's political outcome, we still shall have as good clothes, shoes, hats and furnishings as we know how to get; at as low prices as right quality and work will allow.

PUBLIC ROOF GARDEN.

Plans for One Approved by the Dock Board.

The Dock Board, at its meeting, approved the designs of Consulting Architect Edward H. Kendall for a public roof garden on the pier, foot of East Third Street. The work of preparing the pier for the erection of the superstructure will commence at once, and the garden will be ready for use by May 1. The pier to be used is 302 feet long and 52 feet wide. The upper deck to be placed on it will cover the entire area, while the roof of the upper floor will cover the whole breadth, but not the entire length, an uncovered portion being left at either end, or 23 feet at the land end and 33 feet at the outer end.

Steel supports will be used, and the superstructure itself will be of steel and wood, and made ornamental. There will be lavatories and other conveniences, a music stand, and settees and chairs. Privileges for the sale of milk will be granted, but no liquors will be permitted to be sold. The estimated cost is about $25,000.

The improvement is made under authority of an act of the Legislature of 1892, designed to provide healthful places for recreation for the people. The Board of Aldermen had also requested the establishment of roof gardens, specifying in their petitions to the Dock Commissioners, as suitable piers—on the North River, those at the foot of West Eleventh, West Twenty-second, West Fortieth, and West Forty-eighth Streets, and on the East River, those at the foot of East Forty-ninth and East One Hundred and Seventeenth Streets. The Dock Commissioners determined to build one for the present as an experiment.

WHERE TO GET THE NEWS

TIMES BULLETINS IN PARK ROW AND MADISON SQUARE.

Election Returns Will Be Thrown On Stereopticon Screens Where Thousands Can See Them—When to Expect Reports—Probably a Little Late This Year — Interesting States to Watch—When Polls Close in All the States.

The polls will be open to-day from 6 A. M. until 5 P. M.

When the voter enters the polling place the ballot clerk will hand him two folded ballots; one with the names of candidates, the other for voting on the Constitutional amendment. The next step will be to enter a voting booth and fill out the ballots as he wishes. He then refolds the ballots exactly along the lines in which they were folded when handed to him. This must be done before leaving the voting booth. The ballots must be then handed to the Inspector in charge of the ballot box, who will announce the name of the voter and the printed number on the stub of the ballot.

If the elector be found entitled to vote the Inspector will tear off the stub "in plain view of the elector," and deposit the ballot in the ballot box, and the stub in a "box for detached ballot stubs."

The Election News.

As fast as the results of the voting in every State of the Union can be determined or accurately forecast, THE NEW-YORK TIMES will display the news by bulletins thrown on stereopticon screens in front of THE TIMES Building, on Park Row, and simultaneously on the building facing north on Twenty-third Street, at the junction of Broadway and Fifth Avenue.

The most complete facilities possible have been provided for getting accurate news, and getting it with the utmost dispatch. Correspondents in every State and in every important city will send in momentarily election returns and reports of the progress of the voting throughout the country. These reports will not only be prompt, but the greatest care has been taken to insure their accuracy.

On THE TIMES Building the bulletins will be displayed on the front facing Printing House Square, and may be plainly read from Park Row, and from City Hall Square.

At Madison Square, the bulletins will be displayed on the north wall of the building now bearing the electrical advertisement of THE TIMES. These bulletins will be exhibited simultaneously with those on THE TIMES Building. They may be read plainly by tens of thousands of persons from Madison Square and from Fifth Avenue and Broadway north of Twenty-third Street.

In both places the bulletins will be printed on the lantern slides by typewriter, so that all the figures and text can be read with the greatest ease.

When to Look for the News.

As the polls begin closing at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the bulletins announcing results may be expected about 4:30 to 5 o'clock. Maine and Massachusetts close their polls first, in comparison with New-York time. In both States voting ends at 4 P. M., which is also 4 by New-York time. It is probable that returns from those States will begin coming in about 4:30 or 5.

In this city the polls close at 5 P. M. Elsewhere through the State the time is sundown. As facilities for getting news in this city and in Brooklyn are, of course, better than they are for more distant places, returns will begin coming in very soon after 5. Returns from places in the State outside of Greater New-York will also commence coming in shortly after those of this city and Brooklyn.

Returns May Be a Little Late.

Owing to the adoption of the Australian, or other forms of a secret ballot, by a number of States since 1892, the returns may be a little later than at the last Presidential election. It takes longer to count a blanket ballot than the old style small slip ticket that was formerly voted throughout the country.

Then, it should be remembered that between New-York City and San Francisco there is a difference of three hours, and a proportional difference between the time here and in all cities and States that lie west of 82.30 degrees of longitude, or west of Columbus, Ohio, and Augusta, Ga. Five o'clock in New-York is 2 o'clock in San Francisco, 3 in Denver, and 4 in St. Louis, Chicago, and New-Orleans. The difference is clearly appreciable when it is considered that the polls close in California at 6 P. M., which means 9 P. M. in New-York.

Under these conditions returns will be coming in from 4:30 in the afternoon until long after midnight.

Interesting States to Watch.

In to-day's election interest will chiefly centre in States considerably west of New-York. Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin form a group of States claimed by both Republicans and Bryan Democrats. They are one hour behind this city in time, and reports from them will probably begin coming in about 6 or 7 in the evening.

Kentucky, Tennessee, and Louisiana are interesting Southern States, claimed for McKinley and Bryan. They also are one hour behind New-York, and some returns may be expected about 5:30 or 6, as the polls close at 4 (5 in New-York) in the afternoon.

The Virginias, Maryland, and North Carolina form another doubtful battleground. They have the same time as New-York. Returns will begin coming in about 5:30 or 6.

Nebraska and the Dakotas are debatable territory. They are two hours behind New-York time. Their returns may be looked for about 8 or 9 in the evening.

The Pacific States of California, Oregon, and Washington, which are fought for by both parties, are three hours behind New-York time, and this, together with the great distance, will delay their returns until 11 o'clock or midnight and after.

HER FIRST CRIMINAL CASE.

Mrs. Clara Foltz Saves an Insane Man from Prison.

Mrs. Clara Foltz of 533 Temple Court appeared in Centre Street Police Court yesterday before Magistrate Simms as attorney for Thomas O'Connor, who is wanted by the New-Jersey authorities.

It was the first criminal case undertaken by Mrs. Foltz, and involved some fine points of inter-State law. Magistrate Simms gave the decision to her, and the Morris Plains policeman went back to New-Jersey empty handed.

Young O'Connor, Mrs. Foltz's client, is insane. He was convicted of grand larceny on Nov. 24, 1895, and sent to the New-Jersey State Penitentiary, at Trenton. When he was discovered to be insane the penitentiary authorities sent him to the asylum at Morris Plains. He escaped Aug. 16, 1895, and was not found again until Oct. 21, 1896, when the asylum authorities discovered him in New-York, and asked Magistrate Simms to send him back to Morris Plains. He was held to await requisition papers from Gov. Griggs. Mrs. Foltz secured his freedom by maintaining that O'Connor was not a criminal. It is true that he had been tried, induced to plead guilty, and convicted. But he had been prior to that act committed to institutions for the insane, and had never been discharged. As an insane person he could not be extradited for crime.

He was sent to the Flatbush Insane Asylum, from which he had escaped in July, 1894.

Mrs. Foltz appeared in the same court yesterday as attorney for Mrs. Sydney Beresford Pickhardt, who had been knocked down, at the corner of Franklin Street and Broadway, by a team driven by Jacob Schaeffer of 156 East Seventy-fourth Street. He was fined $5 for fast driving.

THE LAZARUS SCHOLARSHIP.

Examination of Applicants for $3,000 for Three Years.

The preliminary contest for the Lazarus Scholarship was begun yesterday, in the Studio Building, 51 West Tenth Street. The scholarship is open to any unmarried male citizen of the United States, and its income is $3,000 for three years, payable in quarterly installments by the Treasurer of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. This sum includes traveling expenses to and from Europe.

The successful competitor will be obliged to spend the first twenty-four months in Italy—sixteen in Rome and eight in other places, according to regulations hereafter to be specified.

Seven contestants had signified an intention to compete for the scholarship, and all of them were present. It was deemed inexpedient by the committee in charge to give the names of the contestants for publication, as those who fail to pass the preliminary examination cannot participate in a further examination, which will be required.

The committee in charge of the Lazarus Scholarship is composed of Frederic Crowninshield, Chairman, and J. Carroll Beckwith, Edwin H. Blashfield, W. H. Low, George W. Maynard, Charles F. McKim, H. Siddons Mowbray, Walter Shirlaw, and Edgar M. Ward.

WILL LOSE HIS VOTE.

Corporation Counsel Says the Rev. Thomas Dixon Is Ineligible.

The Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., was told yesterday at the office of Corporation Counsel Scott that he is not entitled to a vote to-day. Chief Clerk Allen of the Bureau of Elections gave a contrary opinion.

"Mr. Dixon came here this morning," said Mr. Allen, to a reporter for THE NEW-YORK TIMES, "and told me he stops at the Ashland House whenever he is in the city.

"He said he called the hotel his New-York home and had his mail sent there, and that he paid a bill at the hotel every month for meals.

"I told him that the facts set forth by him to-day seemed to me to establish his right to vote, but advised him to go to the Corporation Counsel and get a written opinion."

At the Corporation Counsel's office the reporter was told that Mr. Dixon had stated his case and had been informed that he had not complied with the election law by maintaining one residence for thirty days before registering.

Sneak Thieves Secure Rich Booty.

Thieves entered the residence of William Kenqtgen, Secretary of the Staten Island Rapid Transit Railroad, at Stapleton, last Monday night and secured several hundreds of dollars worth of silverware and clothing and two pocketbooks containing a large sum of money. Mr. and Mrs. Kenqtgen were in New-York City at the time, and the robbery was not discovered until their return. Mr. and Mrs. Fraund, the parents of Mrs. Kenqtgen, were in the house with the servants. It is thought the thieves were from New-York.

New Japanese Consul Arrives.

Consul T. Uchida, who is to take charge of the Japanese Consulate, at 99 Nassau Street, in place of Consul Miyagawa, who was recalled recently, arrived yesterday afternoon from San Francisco. He was met at the Grand Central Station by Chancellor Nakayama, who has been in charge of the Consulate since Sept. 23. Many prominent Japanese merchants called on him yesterday afternoon.

Only Local Veterans Preferred.

The Civil Service Board has been in the habit of giving preference to war veterans from all over the State in making appointments, providing all other qualifications were equal. Recently the board put a new construction on the law, and Secretary Briscoe announces that only veterans residing in the city are entitled to preferment. Veterans from outside the city stand on an equal footing with other candidates.

THIS OBSTRUCTOR ROUTED

POLICEMAN TURNED HIS TEAM FROM THE SIDEWALK.

Driver's Argument Brought to an Untimely End—The Times's Crusade Against the Nuisance Beginning to Have Effect—Merchants, However, Persist in Blocking Travel by Storing Barrels in Front of Their Stores.

A driver yesterday morning backed his wagon diagonally across the sidewalk to a warehouse platform near the corner of Leonard Street and West Broadway. It did not take him long to finish his business, but he was in no hurry. Resting himself comfortably on a box, he entered into a discussion with the employes of the warehouse concerning the sound-money parade. How long the talk would have lasted can only be surmised, because it was brought to an untimely end by policeman 1,652, attached to the Fifth Police Precinct. The first thing that driver knew, his team had been wheeled so suddenly it nearly precipitated him to the street. Before he could recover from his surprise he was grasped by the leg and told to come along. "It's you fellers that's getting us all wrote up in THE TIMES," exclaimed the policeman. The man begged long and earnestly to be let go, and solemnly promised never to forget himself again. Finally he was allowed to go, and drove away rapidly.

The Superintendent of the Hoboken Ferry Company was seen by a NEW-YORK TIMES reporter yesterday about sidewalk obstructions near the New-York side of the ferry. He said that, while the company did not suffer materially from the effect of this obstruction, yet it was true that the patrons of the company experienced much inconvenience in going to and fro.

Produce Men Complain.

The produce men in the neighborhood of Washington Market, beyond the market limits, are complaining of the movement against sidewalk obstruction. Their complaint is, if they are forced to confine their business exclusively to their narrow stores, their business will be much curtailed. On the other hand, they say, their rivals in business within the market limits may use any portion of the sidewalk they choose for a selling place. If any one attempts to disturb them they simply produce a permit. If the law declares all sidewalks to be for unobstructed travel, why does the city itself license violations, they ask.

The force of the foregoing argument can be more easily appreciated by a walk on any of the streets approaching Washington Market—West Street, for example. As is well known, there is a sidewalk on one side of West Street. The other side is taken up by steamship piers and ferry houses. The sidewalk of West Street is always crowded with pedestrians.

Starting with Hugh McCarren, 164 West Street, who is in the produce business, the sidewalk is comparatively clear. By this is meant the pedestrian is allowed a safe, if narrow, passageway. J. H. Killough, at 158, is six doors nearer Washington Market, and has encroached a little more upon public rights. His neighbors, A. Bennett, at 156, the Valentine Produce Company at 155, also join in the increasing size of the barricade. Titus Brothers, at 154, exceed the ratio of increase. They not only pile heavy barrels on the sidewalk, but outside of the curb line as well. From this this point down to Washington Market there is a steady increase in the size of sidewalk obstructions. It is unnecessary to name the squatters, for that would simply be a business directory of the street. The Wesels Company is next the northwest corner of Park Place and Washington Street. Its number is 244 Washington. This firm does not differ from its neighbors in that it has constructed a serpentine course past its place of business. McCormick, Hubbs & Co., at 250 Washington Street; Charles Parsons & Sons, and a saloon on the corner of Murray Street, are no exceptions to the rule. They all use the sidewalk.

Reade Street to be Avoided.

Reade Street, from Greenwich to West Street, is certainly to be avoided, unless the pedestrian does not object to walking sideways the greater part of the time. H. Oberscheimer, at 165, starts the series by taking up half the sidewalk with some barrels of vegetables. George A. Moss, at 167, continues it. Then follow in regular order Edwin Scott, P. N. Greene, Drohan & Co., at 173 and 175, at the corner of Washington Street. On the north side of this block the same conditions prevail. At the corner is, of course, a saloon. For a wonder, this corner is clear. At the rear end of the place, however, is a sidewalk storage house for empty barrels. Goldsborough & Co. take up the broken thread here, and place some of their stock on the sidewalk. So do P. W. Sahrbeck at 168, R. M. Mattage, who is especially noticeable for his sidewalk adornment, and R. M. Goodheart at 172.

From Washington Street down the sidewalks of Reade Street might well be the interior of one vast produce house. George Allison & Co., on the northwest corner, start one aisle of the store; M. F. Foley & Co., add to it. D. S. Meltzer & Co. continue it, and from them it is passed into the willing hands of Milteer, Roberts & Co., Thomas P. Wallace, Robert Curtis, Nathan Kronman, and the Magnolia Hotel. In front of the hotel, it might be expected, there would be a break in the breastworks, but this is not the case. If any thing, the barrier there is higher and wider than the rest. Long & Fountain complete the line.

On the north side of this same block J. Frinn & Co., at 178, are not outdone by any in the extent of their sidewalk block; Bernard Abel & Co., at 180 Reade Street, do not permit their neighbors to excel them; Hinton & Fay are equally imitative, as are J. & G. Lippman, at 184, C. H. Wadsworth, H. C. Vogel & Co., and a steamship ticket office on the corner. The Reade Street side of this place has rows of barrels and boxes lining the sidewalk. A characteristic mark of all stores in this district, no matter what business they are in, is a row of barrels on the sidewalk.

Gave Bad Checks for Goods.

Several New-York merchants are sorry that William Winkler of the recently dissolved firm of Winkler & Huber of Hartford, Conn., had any dealings with them. Winkler called at the store of Plaut & Stretch, dealers in spices, at 80 Pearl Street, and bought $75 worth of goods, which he ordered shipped to Hartford.

"Winkler gave Mr. Plaut a check for $80," said the Superintendent yesterday, "and received $5 change. We did not send the goods, but sent the check to the Hartford Trust Company. It came back dishonored. He bought a bill of goods from Jackson & Company, butchers, at 626 Tenth Avenue, and gave them a check. A man sent to Hartford in a hurry recovered the goods in the station.

Beckstein & Company, dealers in sausage casings, at 12 Coenties Slip, also would like to see Mr. Winkler.

Among the passengers who will sail to-day on the North German Lloyd steamship Havel, for Bremen, via Southampton, are Mr. and Mrs. Poultney Bigelow, Edward Ebling, Alfred L. Seton, Mrs. C. L. St. Clair, and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Tietjen.

FOR FORNES; AGAINST QUIGG.

Letter to National Democrats in the 14th Congressional District.

National Democrats who have been affiliated with the Honest Money League are earnestly combating the efforts of some of the officers of the organization in supporting L. E. Quigg for Congress in the Fourteenth District. The following letter was sent yesterday to a number of the voters in the district:

My Dear Sir: Mr. Charles V. Fornes has been nominated by the National Democratic Party for member of Congress, in the Fourteenth Congressional District, in this city. He did not seek the nomination. He was urged to take it by honest-money Democrats, who wished to have the district represented by a sound-money man who was in every way fitted to represent it on all questions coming before Congress in an intelligent manner.

The present Representative in the Fourteenth District, Mr. L. E. Quigg, who is a candidate for re-election, is a political mountebank of the worst kind—utterly unfit to represent the district in any capacity whatever. His address to his constituents is as full of charlatanism as any paper ever written by an Altgeld or a Tillman. If nothing else reveals the character of the man and his utter unfitness to represent any district in this country as a member of Congress this address does.

The Evening Post and THE NEW-YORK TIMES advise all respectable citizens to vote for Charles V. Fornes. His candidacy has been assailed by the Democratic Honest Money League of America, through its President. The influence of the league in this city is confined to its membership, not many more than a dozen.

Mr. Fornes was born in this State; he is a wholesale merchant, doing a large business, and is thoroughly conversant with the needs of this city and country. He is eminently qualified to represent the district in Congress with credit to himself and honor to every man who votes for him. There is one way by which Mr. Fornes can be elected. That is by every voter who desires to have the Fourteenth Congressional District represented by a man who is honored and respected as a merchant, a good citizen, and a faithful official, by all who know him, putting party ties aside and voting for him.

H. J. Sayers has addressed a letter to the editor of THE NEW-YORK TIMES, saying that he withdraws his support from Mr. Fornes, averring that a promise made to him has not been kept.

CAMPAIGN MAIL DELIVERED.

Feeling Among Jersey City Officials, However, Has Not Lessened.

The last pieces of the delayed mail of the Republican County Committee, held since last Thursday at the Jersey City Post Office, were delivered yesterday morning.

Martin Finck, who returned to his post in the office of the Finance Board yesterday morning, said Postmaster Robert S. Jordan's statement that he wanted the matter held until Monday was not true. He says he went to the Post Office Thursday to arrange for the delivery of the matter, and told the Postmaster that he wanted the matter delivered Saturday, and that Mr. Jordan told him it would be impossible to deliver it before Monday. Mr. Finck says he notified Mr. Woolley, Chairman of the committee, and left the matter in Mr. Woolley's hands.

Postmaster Jordan says that as Mr. Finck did not return he supposed Monday would be soon enough. He denies that he received any message from Chairman Woolley. He also says he suggested that time could be saved by sending the matter intended for delivery in Hoboken and Bayonne directly to the Post Offices in those cities. Chief Clerk Frank Hay corroborates Mr. Jordan's statement that the only person who called at the office to make arrangements for mailing the matter was Mr. Finck.

OLD LOVERS TO WED.

Miss Eliza Watson Will Marry Wesley Watson Her Cousin.

The engagement is announced of Miss Eliza Watson, a sister of Messrs. Frank and Harry Watson, and of Mrs. Charles Watson and Mrs. Taylor, to her cousin, Wesley Watson of Ireland. Mr. Watson is a widower and brother of Charles Watson, who married Miss Eliza Watson's elder sister. The wedding will be celebrated early in January, and after a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Watson will sail for England, where they will permanently reside.

Miss Watson's engagement to her cousin is the result of a visit to Ireland last Summer. She sailed on July 16 last on the St. Louis with her brother, Frank, and soon after the steamer had sailed it was discovered by the police here that some jewelry had been stolen from the trunk of a passenger on that steamer. This proved on investigation to be Miss Watson's, and the thieves were apprehended. Harry Watson, who was in New-York, cabled his sister on her arrival at Southampton of the loss and recovery of her jewels before she had known that her trunks, which were in the hold, had been broken open.

Wesley Watson, hearing of his cousin's loss and recovery of her jewels, went to London to congratulate her. Their meeting revived an old romance, for they had loved each other as a boy and girl. Both Mr. Watson and his fiancée inherited large fortunes from their respective parents.

CITY SALARIES NOT PAID

Mayor Gleason's Warrants Not Honored by the Treasurer.

Treasurer Knapp of Long Island City yesterday refused to honor the salary warrants issued by Mayor Gleason, and payable from the salary fund. Among those who did not get their salaries were Mayor Gleason, his clerks, and employes of the Water Department, the Improvement Commission, the Police Commissioners, and the Aldermen. Two-thirds of the salaries of the police force have been paid, and the teachers and members of the Fire Department were paid in full.

Treasurer Knapp said the salary fund was exhausted, and that only 73 per cent. of the taxes had been paid. There is a small prospect that the police, teachers, and firemen will receive their November and December salaries until next March. They may be compelled to sell their warrants at a discount.

Charged with Burning Her Dog.

Mrs. Nancy Wilson of 502 Hancock Street, Long Island City, was arraigned before a Police Justice in that city yesterday, charged with cruelty to animals. The complainant against her was Agent Dussing of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He alleged that Saturday afternoon Mrs. Wilson, becoming angry at her mastiff, poured kerosene on the kennel of the dog and then set it afire. The dog was burned, and neighbors made a complaint. The woman denied the charge against her, and the hearing in the case was postponed until Saturday.

Funeral of George S. Fraser.

The funeral of George S. Fraser, who committed suicide in London Oct. 11, was held in the Brick Presbyterian Church at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, pastor of the church, and Dean Murray of Princeton officiating. There were no pallbearers. The interment was in Greenwood Cemetery. Mr. Fraser was at the time of his death a member of the firm of Fraser & Co., leather merchants, at 66 Maiden Lane.

AFTER THE TIMES PRIZE

MOTTOES BY THE HUNDREDS POURING IN.

Contest over the Best Phrase to Replace "All the News That's Fit to Print" Increases in Vigor as the Date of Closing, Nov. 7, Draws Near—Some of the Latest Suggestions from Would-Be Prize Winners.

The number of suggestions for a motto to be used in THE NEW-YORK TIMES's electric sign on Madison Square was increased several hundred yesterday. Since the announcement that the contest would close on Nov. 7, the postal cards bearing suggestions have been received in greater numbers than ever.

Many of the contestants for the one-hundred-dollar prize have wholly ignored the request for a motto or phrase of only ten words or less. The motto now in use—"All the News That's Fit to Print"—expresses concisely one of the distinguishing characteristics of THE NEW-YORK TIMES. But it is thought that some one of THE TIMES's many readers may suggest a motto more apt and comprehensive without greatly increasing the number of letters or words.

Only one suggestion is requested from each contestant.

Here are some of the latest suggestions:

"You don't have to apologize for reading it."

"A Free Lance for Purity and Truth."

"Prints All That's Patriotic, Pure, and Pertinent; Nothing Else."

"Clean, Careful, Complete," is the suggestion of a Mount Vernon reader.

"Interests All, Promotes Good, Suppresses Evil."

"Select Reading, Delights the Old, Instructs the Young."

"Sure, Sound, Reliable, Wholesome News for Thinking People."

A Hoboken subscriber writes this: "News of This Paper Read, May Be Spread."

"All the Truth at Its Best."

"News
Of the Times
By THE TIMES
For the Time."

"Brightest, Wittiest, Cleanest, Best; Always Can Be Read with Zest."

"Truest, Purest, and Best."

"Seeks the Good and Shuns the Profane."

"Honest, Clean, Bright, Safe to Take Home at Night."

A subscriber of a poetic turn makes this suggestion:

"We use
All News
Fit to Peruse."

Some other poetic suggestions are:

"In THE TIMES seen
But News That's Clean."

"It Fits Its Pages
For Minds of All Ages."

"If in THE TIMES seen, Guarantees It's Clean."

"All Fit News up to Date,
We Concentrate, Then Circulate."

Some more prosy suggestions are:

"Society's Guide; Scandal's Foe; Honesty's Vindicator."

"If It's Worth Reading It's in THE TIMES."

"Prints All the News That's Worth Reading."

"There Are Others—But THE TIMES Beats Them All."

"A Healthy Record of the World's Events."

"THE NEW-YORK TIMES in Dignity, Purity, Patriotism, and News Leads Them All."

"All the Truth, and Nothing but the Truth."

"All the News Without a Nuisance."

"The People's Purest Publication."

"The Proof of a Paper Is in the Reading."

"Honesty in Politics, Purity in Journalism."

"The Right Paper for Intelligent, Energetic, and Self Respecting Citizens."

"The News of All Interests, Without Scandal or Slander."

"A Clean, Reliable Newspaper for Business and the Household."

"The Tone of THE TIMES Will Tone the Times."

"A Broad, Liberal, Bright, Clean Newspaper."

"All the News,
The True News,
Nothing but the News."

"The Wheat of News Threshed of Chaff."

"A Clean Paper for Clean People."

"All the News—Interesting, Progressive, Patriotic, Pure, and Truthful."

"The Only Family Paper Published."

"Get THE TIMES, the Family Paper, Clean, Courageous, and Impartial."

"The Best Exponent of Pure and Progressive American Journalism."

"THE TIMES Gives You All the News That's Clean and True."

MOTHER AND SON BURIED.

Double Funeral Services over Ernestine and Abraham L. Fox.

The funeral services over the bodies of Abraham L. Fox, twenty-eight years old, of 1,756 Madison Avenue, and of his mother, Ernestine Fox, sixty years old, were held at their late residence at noon yesterday. The young man died on Thursday last, of what is said to have been hasty consumption, and his death was concealed from his mother, who lay seriously ill in a room in the same flat, and who died two days later.

The bodies yesterday lay side by side in two caskets, which were covered by white cloth, on which were inscribed the names, ages, and dates of death of the deceased. All the pictures and mirrors in the flat were covered with white cloth, and as is the custom with the Hebrews, all the men wore their hats through the ceremony. The services were simple, consisting only of addresses by Solomon Kuntz, seventy-seven years old, who is an old friend of the Fox family, and Dr. J. C. Lewinsky, the physician who attended Mrs. Fox and her son in their last illness. After the services, the remains of the deceased were removed to Cypress Hills Cemetery for interment.

Held for Passing Bad Checks.

William E. Valentine, who gave his address as 1,900 Lexington Avenue, this city, was held in default of $1,000 bail in the Ewen Street Police Court, in Brooklyn, yesterday. He was accused of passing a worthless check for $24 in H. Batterman's store, Broadway and Flushing Avenue, Brooklyn. He is the common-law husband of May Wintge, who attempted suicide at 120 Ralph Avenue last Wednesday because she feared arrest on the charge of passing worthless checks. Valentine admitted his intimacy with the girl, but denied any knowledge of the checks. Miss Wintge is in St. Mary's Hospital rapidly recovering from the self-inflicted wound.

Secretary Lamont Comes to Vote.

Secretary of War Daniel S. Lamont and his private secretary, John Sieger, arrived at the Hoffman House yesterday evening. They will vote from the Hoffman House to-morrow and return to Washington by an early train. The Secretary received a number of visitors last night and to them he expressed himself as very confident of a sweeping sound-money victory.

Russia Sanctions a Chess Match.

In a late dispatch to Secretary Olney, Clifton R. Breckinridge, Minister to Russia, inclosed a copy of a letter from Count W. Lansdorff of the Imperial Ministry of Foreign Affairs, to the effect that a match at chess, between Brooklyn and St. Petersburg will have the sanction of the Russian Government.

SEVEN-STORY WALL LEANS.

Tearing Down a New Building Twelve Inches Out of Plumb.

Six members of the Building Department were engaged most of the day yesterday in superintending the tearing down of a new unfinished building at 508 and 510 Broome Street, that had become dangerously out of plumb. The east wall leaned twelve inches.

Had the dangerous condition of the building not been discovered in time, all the Inspectors say, it would have toppled over and crashed into two adjoining buildings and upon the tracks of the elevated railroad, and would have probably killed several persons.

The building was begun last May on the north side of Broome Street, and fifty feet to the west of West Broadway, and was designed for a seven-story building, to be used as stores and lofts for merchandise. At 506 is a gold leaf factory, and at 504 is a saloon that fronts on West Broadway.

Inspector Foans heard that the building was out of plumb on Saturday. Occupants of neighboring buildings were ordered out, and the tearing down begun. The street on both sides of the building was closed to traffic, and even to pedestrians, as within a few hours it was calculated the walls would pass the centre of gravity and would fall. The walls were temporarily sustained by wire cables and thick ropes.

Machine-made cement was used on all stories above the first, where lime cement was used. It may be necessary to tear down to the first story. Mr. Rutherford thought that the listing of the green walls had been caused by the vibration of the heavy hoisting machinery, which was placed in the top of the building, instead of the ground floor. This had been done to save expense.

The specifications filed in the Department of Buildings showed that George H. Anderson of 224 East Thirty-ninth Street is the owner, A. F. Leight of 97 Cedar Street is the architect, and James McKibben, who gets his mail in an office at 132 Nassau Street, is the builder.

KINDERGARTEN EXHIBITION.

Society for Improving Condition of the Poor Shows Some Results.

An exhibition of the kindergarten work done during the Summer by the children in the vacation schools under the care of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor was opened yesterday in the rooms of the association in the United Charities Building, Twenty-second Street and Fourth Avenue. The exhibition will be continued during November, from 10 A. M. until 4 P. M.

The work shown consists of samples of drawings, map studies, sewing, fancy work, modeling in clay, and carpentry. The clay models consist mainly of animal heads, but especially noticeable is a lizard, modeled from life, by the boy who caught the lizard. In carpentry, there are excellent samples of the dovetail joint. The work was all done with compasses, rule and a cheap jackknife. In sewing, the exhibit is especially good. The children in each case were allowed to chose what they would make. Their taste ran principally to doll and baby clothes, but there are also bed quilts so well made that they will be used at the association's seaside home at Coney Island.

The committee for this year consists of Howard Townsend, Chairman; Pierre Jay, James A. Scrymser, De Witt J. Seligman, and George W. Wickersham.

OFFICERS SEIZE JEWELRY.

Several Steamship Passengers Detected with Concealed Valuables.

Customs Inspectors Brown, Donohue, Hanley, and Murray yesterday deposited a quantity of jewelry in the seizure room at the Barge Office. The articles were taken from first cabin passengers who had secreted them about their persons.

From R. Nicoll, who arrived Sunday on La Bourgogne, were taken a diamond, a diamond necklace, a pair of diamond earrings, eight diamond studs, two pairs of diamond sleeve buttons, one gold chain and locket, and a watch chain. Lange Lemain, a passenger on the same vessel, had concealed about his clothes twelve rings, a gold watch and chain, and a gold chain and locket. Victor Zelaya arrived on the Augusta Victoria. He had failed to declare three brooches.

All the men said they were going out of the country, and wished to put the property in bond, but as they had failed to signify their desire at the time of making their declarations, and had secreted the property, their plea was not considered.

WILL MAKE POSTERS.

Young Women's Christian Association Extends Its Work.

The first regular monthly meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association since last June was held yesterday in the association's rooms, 7 East Fifteenth Street. The art instruction department will be extended during the coming year by the addition of poster features. The report on the Asbury Park Summer Home showed that over 300 women spent part of the Summer there.

Mrs. Sinbler, the Canadian member of the International Board, told the association in a lecture how she managed the cooking classes. The association desires to extend its work in the west side settlement, and Mrs. Sinbler will assist. More money is needed for the extension of this work. It was announced that the Columbian Fair Committee had awarded the St. Gaudens bronze medal for proficiency in educational work to the International Board.

Work on Harlem Driveway Resumed.

Work on the first section of the Harlem Driveway was resumed yesterday morning. A new contract was signed Saturday between James D. Leary and Commissioner S. V. R. Cruger. Work was stopped in June, 1895, because it was found that the plan to use a wooden crib was defective. Mr. Leary, when seen yesterday by a reporter for THE NEW-YORK TIMES, said:

"We resumed work on the first section this morning with forty men. We have on the ground all the plant necessary to complete the work. By Wednesday I shall have 150 men at work. Allowing for delays from cold weather, I expect to finish the first section in a year."

Verdict for Mrs. Kissam.

Judgment was given yesterday by Justice Clement, in the Supreme Court, in Brooklyn, for the defendant in the suit of William V. Kissam against his wife, Leila H. Kissam. Mr. Kissam alleged abandonment and Mrs. Kissam denied his charge and asked for a separation on the grounds of cruelty. Justice Clement provides that the judgment may be annulled on the joint petition of both the parties. Their only child is awarded to the mother, who is to retain all the property she holds at present and to receive alimony of $1,600 a year from the income her husband draws from the estate of the late W. H. Vanderbilt.

Harper & Brothers' Mortgage.

Harper & Brothers, the publishers, filed in the office of the County Clerk yesterday a consent of the members of the firm, Horatio, Henry S., and James Harper, to mortgage the property of the firm for $3,000,000, bonds to be issued for the indebtedness, payable in January, 1997.

TO ENFORCE THE LEASE

VANDALIA COMPANY ACCUSED OF MIXING FUNDS.

Complainant Company Alleges Default Has Been Made in the Payment of the Guaranteed Interest on Bonds—Committee of Holders Formed and Will Push the Case in the United States Courts—No Dividends Paid.

In regard to the suit brought in the United States Circuit Court at Indianapolis for a receiver for the Vandalia Company, it is learned from official sources that the suit is to enforce the provisions of the lease of the Terre Haute and Peoria Railroad to the Terre Haute and Indianapolis Company, which provides that the lessee company shall set apart 30 per cent. of the annual gross earnings of the leased line, and apply it toward interest on the bonds of the lessor company, taxes, &c.

The bill of complaint alleges that the lessee has failed in its obligations, having mingled with its own funds the moneys which should have been set apart for the benefit of the lessor company.

The Terre Haute and Indianapolis Railroad Company is also the lessee of the Terre Haute and Logansport Railroad, and the Indiana and Lake Michigan Railway, under similar contracts to that with the Terre Haute and Peoria Railroad. The bill of complaint alleges that with regard to these leases the lessee company has also violated its contracts.

The Pennsylvania Company about three years ago purchased a controlling interest in the stock of the Terre Haute and Indianapolis Railroad Company, assuming control of the operations of the property. Since August, 1893, no dividends have been paid on the stock of the Terre Haute and Indianapolis Railroad, and since July 1 last default has been made in the payment of the guaranteed interest on the bonds of the Terre Haute and Logansport, the Terre Haute and Peoria, and the Indiana and Lake Michigan Railway.

Committees of holders of these respective issues of bonds have been formed, and a vigorous effort will be made to enforce the leases and guarantees.

Upward of $1,500,000 first mortgage bonds of the Terre Haute and Peoria Railroad Company have been deposited with a committee, composed of Mark T. Cox, James A. Blair, and James W. Paul, Jr., who are complainants in the present litigation. They are represented in the suit by Strong & Cadwallader of New-York and John G. Williams of Terre Haute.

COAL PRICES TO ADVANCE.

Joint Convention Will Be Called After This Election.

"Both miners and operators of the Pittsburg district," says The Coal Trade Journal, in discussing the anthracite coal trade, "agree that the present condition of affairs cannot last long, and that some movement that will raise the price of mining and the selling price of coal is absolutely imperative to save the trade from complete demoralization. Joint conventions, looking to this end, will be called immediately after election. This means that the old uniformity movement is to be reopened for discussion in its entirety."

The Journal further says that the tonnage for the West has been forwarded and that the New-England trade will have received its supply within ten days.

"This," the article says, "would therefore necessitate the shipment of the entire output of the anthracite collieries to the tide-water market, and from indications at present in hand this will be so much in excess of possible requirements that it will require the greatest efforts on the part of the producers to hold the August list of prices, which has ruled within the past sixty days."

The output of anthracite up to date is 35,100,366 tons against 37,295,144 tons in 1895, and 33,431,434 tons in 1894.

Ryan to Pay $125 a Share.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2.—Louis McLane, Chairman of the committee with which a majority of the common stock of the Seaboard and Roanoke Railway Company is pooled, has addressed a circular letter to the stockholders, officially announcing that Thomas F. Ryan of New-York and associates have proposed to purchase the stock pooled under the agreement of Oct. 2 at $125 a share in cash. This removes all doubt as to the price agreed upon. It is believed the transaction will be closed by the middle of the month.

Passes for Freight Shippers.

An agreement between several of the Western railroads has been in operation for the last two years, restricting and regulating the issuance of passes to persons who directly or indirectly influence the routeing of traffic. A meeting is to be held in St. Louis on Nov. 10 to consider the renewal of the agreement for another year. The lawful restriction of the issuance of passes to freight shippers has been a perplexing problem to railroad men ever since the Inter-State Commerce act went into force.

Railroad Men and Matters.

—The Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company declared yesterday a semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent., payable Nov. 30.

—At Chicago last week railroads delivered 7,704,000 bushels of grain, an increase of 1,536,000 bushels over 1895; 302,195 head of live stock, 2,496,782 pounds of canned meats, and 863,980 pounds of lard.

—The Marietta and North Georgia Railroad will be known as the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Railroad. H. K. McHarg is its President and E. C. Spalding Vice President. The new owners of the road took possession of it on Saturday, after paying another installment of $100,000.

—Assets of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg Railway Sept. 30 were $24,641,397, including cost of road, $22,630,577; stocks and bonds, $1,003,654, and cash, $8,978. Liabilities include $12,000,000 capital, common and preferred, funded debt $10,968,500, and due for wages and supplies $355,723. The profit and loss surplus was $271,037.

—The officials of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company state that there is no truth in the report that they sent experts to Algoma, Ont., to examine coal lands and take an option for the purchase of the same; the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has never had the lands examined or made any offer of purchase, and know nothing about them.

The New-York Tribune announces that it has secured the entire first edition of Scribner's History of the United States, which will be offered to members of Tribune clubs at much below the regular price. Any person desiring to examine the books with a view to subscribing may send a message by telephone to the office of The Tribune Scribner's History Club, and a messenger will be sent to his address, with a set of the books for examination. By sending in a signal to the nearest American District Messenger office made by pulling the lever of the call-box five times, a messenger will bring to the house of the sender of the signal specimen volumes of the history for examination. THE FINANCIAL MARKETS

Monday's stock market active and buoyant. Election anticipations ruled. Steep money rates—opening at 25 and rising to 96 per cent. before falling to 6—exerted slight influence.

That the financial world entertains no doubt about election results was made amply plain in yesterday's stock market. There was strength everywhere, and in some quarters unrestrainable buoyancy. About the only quotation on the whole list that declined was that for silver.

Business was not active merely in spots. Transactions were well distributed. This was significant of careful investment procedure rather than speculative trading.

In many stocks advances of a full point at a time were scored—showing how bare Wall Street really is of a supply of floating securities. Stocks not frequently dealt in went up smartly. A single hundred shares of Minneapolis and St. Louis first preferred stock was a purchase big enough to make an advance of 3 whole points. The same trifling transaction in Illinois Steel caused a rise of over 4, and 300 Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg jumped its price up 5, while 100 Oregon Navigation was enough to boost that quotation 6 full points. There is the flavor of old times in this.

All of the active stocks joined in the substantial betterment, and when the Stock Exchange adjourned for the day—adjourned over election—it was with confidence in National patriotism, and enthusiastic anticipations of what the effects of that patriotism put in action are sure to be.

THE WHOLE WORLD WATCHING.

In the activity and buoyancy marking the close of the stock market on the eve of the election large influence has been exerted by great banking firms having intimate relations with Europe.

How does the foreign financial world regard the situation here?

What will be the effect abroad of a sweeping victory for honest finance here?

To questions like these there is one answer only: Europe is waiting and watching—and on the warrant of a vote not to be doubted European capital will start this way in a tremendous tide. It will come to take bargains in our security markets. It will come for free investment in general business. It will come backed by confidence that here are rewards not only large but absolutely safe.

Aptly and tersely the whole situation is summed up by Mr. Jacob H. Schiff, head of the international banking house of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.:

"With election results what honest and patriotic Americans desire them to be, there need be no fear of misapprehension about how Europe will act. There will be an end to hesitation and doubts. Europe's capital will come to us promptly. Europe will buy our stocks and our bonds, buy largely, and buy to hold."

Said Mr. Ernst Thalmann, head of the banking house of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co.:

"An overwhelming majority for McKinley means confidence that will at once bring extensive foreign buying. The prospect is bright. Europe is ready to act with us, if we are willing to act right."

Mr. Leo Speyer, of Simon Borg & Co., says:

"Advices from abroad are all of one tenor—all encouraging. If we win the honest money victory we count upon we will find a quick and unhesitating response from investors on the other side of the sea. They will come in not as speculators merely, but as buyers, disposed to hold on a long time. Their influence in our security markets will be felt at once and will be lasting."

Mr. Isidor Wormser, head of the firm of I. & S. Wormser, enthusiastic over the outlook, puts it this way:

"No man can count the good results that are coming promptly to us from our vote for integrity and prosperity.

"Here at home we will have 1879 over again—good times on a tremendous scale, and not for Wall Street merely, but for the whole country—for the merchant and the manufacturer, and for every man who employs or is employed.

"Europe will take a larger part in our investment markets than anybody estimates. European capital is shy of American securities only for the very causes that we are now voting out of existence. Just as soon as we are on record at the ballot box as a Nation spurning the temptations of rascally politicians we will win the confidence of European investors to the extent that their preferences will tend in this direction. And the time is ripe. They have had sad experiences of recent years in quarters that seemed for a while more attractive than here. They have paid heavy penalties. Spain and the Argentine have proved unhappy investments, and the Kafir circus has spread ruin round.

"What the European investor wants now is more than a possible profit; he is looking for safety. And that is what our pending vote for honest finance assures. The foreign capitalist needs no prompting. He is no laggard at discernment, and when opportunities appear he never lacks proper appreciation. Now he will join hands with us unhesitatingly. Not millions, but hundreds of millions, sent over here will be Europe's response to our patriotic declaration of honesty.

"No man," I repeat, "can count the good results that are coming."

Mr. Jefferson Seligman of the firm of J. & W. Seligman & Co. said:

"We are going to have an immense victory for McKinley and we are going to have an immense amount of foreign buying afterward. All that is needed is the election. Europe is only waiting for the returns. Then her capitalists will buy American securities without question.

"They will buy our stocks and our bonds and they will invest in our enterprises. They will buy all kinds of securities. I think the coming New-York City bonds will be largely taken in London, and I think that a great deal of foreign capital will be invested in our municipal bond department. Just as soon as we elect McKinley by a great majority, and convince the world of our honesty, capitalists will come to us with their money, to invest it with us.

"In my opinion this country is on the eve of the most prosperous era in its history. We have everything in our favor and nothing against us.

"We will have after to-morrow faith in ourselves and the confidence of the world.

"We already have the whole world buying our crops and sending us its gold. We are about to have a great and far-reaching revival in our business that will make a firm foundation for our future prosperity. Everything is ready. We are only waiting for the election of McKinley—awaiting a death blow to this silver heresy—and that is assured."

Confident and notable are these assurances from important sources, closely allied with foreign financial powers.

They add interest to expressions from a high authority whose opinions cannot be set down to National enthusiasm—Mr. M. G. C. Glyn of Glyn, Mills, Currie & Co., the oldest and one of the most substantial banking houses in London. Mr. Glyn is at present visiting this country as a guest of Mr. John H. Davis. He talked yesterday to a representative of THE NEW-YORK TIMES regarding sentiment in European financial circles toward American investments and the probable effect in London of an overwhelming honest money victory. Mr. Glyn said:

"In discussing the question of foreign buying of American securities in the event of Mr. McKinley's election, you must take into consideration one very important fact. English capital has learned to be decidedly timid regarding investments abroad. Ventures of the past few years have cost much money. English investors have been caught and hurt in many ways, and they have become skeptical. Their South American investments have proved very unfortunate, and in several cases they have lost in securities from the United States.

"It was this timidity and nervousness that made them so easily frightened at the time of the Chicago Convention. It took only the threat of repudiation to increase their fears and make them disposed to sell out their lines of American investments. They had no confidence nor any real knowledge of the situation here, and they were quick to take alarm at the suggestion that they were to receive back from their investments only one-half of their outlay.

"This lack of confidence has to be overcome and London's investors have to be assured that there is no danger of America repudiating her debts.

"If Mr. McKinley is elected by a majority that will effectually silence the silver agitation, I think you will find Europe promptly buying American stocks and investing in American enterprises. The South African shares do not now attract English investors as formerly, which gives securities on your side of the water more chances than they had a year ago. In addition to this, there is a great deal of idle capital in Europe, and investments at home do not offer the inducements in the way of interest that those abroad do. With prosperity ahead and your financial question settled, America should offer a very promising field to the European capitalist.

"Industrial conditions in England are improving, and we are feeling the beginning of a revival. This makes money there worth more than it has been in the past few years. Still, I think there will be much European capital come to America for your stocks and bonds and to go into your industrial enterprises. Of course, it will not all come in a day. European confidence must be restored. The defeat of Mr. Bryan will be the great encouraging factor. Then, as the prosperity of America becomes more apparent, the confidence of Europe's capital will be strengthened.

"England is watching the silver fight in America with much interest. Her financiers fear that a victory for the Bryan party here would have a very bad effect in their own country in view of the agitation for bimetallism now going on there. So, apart from the harm that would be done their American investments, the English people have other direct interests in the politics of your country.

"I think you can count with assurance on European capital coming to America just as soon as you stamp out this agitation for repudiation—for its success would be recognized abroad as repudiation by America of her debts to the whole world."

The tonic views of international bankers and the encouraging tenor of opinion from a London banker of importance are supplemented by confident assurances from an American observer—a member of the New-York Stock Exchange—Mr. J. F. A. Clark, of Clark, Ward & Co., who has just returned to New-York after an eighteen months' stay abroad.

"What is the attitude of European investors and financiers toward American investments, and what is the probability of a foreign buying movement after the election?" Mr. Clark was asked yesterday. He answered:

"Everything depends on the size of McKinley's majority. Everything depends on stamping out the silver craze. If the victory for sound money is overwhelming we will see large and immediate European buying. But on the other side they want more than the mere assurances that the silver agitation is to be suppressed for two or three years. They want to know that it will not be brought up again at the next National election to threaten the safety of investments. The whole question must be fully disposed of—the agitation killed.

"If this is the result of the election, I think we will see foreign capital come in plenty to be invested in the United States—not only in stocks and bonds, but in new enterprises, and in established industries—and principally in the latter. Just before I left London I talked with a great many representative men in the financial world. From what they said, I think they will be glad to take up new American issues—new bonds and new stocks—as well as to invest again in the stocks already known to them.

"European financiers realize the opportunity offered by this country. They realize the great chances for our future prosperity. They realize that conditions are now most favorable for a boom—our weak railroads reorganized on new and sound foundations, benefits coming from the vast crop movement, and the high prices that our products are commanding; our gold importations, and other abundant tonic influences in the situation. They know that all we need is to get this financial question out of the way and settled as it should be.

"There was considerable apprehension about American investments in London financial circles just after the Chicago Convention. English capitalists have had trouble with a diversified collection of foreign securities in the past few years, and they have seen depreciating prices and bad times in America since their Baring troubles were reflected here. They have been skeptical, and a threat that this country might go on a silver basis awakened acute apprehension. They sold many American securities, and it was only natural that they should.

"The election of Mr. McKinley by an overwhelming majority will change all this. It will give Europe fresh confidence in this country and induce foreign capital to invest largely here. Of course, the mere election of McKinley will exert a good effect on stocks—particularly those with international listings—but it will not be what is necessary to bring large amounts of foreign capital to this country. We must show Europe that we are entirely honest and that we overwhelmingly rebuke schemes that aim at repudiation.

"Without this accomplished we cannot hope to convince foreign capitalists of the special desirability of American investments.

"With it accomplished, we will witness a movement of foreign capital here on a scale wholly unprecedented—on a scale not to be estimated."

A LETTER FROM WALL STREET.

To William Jennings Bryan:

You cannot press down on the lips of honest, God-fearing men—silence.

You cannot crucify on a cross of silver—the honor and integrity of a great Nation.

On the heads of those who seek dishonor shall be pressed the curse of self-accusation.

The blood-red hand shall not triumph over the white and spotless.

The Almighty God in heaven will vindicate and save from disgrace a Nation where the majority intend to be honest.

You cannot and shall not stamp fraud on the brows of the people—because only a few are deserving of it.

The American Nation will be vindicated at the polls. The flag that waves over us, and was riddled at "Sumter" by bullets, whose fragments have been gathered together, the hatred buried, and which now as a unit waves over the land, is proclaiming proudly: "We fought bravely divided; we now fight in unity for the Nation's honor. We will proclaim to the world our new battle cry:

"Our honor and our life are both in one;
Take honor from us, and our life is done."

WALL STREET TALK.

Government bonds sold at the highest prices yesterday that have been touched in over a year. That doesn't suggest much Bryanism in election prospects, does it?

While call money rates were above 90 per cent. yesterday, a representative of I. & S. Wormser appeared on the Stock Exchange and loaned $1,000,000 at 6.

Chicago Gas rose to its high price for the year yesterday, and the friends of Gov. Flower will give him cordial greetings on his return from the West to-morrow morning.

Frequent "cash" sales made on the Stock Exchange yesterday suggested how loath traders were to go over election on the short side.

It is a long time since the whole list has not provided a single decline in either stocks or bonds of as much as one-half of 1 per cent. That was yesterday's record.

Bay State Gas jumps up about half a dozen points. It looks as if the public believes that Mr. J. Edward Addicks is really out.

EXPORTS OF MERCHANDISE.

Exports of general merchandise from the Port of New-York for the week were valued at $6,884,357 against $8,040,417 in the preceding week and $6,985,947 in the corresponding week of last year. The total exports since Jan. 1 were valued at $302,819,311 against $288,530,473 in the corresponding period of last year.

FINANCIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

—The Bank of the State of New-York has declared a dividend of 8 per cent.

—American Type Founders' Company will pay Coupon No. 1, due Nov. 1, of its 6 per cent. sinking fund bonds at the Mercantile Trust Company.

—In view of the extraordinary interest in the election a number of Stock Exchange houses have arranged to open temporary offices up town this evening, where they will not only receive election returns, but also take orders for execution in the London markets. Price, McCormick & Co. announce that they will keep open their regular offices at 72 Broadway, and one at Room 608 in the Postal Telegraph Building, 253 Broadway, and another in Parlor 8 of the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co. will open a temporary office at Room 34, Fifth Avenue Hotel, for their clients and members of the New-York Stock Exchange who may desire to operate through them in the London market. J. S. Bache & Co. will keep their branch office at the Plaza Hotel open all night, and will receive full reports of the London and Liverpool markets of to-day. A. A. Housman & Co. will maintain a temporary office on the ground floor of the Hoffman House, which will remain open until the following morning. Zimmermann & Forshay will open an office at 10 East Twenty-third Street, near Republican Headquarters, where they will receive election returns and receive orders for execution in the London market.

Second Declaration of Independence by the People of the United States.

We, the people of the United States, ever mindful that the interests of Christianity and civilization on this continent have been placed in our keeping, ever mindful of the claims of loftiest citizenship which rest perpetually upon us for the better advancement of all mankind, and the better development of the resources of this incomparable country which we own, on this third day of November, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and ninety-six, by the solemn and voiceless ceremony of the casting of the ballot, do here and now consecrate ourselves to righteousness. We do now decree that the honored basis of monetary settlements, which the civilization of educating centuries has selected and ordained, shall be made the financial throne of our imperial land, and the light which beats upon that throne shall come from Him who shines above the stars as well as beneath them. We this day decree that this vast, majestic home of ours, newly consecrated, shall be the safety vault of the money of the world, and we dedicate ourselves to its faithful guardianship. That trust will need no standing army on guard before it, for it rests on the hearthstones of a safe people and is barricaded by the isolation of imperturbable peace. We do now proclaim to all peoples on all sides of all oceans: Noblest arbitration shall control our interests abroad, cleanest integrity shall govern our policies at home, and all our obligations, in every slightest phase, shall be perpetually inviolate. We bring you across the Atlantic into the gigantic domain of this Republic, a very universe of forest and mine, with wealth like unto the wealth of Heaven, in soil, crop, and climate, and we open its doors to you as the future workshop of the world. We solicit faithful union of the funds of your hesitating civilization with our incomparable Labor, to the fulfillment of a promise, divinely wrought, that the exportation of manufactured products and the exportation of agricultural products shall each year enlarge our relative grasp upon the increasing wealth of the world for the better advantage of the funds intrusted to us and the larger development of happiness in our own midst.

And to the faithful performance of these, our obligations, we now pledge our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

We The People

The angels are bending down from the balconies of Heaven this happy morning, with faces radiant of joy, as they witness the people of the United States making a new Declaration of Independence. The original Declaration rescued this country from the grip of Britain. This new Declaration is even more important, for it means moral independence and rescues this country from itself. All nations now hold breath in deep suspense, for they understand that we are emerging from the most serious struggle in the history of mankind, that their own destinies have been involved, and that we are achieving a victory which puts new hope into the world, a bloodless victory, compared with which the so-called wars of history are as glow worms unto stars. This day, therefore, the human race steps up to a higher level, under leadership of the United States. This day, revealed in the simple ceremony of the casting of the ballot, men catch sight of the long purpose of the Almighty God, whose plans weave the centuries together and under the slow development of which the toiling sons of men are being lifted.

And now as we stand to-day in the gaze of anxious and admiring nations, let us dedicate ourselves anew, in high resolve, to sustain this glorious level of attainment. Those whose thoughts are in these lines, feebly phrased, will undertake their portion of the task. First among the pledges contained in the above proclamation is a faithful trusteeship on our part of the foreign funds intrusted in our midst. Verily a new and better era of American railway management has been inaugurated during recent exacting years of economy and reform. The integrity of that management must be preserved. There will soon be great temptations before railway managers. This day is born a new period of prosperity greater than this earth has heretofore witnessed. During such periods opportunities multiply and temptations develop. The Monetary Trust henceforth becomes the watchdog of railway management. As Trustee for the owners it has power and is charged with the duty. Therefore, if there be dishonest men left among them, we say to them: Remember this institution before you attempt to steal. Otherwise it will appear that our laws are sufficient when organization utilizes them; and it may also come to pass, if you betray your trust, your old-time friends may be otherwise interested when they pass you by, and your wives may welcome you at your lonesome homes with shrinking and shuddering, after reading this column.

THE MONETARY TRUST,

FRANCIS D. CARLEY, President.
